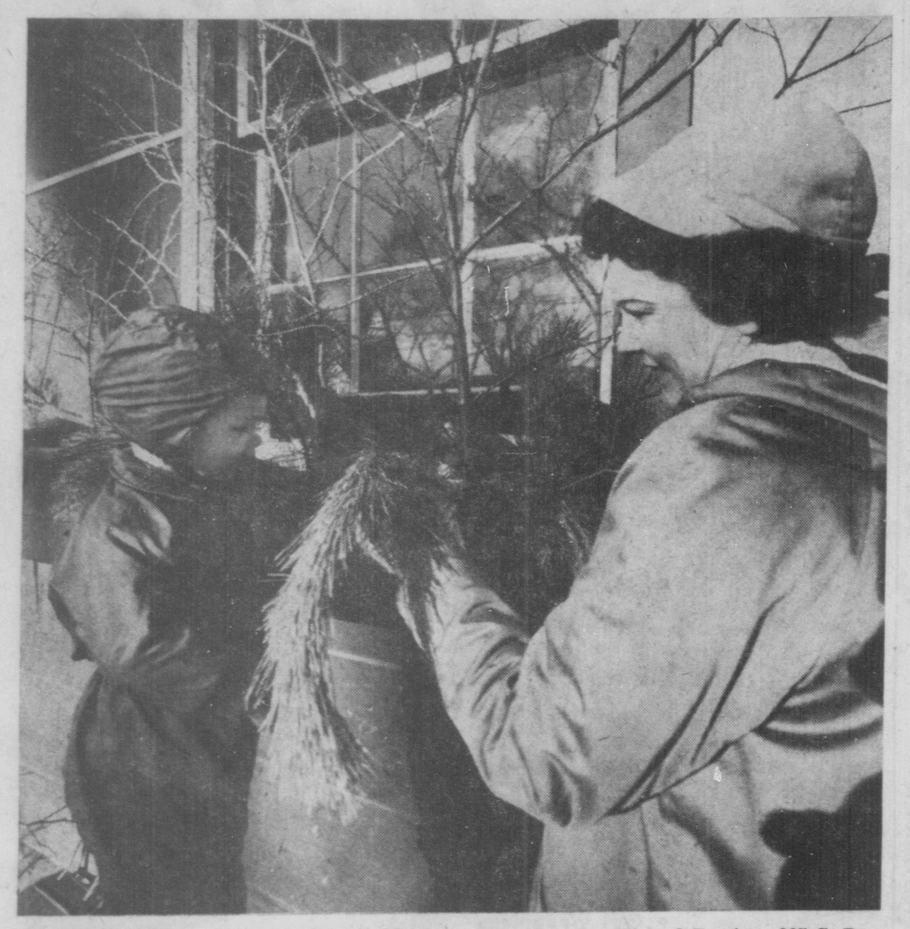
Victory for Referendum

VOTERS APPROVE MUNICIPAL HALL



WINDOW BOX at Arlington Heights North Western railroad station is planted with plants and greens Monday by Mrs. Leonard Luber, 844 S. Dunton, a member of the Arlington Heights Garden club, with the assistance of young Michael Baptiste, 305 S. Dunton. The club annually plants the box and cares for other public places in the northwest suburbs.

Counselling Agency

Family Service to Launch Fund Appeal

Future services to be extended by Northwest Family Service to Arlington Heights residents hinges on a mail appeal launched this week to raise $8,500.

This will be Arlington Heights' share of support needed for continued operation in the community of the family counselling agency, which also serves Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines, according to Bruno Waara, president of the board of directors of Family Service.

Waara reports that Mount Prospect and Des Plaines are "meeting almost 100 per cent of their goals" through Community Chest drives. Palatine is planning a direct appeal.

ARLINGTON Heights residents will be asked to contribute through a "Christmas Fireplace" mailing, with contributions to be enclosed in the "fireplace" they receive through the mail. A stamped envelope is provided for returning donations.

The Bank of Arlington Heights has agreed to serve as collection agency for the funds, Waara pointed out.

The fireplace design was created by a local artist, Mrs. Carl Zehner, 20 S. Salem, while the printing was done by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Aigner, owners of the G. G. Aigner & company printing firm. This contribution represents a gift of $500 in services from one family, Waara noted.

SUPPORT BY the four communities served by the confidential counselling agency will allow for the hiring of additional case workers to concentrate on reducing a record backlog of 92 personal problem cases, he said.

All funds collected in the area remain here, Waara emphasized, and will be used only for the hiring of professional counsellors and office expenses.

Family Service presently has one counsellor, Mrs. Mary Nicklaus, in its employ, and a secretary. They occupy an office at 214 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect.

Public Hearing On Improvement

The Arlington Heights board of local improvements tonight (Thursday) will conduct a formal public hearing in the village hall on the vast Arlington Heights Park Manor improvement project.

Expected to be discussed is the cost per home of the project, which consists of the installation of sanitary sewer, water main, storm sewer and paving.

Some residents of the 80-acre subdivision have expressed concern over the cost estimates, saying the cost figures submitted are too high and not parallel to costs of similar projects.

Building Ready by Next Year

Arlington Heights residents will be able to pay water bills in a new village hall by November, 1961.

Voters lent authority to this premise Saturday by going to the polls to support 3-1 the issuance of $350,000 in bonds for a new municipal building.

The building, to cost an estimated $450,000, will be constructed on village property opposite Sigwalt st. on the east side of State rd. It will house village administrative, police and fire departments.

In adopting a vote canvassing resolution Monday night, village trustees appeared much more relaxed than in the months leading up to the referendum. The vote certification indicated 1,878 residents cast ballots, with 1,407 voters approving the hall.

THOSE voting "no" on the proposition numbered 471, with 14 ballots being spoiled and eight others ruled defective. Approximately 12 per cent of the village's registered voters cast ballots.

Trustees and village officials immediately set to work Tuesday to hasten construction of the hall. According to village manager L. A. Hanson, major obstacles are threefold: sale of existing hall and site, sale of bonds, and awarding of construction contracts.

"We'll be working on these projects simultaneously," Hanson explained. "Before contracts for the new building can be signed, the existing site must be disposed of. The selection of a fiscal agent for the general obligation bonds must also be made."

Technical problems concerning sale of the village hall site at Davis and Wing sts. were discussed by trustees Monday. The village now owns all of the property between Wing st. and the North Western railroad tracks, but decided to refer questions of street dedication and vacation to the plan commission.

THE SALE of bonds was implemented some Monday when W. G. Inman, vice president of John Nuveen and company, a bonding house. presented trustees with a contract naming the company fiscal agent to handle all details of bond sales. The board took the presentation under advisement.

The third obstacle, the awarding of construction contracts, will presumably come last. Architect Joe L. Bennett, who altered original specifications for the new hall upon recommendation of the Village Hall Citizens committee, hopes ground can be broken for the building next Spring.

After studying plan commission recommendations for future development of the old village hall site, trustees will advertise the property for sale. It is considered a highly valuable commercial site and is expected to net the village in excess of $100,000.

JOHN G. Woods, chairman of the citizens committee which recommended the bond issue be put to a vote, said he is "extremely pleased that the committee could be of help in providing information for residents." He noted that he was personally pleased with the referendum results.

Residents voted in the village's new 21-precinct setup for the first time Saturday. Village clerk Mildred Pearson reported her office received the "usual number" of calls requesting polling place information.

She praised the efficiency of the 105 election judges, saying they indicated "real interest in their duties" by attending a training session December 8.

ANSWERING questions Saturday for Arlington Heights residents wishing to vote in the village hall referendum were Mrs. Mildred Pearson, village clerk (right), and Mrs. Dorothy Pakyz, assistant village clerk. Voters approved the sale of $350,000 in bonds for the new hall by a 3-1 majority.

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

Roper Hospital
Charleston, So. Carolina

No news is always considered good news, but some readers of this column might question my increasing recovery if we did not give some evidence that we are able to think about something aside from nurses.

However, time in a hospital passes slowly after you warrant only one special nurse and one wife a day.

That's why we have plenty of time to turn our thoughts toward that editorial chair at 217 W. Campbell street.

Take it from us, a person who does not take time occasionally to spend a few weeks in a hospital is missing something.

For the first week you do not have to worry about eating. They call it intravenous feeding--not three times a day, but all day and night round the clock--provides your nourishment.

The only discomfort is when the intern or resident hunts for the hungriest vein in your arm and when he has a heck of a time finding it.

To lend variety we take a series of x-rays--about a week of them, all kinds--then comes the welcome news--the doctors have learned everything there is to know about you.

Their verdict is 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

You feel that they know a lot more about what is happening in your "insides" than do you, so you are going to accept their verdict.

It is a little encouraging to learn that a plane is bringing more moral support.

The next thing you know is when you are back in your hospital room--and time is not hanging heavy on your hands--you are too busy doing or accepting other things.

We now know how many sips of fluid make up an ounce. We sip until those ounces are gone. We now learn to obey orders. There is always somebody on hand to tell you what to do, or do it--whether it is midnight, 3 a.m. or in the midst of a sound sleep. There are special nurses, medical students, interns, residents, floor supervisors, practical nurses and orderlies, as well as volunteers from the hospital auxiliary. They all have that "Southern charm," sho 'nuff! And we can't ask for more attention.

We recall years ago hearing about early breakfasts and cold meals. You will not find them in a southern hospital.

Bath at seven, a warm breakfast at 8, a trip through the hallways at 9 and a nap from 10 to 12. Does that not sound inviting for a hospital vacation?

Escape Wintry Blasts

'Hawaiian Holiday' Planned by Newspaper

Pack away your snow shovel. Mothball your winter coat. And trade the cold blasts of the "Windy City" for the tropic's balmy trade winds as a member of Paddock Publication's "Hawaiian Holiday" trip to our 50th state.

As March comes roaring in, Northwest suburbanites and friends are invited by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Paddock Jr., host and hostess of the trip, to be gently wafted from nearby O'Hare field to Honolulu, the Paradise of the Pacific, by Northwest Orient Airlines' Royal Aloha Service for a two week tour of the newest state.

ECONOMY IN price only, the trip will offer jet service round-trip and the finest accommodations and services available for $698 a person, based on double occupancy, with optional tours to the "outer islands" included for an additional $150.

It's luxury all the way, from dinner and champagne served aboard the powerful Douglas jet to reservations at Henry Kaiser's Hawaiian Village hotel. The tour price includes transportation, hotel accommodations, sightseeing tours, transfers and taxes, and some meals.

IT ALSO includes the minutest attention to detail, leaving full time for sightseeing, shopping, swimming, golfing, fishing, or just sun-tanning on the world's most relaxing beach, famous Wakiki. Although a sightseer's wonderland and a photographer's dream, Oahu, where Honolulu is located is also a mecca for those who want to do nothing more than "take it easy." Alternate days are planned as "free time," but tour members can have as much or as little planned activity as they desire.

Hula lessons, sight-seeing trips to majestic scenery, surf boarding (under a beach boy's instruction), photo trips, a traditional Hawaiian Luau (with a buried pig), and a cruise by catamaran through Pearl Harbor are just a few of the activities available.

DEPARTING March 12 and returning March 26, the North-West Orient plane will jet from Chicago to Honolulu via Seattle in approximately nine hours flying time.

So "wikiwiki" (Polynesian for "hurry") and sign up for the "Hawaiian Holiday" before the February 1 deadline so you can start making plans to make friends with the residents of our newest state.

For further details address inquiries to "Hawaiian Holiday," % Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell st., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Water Supply Negotiations 'Continuing'

300-Home Project Is Subject of Discussion

Both Harvey Rawson and village manager L. A. Hanson told the Herald this week that "negotiations are continuing" in regard to water supply for the 300-home Arlington Heights Gardens project south of the village.

Rawson, speaking for Palco Enterprises, developer of the area, said the village's September 26 denial of water to the subdivision prompted him to enter into a contract with a private utility firm.

"But the village now has indicated it will give our proposal more consideration," Rawson pointed out. "If we can reach an agreement with the village as to water supply, we can attempt to dissolve the contract with the outside source."

ACCORDING TO manager Hanson, village trustees refused the development water in the hope the developer would be forced to seek annexation to the village, thus enabling local officials to enforce the village's building standards.

The developer, however, commenced plans to drill one or more artesian wells on the property located south of Central rd. and west of State rd.

Hanson and Rawson both said the Illinois Commerce Commission has issued a certificate of convenience to the developer to drill the wells. Drilling is being postponed, though, while developer and village negotiate.

The sale of homes in the project is continuing, Rawson noted, but buyers will not take occupancy until Spring when the disposition of water supply is finally settled.

Auto Paint Job Not Welcomed

A pair of 13-year-old Arlington Heights boys learned Saturday night that athletics and vandalism don't mix.

The youths told police they were on their way home from playing basketball when they found a can of spray paint in an alley and decided to paint cars in a parking lot opposite Arlington high school.

A resident of the area spotted the wrongdoing and phoned police. The paint was wiped off two autos before it could dry, but John Schaff, 515 E. Rockwell, and Mrs. Gaylord Watland, 627 S. Ridge, have been promised car polish jobs by the errant athletes.

No Overnight Parking Here

Lt. Ray Jahnke, Arlington Heights traffic officer, this week issued a reminder to all residents that village ordinances prohibit overnight parking on streets.

He noted that policemen have been forced to serve a growing number of citations recently for parking violations.

Too Hot Says A Homeowner

A resident of N. Vail told Arlington Heights police Sunday a cardboard roll stuffed with paper and soaked in fuel oil was tossed into her driveway.

A short time earlier, the resident said, she extinguished a fire of unknown origin on the other side of her house.

Inflation

The minting of half cents was discontinued by the U.S. in 1857. First coinage was authorized in 1792.

New Code Changes Approved

Arlington Heights trustees voted 6-0 Monday to ratify changes made in the village's new building code, thus paving the way for its publication and legal enforcement.

The code, in the works since last year, increases building fees and tightens up building requirements. Delay in the code's publication has caused some unrest on the part of trustees.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman claimed two months ago the village has lost several thousand dollars in fees because of inaction in getting the code published.

Wing Street Is One-Way

Lt. Ray Jahnke, traffic officer of the Arlington Heights police department, announced this week that Wing st., from Vail to Salem aves., will be one way westbound "for an indefinite period of time."

"The serious traffic congestion caused by stepped-up use of the post office has forced us to temporarily make Wing st. one way to alleviate the problem," Lt. Jahnke explained.

A Correction

It was reported in the December 8 issue of Paddock Publications that a misplaced bag of mail had been dropped from a postal truck. The article implied the truck was one belonging to the Arlington Heights post office.

It has been learned the bag contained newspapers and that it was dropped from a truck owned by Paddock Publications. Though the bag was retrieved by postal employees, it was not misplaced by them.

For Service Station

Planners' Zone Veto Backed by Trustees

Arlington Heights trustees last week concurred with a recommendation of the plan commission to deny Standard Oil company's request to rezone the southwest corner of Vail st. and Northwest hwy. for use as a service station.

The company sought to have the site rezoned from B-1 to B-2, reasoning a service station is "the highest and best use" of the property. But trustees and plan commissioners disagreed.

Attorney Steven Antonik represented Standard at the trustees' meeting December 5. He said he thought it would "behoove the village" to reconsider previous denial of the zoning change, and noted this was "the last opportunity" for the village to take advantage of Standard's offers.

THE "OFFERS" Antonik referred to were the company's promises to let the village have a hand in determining architecture of the service station and to enter restricted covenants with the North Western railroad on adjoining parcels of land.

The property in question is owned by the North Western railroad and Standard has a 20-year lease on it, Antonik told trustees.

The status of the property changed later in the evening, however, when the board entered into a contract with the railroad to purchase the north side railroads parks State rd., west to almost Highland st. extended.

THE PARKS, to be used only for commuter parking, will be financed through the sale of parking revenue bonds in the amount of $182,000. Trustee Robert Bukowski, president pro tem, hailed the acquistion as "a real step forward" in easing commuter parking problems.

"In view of the great need for parking area," Bukowski pointed out, "the village acquired this property for that purpose while the time was right. The parking problem is getting worse every day."

In voting down Standard's rezoning request 4-0, trustees presumably heard the end of the company's plea, as the property under discussion is now owned by the village.

Bell Employees Donate Funds to Retarded School

Employees in the Arlington Heights accounting office of the Illinois Bell Telephone company are continuing their policy of actively helping the community they serve.

A successful employee Christmas project in behalf of the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, Rolling Meadows, was completed recently.

This year's collection was named "The Gail Rowe Memorial Fund" to honor the former accounting office employee who was killed in a recent automobile accident.

LOCAL OFFICERS of the Federation of Telephone Clerk of Illinois, which represents the accounting office clerical force, cooperated with management in bringing the drive to a successful conclusion.

Pledges amounting to $2,350 were secured. Upon collection of pledges, the entire amount will be remitted directly to the school's collection committee.

This marks the second time the employees of the phone company accounting office have helped their community. Last year $2,300 in pledges were secured and remitted to the Northwest Community hospital. (A

Ninety-six Northwest suburban high school seniors were among the 5,129 semi-finalists announced this week by the Illinois State Scholarship commission.

These students were selected from 21,334 applicants who took the scholarship examination November 5.

Winners will be named in March. Approximately 1500 will be offered financial aid up to a maximum of $600 at an approved college of their choice within the state of Illinois. However, individual stipends may not exceed the cost of tuition and required fees.

Clickety-Clack Is Taken Out of Suburban Tracks

With new push-pull "commuter streamliners" on the way and hourly "shopper specials" for suburban housewives and other mid-day riders, Chicago and North Western Railway is introducing another innovation in suburban service to bring a smoother and quieter ride on its trains.

Track engineers of the road are taking the clickety-clack out of suburban tracks with long, continuous welded rail lengths.

The result will bring approximately four clicks per mile, according to F. V. Koval, director of commuter service, instead of the usual 135. The pre-welded rail sections are 1,320 feet long.

A SPECIAL train carrying 30 of the long rails was unloaded a few days ago on the railway's Wisconsin division between Barrington and Fox River Grove. A long line of specially outfitted flat cars cradled the quarter-mile rail section for easy unloading. Stacked three high, the train carried 7.5 miles of rail.

In the unloading operation, the train pulls away from the rail sections while the rail, itself, remains stationary. The steel rails bend in an arc as the train is slowly withdrawn. Two-way radios were used by track supervisors as the rails were snaked off the flat cars.

The long rail sections are placed alongside the present tracks to be lifted into position later when the actual replacement takes place.

STANDARD railroad rail lengths of 39 feet require approximately 135 rail sections per mile. Joints between each section bring the familiar clickety-clack as coach wheels bridge the tiny gap between the rail ends.

Koval explained that introduction of the long rails is more than a step toward smoother rides for commuters. "Maintenance becomes more efficient and less costly with fewer rail joints," Koval said, "and the smooth, quiet ride is just an additional benefit from this improved type of track."

North Western railway has experimented with long rail lengths at other locations in suburban trackage, but the quarter-mile sections north of Barrington are the first in a program of gradual replacement where the long sections are feasible. Switches and crossovers restrict the use of the long rails in some locations.

THERE IS no problem in moving the 1,320-ft. rails on the flat cars over switches or curved track. While sharp track curves are avoided, the long rails simply bend to conform to track curves while on the flat cars. (B8

Ask Zoners To Approve Lot Sizes

The Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals will hold a public hearing December 28 to consider a petition for variation in zoning requirements on 10 lots on the west side of Fernandez st. between Grove and George sts.

Petitioner Eugene W. Pilawski, an attorney and partial owner of the property, will ask that the Arlington Manor lots be allowed to stand with 60 foot frontage measurements.

THE PROPERTY was reportedly purchased prior to 1955. At that time the 60 foot frontage was permitted and the owners installed all improvements. A 1955 village ordinance, however, jumped frontage requirements to 66 feet. Later zoning set down a 75 foot requirement.

All interested parties will be given an opportunity to be heard at the 8:30 p.m. hearing, according to Victor Beisler, chairman of the zoning board. (AF

Motorist Dozes, Rams Bus Near Air Field

Lack of winter conditions kept highway accidents at a minimum this past week in the northwest suburban area.

Among the more serious accidents reported, however, by District 3 state police were:

—On Sunday, Dec. 11, a Mt. Prospect motorist was taken to Resurrection hospital for treatment of injuries suffered when the car he was driving rammed into the rear of a bus on U. S. 45 at the O'Hare Field Air Force entrance.

Injured was Robert L. Gibson, 21, of 120 Bonnie Brae, who told police he fell asleep behind the wheel. He was charged with driving too fast for conditions. Police said he was traveling north on U. S. 45 when his vehicle ran into the rear of the bus which had stopped at a red light and was signaling a left hand turn. Driver of the bus was Frank J. Bouda, 315 May ave., Glen Ellyn. Damage to the car was figured at $400, with $100 damage done to the bus.

—ON THE same date, police cited Robert F. Nemec, 38, of 138 S. Walnut, Palatine, with improper backing and driving under the influence of alcohol after the car he was backing out of a parking lot at U. S. 14 and Quentin rd. smashed into the right side of an auto driven by Keith H. Van Kirk, 22, of 680 Lakeside dr., Palatine. Damage to the vehicles was figured at $250.

—On Saturday, Dec. 10, a Mt Prospect man and his son were injured following an accident on York rd. a quarter of a mile south of Illinois 72. Martin R. Muniz, 39, of 1100 S. Elmhurst, and his son, Martin, Jr., 14, a passenger in the car, were taken to Resurrection hospital for treatment of bruises.

Muniz was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road and driving under the influence of alcohol after he was headed north on York rd. and turned left into the path of a car going south driven by James Corolis, 33, of 747 Wisconsin, Addison. Police said there was no road where Muniz turned.

—On the same date, a Mt. Prospect motorist, Walter Berntsen, 43, of 703 Prospect, was injured when the car he was driving north on U. S. 12 ran off the road and struck a utility pole a block north of Central rd. Bernsten was to see his own physician. Damage to his vehicle was estimated at $800.

—ON THURSDAY, Dec. 8, a train backed into a car at Central rd. and the Soo Line tracks. Police said a car driven east on Central rd. by Ada I. Beuter, 50, of 13 N. Louis, Mt. Prospect, was directed around the stopped train by a brakeman when the train backed up and struck the car. There were no injuries to the woman or a passenger, Mae H. Prchal, 59, of 111 W. Louis, Mt. Prospect. There was approximately $300 damage done to the woman's sports car. Police identified the brakeman as Francis Willis, 57, of Fond du Lac, Wis., and the engineer as Lloyd Hawes, 46, of the same city.

—On the same date, a Palatine teenager was injured following a three-vehicle mishap at Illinois 72 and Illinois 53. Taken to Northwest Community hospital for treatment of injuries was Elizabeth M. Force, 17, of R. R. 2, Box 73, Frost rd., Palatine.

Police cited Raymond J. Cychosz, 40, of 6. N. 410, Rt. 53, Itasca, in the mishap for failure to yield the right-of-way after he was headed north on Illinois 53, and his car crept into the intersection while a traffic light was changing and was struck by the car driven by the force girl, which was headed east on Illinois 72.

The collision caused her vehicle to swing into the westbound lane where it was struck by a truck before rolling over in a ditch. Driver of the truck was identified as John P. Suchecki, 54, of 7445 N. Oriole, Chicago. Damage to the vehicles was figured at about $365.

Prospect High

Students Win Speech Honor

High honors in an invitational speech contest came to Prospect high school last week through the outstanding performances of two school sophomores.

In a speech tournament at Waukegan, sophomores Ceinwen Klepper and Jon Woods each gained three first place awards. Competition included 18 schools and more than 300 students.

Miss Klepper achieved her victory with an original monologue concerning a refugee girl escaping from war-torn Poland.

Woods won his first place awards on the basis of a five-minute newscast and one-minute commercial.

OTHER PROSPECT students receiving honors in the contest were Dale Vivirito, Mike Smith, June Mercer, Jenny Joern, Becky Welch, Newell Krogman, Diane Calvello, Mike Thompson and Lynn Carroll. Also included in the Prospect speech group were Cheryl Maxwell, Lon Hachmeister and Sandra Schrieber.

The Waukegan high school invitational speech meet was held under the approval of the Illinois High School association. Included were schools throughout northern Illinois.

An elimination speech contest was held at Prospect high school before the Waukegan meet to select the school's top speakers.

PARTICIPATING in the contests were students from the Prospect individual speech groups. These activities, sponsored by Mrs. Rebecca Sickels, include public speaking and dramatics. (ACM WINNER OF three first place awards in an invitational speech contest at Waukegan last week, Ceinwen Klepper led the group from Prospect high school to high honors and a new trophy for the school trophy case. Blind since birth, Ceinwen is the daughter of the Revs. Robert and Olga Klepper of Prospect Heights. More than 300 students from 18 schools participated in the speech contest. (ACM

One-Eyed Cyclops

by ED LANDWEHR

You have a pretty good sized investment in that one-eyed cyclops that stands in your living room. Like other appliances, if you service it at the first sign of trouble, it will last longer and give you the best service in return. Let it run down until it's completely inoperative, and your maintenance cost is much higher.

Many of our customers at LANDWEHR'S TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights phone us at the very first sign of trouble . . . distorted pictures at times . . . too long a warming period . . . faded and dull pictures . . . poor sound and so on. Some of these may be temporary or trivial to your viewing at the moment, but you can be sure that they will lead to more trouble.

By phoning CLearbrook 5-0700 at the first signs of breakdown, your TV service cost is less, and many times we can catch major trouble before it starts. In the long run it's less costly, and you have better viewing quality. Ask your neighbors about us; chances are that they're satisfied customers, too.

Schools Earn Praise On Language Plan

Roselle Classes Are Featured in Magazine

There are two new developments this school year in the Roselle public schools' foreign language program, the subject of an article last July in School Management magazine, nationally circulated among school administrators and school board members.

Dale Whiteside, head of the language program, calls his two brainchilds "linguamobile" and "listening-speaking laboratory."

The linguamobile is a large cabinet on wheels, wired to accommodate audio teaching aids such as tape recorders, a phonograph and short wave radio.

The listening-speaking laboratory is a bank of 11 headphones through which students hear recorded directions from Whiteside while he is teaching another class.

THIS IS THE second year every student — grade one through eight — in Roselle's public schools have studied French, German or Spanish. And 50 of them study Russian each Saturday.

Whiteside designed both the linguamobile and the laboratory. A carpenter built the linguamobile. Ernest Walters, head custodian, wired it and also built the listening-speaking laboratory.

They are additional tools to the "direct" method of teaching foreign languages employed by Whiteside. This method's central consideration is the fact that students of foreign language are known to learn sentence structure and the niceties of grammar by speaking the language, although they cannot decline a noun.

WHITESIDE AND his assistant, Walter Hanck, a native of Itasca, teach students to speak the language by speaking it and hearing it in varied contexts. The teaching of grammar they are leaving to junior and senior high school classes.

When Whiteside wheels his linguamobile into a classroom he is greeted by smiles and shouts of glee—the children know that whatever this big, affable and talented teacher has in store for them they'll enjoy.

Whiteside's objective by use of the audio devices carried in the linguamobile is to broaden students' awareness of the culture of a nation or a people whose language they are studying. He may play the French national anthem, "Marseillaise" on the phonograph or tune in a news broadcast from Berlin.

Students hear a variety of Frenchmen speaking French. From the conglomeration of inflections and idioms they hear they learn that the French speak French like Americans speak English—with individual and local flavor.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL effect upon elementary school children of hearing foreign languages spoken by native children is important. They live in a world of "big people," says Whiteside. They see big people stay up late, lift heavy boxes, drive cars and hear them speak a foreign language. But, when they can hear children speak the language they know that they too can speak it.

The tape recorder Whiteside uses for "spot" recording and playback during a single class period; for recording recitations for later evaluation, and for recording and then playing during classes dialogue between hand puppets in a foreign language.

(And hand puppets are only another of the means by which Whiteside maintains the vagabond attention of elementary students. Another is the guitar which he uses to accompany himself in singing authentic Spanish folk songs.)

CHILDREN ARE very eager to hear their voices played back in magnified volume on the tape recorder.

Records are the chief tool used to acclimatize students to the culture of the country whose language they study. Through the medium of the phonograph they learn about literature, art and geography, for instance.

A Philco transistor short-wave radio "helps create a real awareness of the reality of a foreign tongue," says Whiteside.

The linguamobile, says Whiteside, was a "child of necessity." Transporting tape recorders, phonographs, teaching aids, et al from classroom to classroom was impractical without it. And a further advantage is that a jackbox which allows interchange of the audio devices with a loud speaker in the linguamobile and several outlets make setup time minimal.

Whiteside has persuaded students that a listening-speaking laboratory assignment is an honor. Competition is keen among junior high school students. Only they are eligible on the basis of their classroom work.

A STUDENT seated at the counter with earphones clamped on his head might hear Whiteside's voice with directions like this: "Next you will hear a sentence. In the pause after it make it negative. Then you'll hear the correct negative which you will repeat."

A student monitor checks the number of correct responses by each student and plots them on a wall graph. Whiteside is not present.

Another tape recorder would allow the students to record their responses and then listen to them later, noting their errors of pronunciation and word usage, says Whiteside.

It would be yet another addition to a language program which is attracting widespread attention. (B8

THE BOY WALKING from the microphone has just spoken "My name is Wayne Simacek" in Spanish. It was being recorded on a tape recorder in the "linguamobile" for amplification over a loud speaker later. Dale Whiteside, head of Roselle public schools' language program, stands behind his creation, the "linguamobile."

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. James Shouse, who completed the initial group leadership training and who takes on troop 347 as co-leader with Mrs. H. E. Eigner. Congratulations also to Mrs. Rudolph Hempel and Mrs. Velma Parker, who completed training and are in the process of starting a second grade Brownie troop.

Troop 488 put up decorations for Christmas in the village hall Friday night, Dec. 9. This was the first time any organization had ever performed this service for the local government. The girls made wreaths, paper bells, decorated cones, angels, and letters spelling out Merry Christmas.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

In an investiture ceremony November 17, 25 girls became Brownies. Co-leaders Mrs. C. J. Haralson and Mrs. Richard Ahlgren, pinned the new Brownie pins on the girls of troop 759 while 21 mothers and 17 little brothers and sisters watched. Intermediate Girl Scout troop 144 consists of girls who have "flown-up" from Brownies. Mrs. William Metcalf and Mrs. J. R. Halas are co-leaders. Congratulations to: Joanne Chrabot, Roberta Curtis, Pam Cwik, Nancy Fedin, Cathy Halas, Christine Hammerstrom, Kathy Hari, Linda Rocus and Rebecca Shabek.

Mrs. Bowden, VA 4-8369, is the new troop organizer for Herzog school. Women interested in scouting should call her for more information.

SOUTH MT. PROSPECT

Junior high troop 227 entertained its mothers and leaders, Mrs. Wellborn and Mrs. Kooper, last month at a banquet at South church. The scouts did all the shopping, preparing and serving of the fried chicken dinner. The evening's entertainment consisted of the girls' own version of Ekomsnug, Gunsmoke spelled backwards, done in pantomime.

Troop 464 has put up bird feeders in Lions park as part of a badge requirement. Each patrol made a feeder from logs and filled it with suet, seeds and nuts. Under the direction of leaders, Mrs. Courtney and Mrs. Broadbent, the troop will keep the feeders stocked all winter.

SIXTH GRADE troop 401, under the leadership of Mrs. Clark, planted tulip bulbs at Lincoln school last month. As an additional service project, the scouts also weeded and cleaned the flower beds on Prospect Avenue.

Junior high troop 499 spent the day after Thanksgiving at Camp Pine working on outdoor cook and outdoor safety badges. As the requirement for the preparation of a foreign dish the scouts made Armenian Shish-Kebabs. Accompanying the troop was leader Mrs. Schemik and troop committee chairman Mrs. Williams.

A Thanksgiving centerpiece for the family table was made by Brownie troop 139. Assisted by leader, Mrs. Gallaghar, the girls made turkeys from apples, raisins, olives and cloves and presented them to their families as a gift.

WHEELING

Third and fourth graders enjoyed an October cook out of sloppy joes and stew, with the high spot of the event, taffy apples. Girls have made Indian costumes which they wore to their Halloween party. Future plans include a trip to Santa's Village. (B9

Wyllie, Mast Hit 33 in Loop Games

Larry Wyllie and Dick Mast continued their prolific scoring last week in the Arlington Heights Park District's adult basketball league.

Wyllie, former Northern Illinois standout, tossed in 33 in leading Garden Liquors to a 79-44 rout over the 45th Artillery Brigade. In two games Wyllie has registered 58 points.

Mast, former Northwestern university star, hit in the 30s for the second straight week as he potted 33 in pacing the Teachers to an 88-30 triumph over Arlington Roofing. Mast is averaging 31.5 points per game.

IN OTHER action the Crusaders edged the Demons 66-64 with Hendrickson tossing in 22 for the winners. Zebos hit 23 and Phillips added 22 for the Demons.

Rovers II blasted Pure Oil 71-32 as Schmidt collected 11 baskets and a free throw. Harriod was high for the losers with 13.

Notre Dame Dons, Marian Central In Cage Battle

The Notre Dame Dons will face Marian Central tomorrow night in an effort to halt a two game losing streak.

Notre Dame's first loss of the season was administered by St. Procopius on Friday, Dec. 9, and the next night, the Dons were edged 62-55 by Maine West. As a result of the defeats, Notre Dame's record now stands at 4-2.

The Procopius game, the Dons' first league contest, brought about a marked change in the Notre Dame offense. For the first time this year John Schramm, their big center, was not able to score over 20 points.

NOTRE DAME was outplayed in the first half as Procopius combined good rebounding and sharp shooting to take a 31-24 halftime lead. Frank O'Connell, a 6'2" forward, led the comeback in the second half as Notre Dame whittled down the seven-point advantage which St. Procopius held throughout most of the contest.

Late in the fourth quarter, Bob Bresnahan tied the score at 56-56 with a jump shot and things suddenly looked brighter for Notre Dame. However, a few seconds later, a foul on Notre Dame gave Procopius the opportunity to pull away for good.

SPIRITS WERE high the following evening as the Dons prepared to take on Maine West at Notre Dame. Notre Dame rooters remembered the 63-33 rout hung on Notre Dame by the Warriors last year.

Again, however, the Dons started out slowly as Maine jumped to a five point advantage early in the first quarter. But then Schramm helped rally the Dons to a 31-29 halftime advantage. That was the last time the Dons were in the lead as Maine paced by forward Keith Connelly, took over in the fourth and final quarter. Notre Dame's last minute rally enabled them to come within four points of Maine with less than two minutes remaining, but fouls hurt the Dons and Maine went on to take the contest 62-55. John Schramm led the Notre Dame scorers with 26 points. O'Connell was second as he collected 14 points. (Sp

Four Choirs Plan Concert For Sunday

Sunday, Dec. 18, the four choirs of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will present the second annual Christmas choral service at 4 and 8 p.m.

Sacred Christmas music will be featured with Fred Waring's arrangement of the cantata, "Song of Christmas," the highlight of both performances. In addition to the Chancel and Chapel choirs' rendition of the cantata, guest musicians will embellish it with organ, piano, kettle drum, harp, and trumpet solos.

Miss Judi Anderson will be violin soloist and Robert Wolff, director of music at Our Saviour's, will lead the entire organization.

Two performances are planned to allow for the greater comfort of the audience, and the public is invited. (A

Automated Men's Wear

Paper Money Accepted By Dry Goods Machine

An automatic merchandising machine which accepts currency and dispenses dry goods has been installed for a "trial run" at the Montgomery Ward catalog store, 212 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

The machine dispenses men's T - shirts, athletic shirts, briefs, and boxer shorts in a selection of size, style, color and price.

It was installed in the suburban store last Thursday for the purpose of determining customer acceptance of automated merchandising in the retail selling field, according to demonstrator Robert Jones.

Jones, a representative of Unimatic Merchandisers, inc., of St. Louis, Mo., explained the new machines have been installed in several stores across the country on an experimental basis.

"IF MONTGOMERY Ward and Unimatic's parent company, Universal Match company, find the machines are well accepted in these experimental locations, they'll probably increase their use," Jones pointed out.

Jones, a native of East St. Louis, Ill., accompanied the "robot salesman" machine to Arlington Heights and will stay to demonstrate its proper use for about another week.

The automatic merchandiser being tested here will accept any amount of money up to $9 in any combination of coins, $1 and $5 bills. Valid U. S. bills of any other denomination, foreign coins and currency, counterfeit bills and damaged coins will be rejected by the machine.

"THE ARRIVAL of a merchandising machine which accepts paper money as well as coins represents a potential addition to Ward's operations," Jones said.

The machine visually records the amount paid in by a customer. The customer then may select and receive merchandise as long as he has a balance to cover the price of the selection. A tabulator deducts the selling price of each item as it is selected.

When the customer completes his purchases, his proper change is returned in a convenient combination of coins and bills. Items with 36 different price ranges can be handled by the machine.

JONES AND Miss Mary Baier, manager of the Arlington Heights store, are pleased with customer acceptance of the machine to date. The seven-foot high machine is located on the store's north side. (B8

Arlington Debate Team Victorious

Arlington high school's varsity debate team finished in a four way tie for first place in the strong DeKalb Invitational Debate tournament Saturday, December 10.

Competing against some 32 schools, Arlington's varsity squad won 7 and lost 1 debate, the same record was compiled by the two Waukegan schools and Downers Grove.

A varsity negative team of Sue Allison and Jerry Berthold won four of four debates to run their season total to 9-1. The affirmative team of Linda Krueger and Dick Daeschner suffered its first defeat in 10 starts this year, although the pair were 3-1 for the day.

ALL FOUR varsity debaters are juniors.

Debate coach Frank Whiteside said he was especially pleased with his sub-varsity teams' showing. Juniors Margaret Marshall and John Miller went undefeated in four matches, and sophomores Jay Lempke and Charles King won three of four.

Sophomore Jim Tindall joined juniors Bob Wenzel and Bob Stone in capturing three of four sub-varsity debates, but perhaps the most amazing record was turned in by freshman debaters coached by Barbara Mowder.

FROSH REX Perschbacher and Sandy Johnson, competing against teams composed largely of upperclassmen, captured four of four verbal bouts, while teammates Mary Coleman, Carol Cory, Dick Lee, and Ed Hill were winning three and losing once.

Freshmen Gerry DeZonna and Jim Kilbury took two of four debates to give Arlington a team total of 26 wins in 32 matches.

Other area schools competing in the tournament included Prospect, New Trier, Evanston, LaGrange, York, and Glenbard. (ACM

Q. How are invitations to bridal showers issued?

A. Since these are informal affairs, invitations may be extended by telephone, note, in person, or by one of the little cards found in stationery stores.

Arlington-Elk Grove Bus Slated

The Illinois Commerce Commission has granted the franchise to the line, which only last week obtained one for a route linking Des Plaines and Elk Grove. The adult fare on both routes will be 25 cents and service is expected to start this month.

THE ELK GROVE to Arlington Heights route initially will have three trips daily. United intends to add runs when the demand materializes.

The route will travel in Arlington Heights road from Rockwell street in Arlington Heights to Higgins road in Elk Grove, a distance of about 3 miles. (A-EG

Local Royal Arch Masons Hold Public Installation

In a public installation held December 8 at the Masonic temple in Palatine, Arthur J. Parker was installed as Excellent High Priest, the presiding officer of Palatine chapter 206, Royal Arch Masons.

Mr. Parker is associated with the Illinois Bell Telephone company as a supervisor in the Arlington Heights area and resides in Palatine. He is a grand lecturer of the Grand lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois and a past master of Palatine lodge 314.

ALL THIRD degree masons are eligible for membership in the organization, and this chapter is composed, primarily, of leading masons from Arlington Heights lodge 1162, Lounsbury lodge 751 of Barrington and Palatine lodge 314.

Others installed in office included John R. Paine Sr., Samuel Nightingale, George Landwer, Edward Kiley and Herman Orl, all of Barrington; Howard Helgesen and William H. Kessler, both of Palatine; Gustav K. Roessler, Marvin A. Henrickson and Harry T. Oas, all of Arlington Heights; Gerald McIntyre of Mount Prospect and Herman I. Simpson of Crystal Lake.

THE installation was preceded by a dinner for families and friends of members and an explanation of our home defenses as typified by the Nike base in Arlington Heights. Capt. Robert A. Ditmer of the U. S. Army and a member of Palatine chapter was the guest speaker.

Installing officers of the evening were Rudolph F. Kocher, Walter L. Nightingale and Cecil Ryner, all of Barrington, and David E. Wennerstrand of Arlington Heights. (AMP

Squad Car Crashes Into Pole

Arlington Heights policeman Paul Buckholz escaped serious injury early Saturday when his squad car left the road and crashed into a utility pole while in pursuit of a stop sign violator.

Buckholz, of 2109 Robin ln., Rolling Meadows, said he was traveling north on State rd. at about 3:30 a.m. Saturday when he spotted a 1959 blue auto run the stop sign at Euclid ave.

THE MOTORIST also ran the stop sign at Palatine rd., as well as a red light at Rand rd. As Buckholz, in hot pursuit, approached Rand, his car skidded on gravel and crashed into a ditch and telephone pole.

He was examined for bruises at Northwest Community hospital and discharged.

Medicine Is Subject of Arlington Library Books

Medicine has been a prolific souce of souce of subject material for the modern novelist, and the numerous books at the Arlington Heights Memorial library about doctors, medical research, and the miracles of medicine are in constant demand, according to Mrs. Evelyn Stadelman, librarian.

One of the most recent medical novels, "Pilgrim in Paradise," is Frank Slaughter's adventurous historical novel of the conflict between two half-brothers, one the leader of a Puritan colony in the Bahamas, and the other a doctor.

Other recent novels about doctors include Taylor Caldwell's best-selling, "Dear and Glorious Physician," which gives a moving and convincing picture of St. Luke, who was always obsessed by the vital urge to be a physician, and John Cleary's "Back of Sunset," the story of a doctor in a poorly-equipped Australian bush hospital.

MOST of the recently-published novels are about contemporary medicine, although a number of widely read "doctor books have ancient or Biblical times as a background. Present-day medicine is the theme of such titles as "Final Diagnosis," by Arthur Hailey, and "Through Streets Broad and Narrow," by Alan Barnsley, while Mika Waltari's "The Egyptian" tells of medical practice more than a thousand years before Christianity.

Author Frank Slaughter has been a prolific writer of fictionalized medicine. Some of his most popular books are "In a Dark Garden," "The Thorn of Arimathea," "Day break," and "Road to Bithynia."

Morton Thompson has also written a number of novels with a medical theme, including "Not As a Stranger" and "The Cry and the Covenant."

OTHER frequently requested novels based on medical life are "Image Makers," by Victor Dryer; "The Last Angry Man," by Gerald Green; "Swear by Apollo," by Shirley Barker; "Doctor Zhivago," by Boris Pasternak; "Rachel Cade," by Charles Mercer, "The Brooks Legend," by William Ellis, "Doctor in Buckskin," by Terry Allen, and many others. ADC Illegitimacy Myth Is Debunked by Group's Study

One of the most explosive controversies in the state of Illinois — the question of state aid for children born out of wedlock — has been debunked by a committee.

Headed by C. Virgil Martin, president of Carson, Pirie, Scott and company, the blue ribbon committee, named by Daniel Ryan, president of the Cook County board of commissioners, reports:

"Mothers on Aid to Dependent Children do not have illegitimate children to get ADC benefits. However, since a mother who has an illegitimate child has little chance of support from the father, a large number of illegitimate children are found on ADC rolls. This is particularly true if the family is Negro."

THE REPORT as brought to light by The Committee to Study the Aid to Dependent Children Program in Cook County, points out that almost 70 per cent of the ADC families interviewed had one or more illegitimate children, and about half, or more than 40,000, of all ADC children are illegitimate.

Ninety per cent of the mothers of these children did not want to have the child, but accepted it and cared for it once it was born.

The report continued: "Over 600 mothers, where the youngest child was illegitimate, interviewed at length about their attitude toward illegitimacy and the contributing factors, were aware of the disadvantages to themselves and the children. All but a few felt great guilt at having illegitimate children."

OF THE 619 mothers interviewed whose youngest child was born out of wedlock, 552 did not want to have the baby. Almost half of the mothers had no information or inadequate information on how to prevent conception.

Typical mother on ADC rolls, it was found, has three children under the age of 15, born in Illinois. She is a native-Mississippi Negro, in her 30's, and has lived in Chicago about 15 years.

Her family has debts, and they pay higher rent than white families do, and for less adequate housing. Her husband lost his job as an unskilled worker. He deserted the family over a year ago and does not contribute to its support. His whereabouts is unknown. She has had an illegitimate child since. This month she applied for ADC.

CONTRARY TO public opinion, the report indicates, the average ADC mother is not lazy, shiftless, unwilling to work, promiscuous, or neglectful of her children.

Of the more than 95 per cent of the 1010 families interviewed, almost all want to be self-sustaining. More than half want to work but cannot because of poor health, lack of marketable skills or lack of adequate daycare for their children.

When the typical ADC mother did work, as a machine operator or domestic, she earned between $150 and $199 per month. She would like to work again "even if it paid her less than her ADC grant." She expects to get a job and become independent before her children are 18 years old. She does become independent evidently, the report went on to say, for the typical ADC mother remains on the rolls less than three years.

BECAUSE 90 per cent of the ADC families are Negro and belong to the lowest social and economic group in the population, stated the report, illegitimacy is more likely to lead to dependency.

In the year ended June 30, 1959, almost 99 per cent of the illegitimate children adopted were white; only 1½ per cent were Negro. Of all children born out of wedlock in the county, the chance that a white child will be adopted in the first year of life is 166 times as great as for a Negro child.

Since the children are not adopted, many are on ADC because the chances are small of the father providing support or of the mother being able to work.

THE ADC allotment permits the mother to spend 21 cents per meal per person. Feeling within the family is warm. They eat together and share simple tasks.

She and her children live in a rented, privately owned, unfurnished apartment with fewer rooms than the number of persons in the household. More than two persons share the bedroom. Usually they must share bath and toilet facilities with one other family.

The study was made in special reference to illegitimate rehabilitation, economy for the taxpayer and to seek out evidence of fraud.

Suspected fraud in Cook County's ADC program was found to be less than 2 per cent of the caseload in the report which represents a year's study. (B8

Council Opposes Bias in Housing

Members of the Opportunity Council, Inc., recently voted unanimously to support efforts to bring about fair housing practices and freedom of residence rights in Illinois.

At a December 8 meeting in the Community Room of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association, the northwest suburban human relations group adopted the following resolution:

"RESOLVED: That the Opportunity Council, Inc., deplores those practices on the part of Illinois citizens and institutions which are denying the minority citizens . . . equal opportunities to rent or purchase homes in this state, and further resolved the Council voices its support of the United Citizens Committee for Freedom of Residence."

The latter group, the resolution points out, is attempting "to present all the facts on the increasing economic, social, political, and moral costs of housing segregation and its advocacy of a statewide movement on the part of all citizens for personal affirmation on the principles of freedom of residence for all people."

The Opportunity Council, Inc., organized in March, 1958, is a non-partisan, nonsectarian voluntary organization "dedicated to building better communities through citizen planning and action."

About this time every year
Comes the scent of holiday cheer —
Of silver bells, and cinnamon twists,
And awful crowds, and shopping lists.

It's not too hard to select the toys
For little girls, and little boys —
But when it comes to a relative,
There's often a problem what to give.

You have to get something for Uncle Ed;
Your mind runs around inside your head —
And off you dash for another try
For a hanky, or something, for Cousin Vi.

May we suggest a fellow we know
Who'll shorten your trudging to and fro —
He turns a chore into a game —
Imagination is his name.

D. F. Conrad, presiding minister of the Palatine congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced the visit of circuit supervisor Norman H. McKinney, during the week of December 11, to be followed by the semi-annual circuit assembly at Lane Technical high school, Chicago, December 23, 24 and 25.

N. H. McKINNEY

The program will begin Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 7:25 p.m. with a ministry training school, followed by a 30-minute discourse by Mr. McKinney.

Wednesday through Sunday some time will be devoted to field missionary service each day. Mr. McKinney will join ministers from the local congregation in making calls on residents in the community. This is part of the regular door-to-door ministry and training program of Jehovah's witnesses.

THE SATURDAY evening program begins at 8 with a Bible question period. A 30-minute discourse by Mr. McKinney, dealing with counsel for improving one's personal ministry will conclude the session.

Highlight of the week will be Sunday at 3 p.m. when Mr. McKinney will give a public talk, "Seek Peace With God and Man." All meetings will be at the Kingdom hall, 239 Illinois st.

Saturday, Dec. 23, Albert Erickson, Golf rd., Arlington Heights, is to speak before the expected 1800 delegates attending the 3-day convention at Lane.

The December 25 talk will be delivered by W. R. Wissman, supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in the midwestern states. (B9

THERE ARE ONLY seven days left in which residents of the Arlington Heights area can say "Merry Christmas" to less fortunate children. The area-wide "Toys for Tots" drive ends December 22, in order that all toys can be distributed before Christmas. Shown above is J. Thomas Lane, owner of the Rand and Euclid Shell service in Prospect Meadows. He and Lance Corporal Joseph B. Morris of Marine detachment, Glenview Naval Air station, examine one of the toys donated to the annual drive sponsored by the Marine Corps Reserve and the Shell Oil company. Music-on-Stage Director Chosen

William Cotsakis, Arlington Heights, was selected by the executive board of Music-on-Stage, to direct the annual production of the group next April 7, 8, and 9 in Glenbrook high school auditorium.

Joseph Heerens, president of the group which staged "South Pacific" last spring, announced the choice of Colsakis as director and stated at the same time that January 9 has been set as the date for preliminary tryouts for cast parts in "Rose Marie," the operetta slated for this year's performances.

COTSAKIS, who directed the Music-on-Stage presentation of "Fortune Teller" two years ago does not require that aspirants for the vocal parts sing a number from the operetta but will request that they read lines from the dialogue.

Place for the tryouts has not been set yet but further announcement will be made.

Membership in Music - on-Stage is open to any interested adults. Information as to participation in the forthcoming production may be obtained by contacting membership chairman, Jack Wassmer, Palatine, Fl. 8-1250, or Mrs. Ray Blakeman, secretary, Prospect Heights, Le. 7-1645. (B8

Chancel furnishings presented to the new Lutheran Church of the Cross, Arlington Heights, were dedicated last Sunday in services conducted by Rev. Bruce K. Benander, pastor.

The furnishings—altar, pulpit, baptismal font, and railing—were presented to the new church by Trinity Lutheran church, Park Forest.

FORMAL presentation was made by Dale Luebben, chairman of Trinity's board of trustees. The dedication rites were held during the regular worship service in Dryden school.

Luebben, representing the Park Forest congregation, and Pastor Glenn Bragstad, recalled the organization of the Trinity congregation 10 years ago as an Evangelical Lutheran church mission and drew a parallel with the Lutheran Church of the Cross, an Augustana Lutheran church mission begun here last June.

In taking note of the Arlington congregation's recent purchase of a site for its future church, he pointed out that Trinity has outgrown its first building and has moved into a new, larger sanctuary. The chancel furnishings presented Sunday were used in the first building.

PASTOR Benander indicated that the chancel furnishings will be used in the first Lutheran Church of the Cross building when it is erected on the recently-purchased site on Golf rd., just west of Arlington Heighrs rd.

The congregation now meets in Dryden school, 750 S. Dryden Pl., with Sunday worship at 10:45 a.m. and Sunday school at 9:30 a.m.

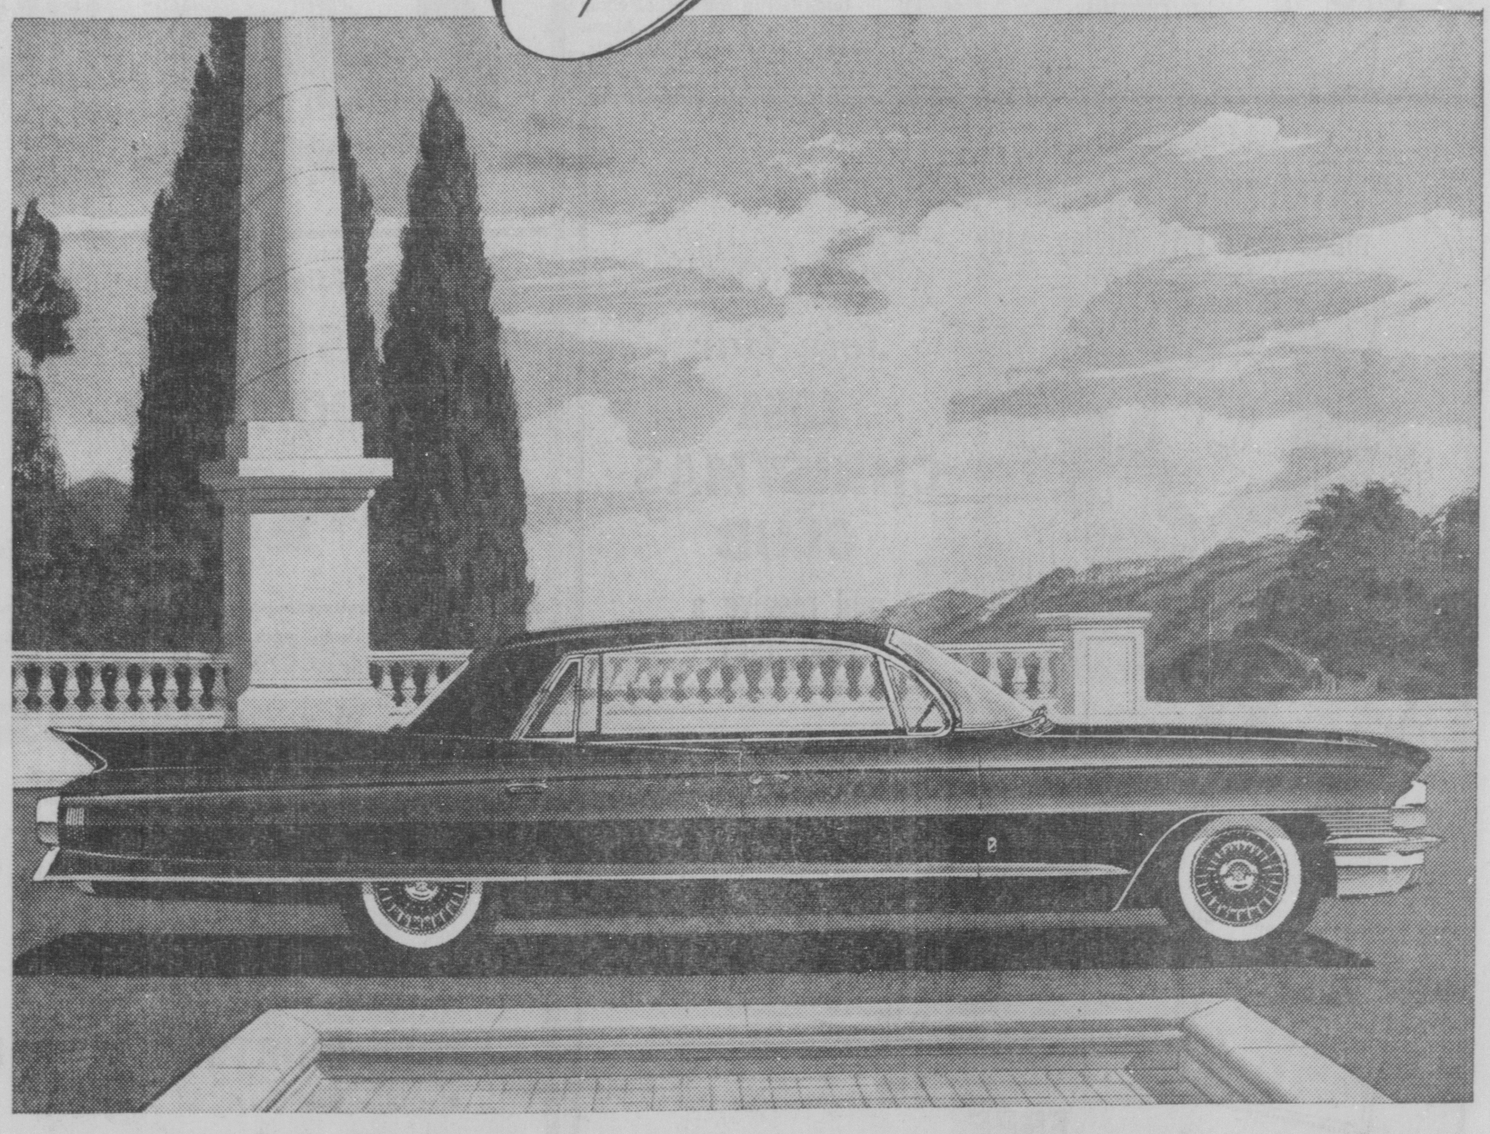
Cadillac



World's easiest way to say "Quality"!

There is one word that is instantly recognized and understood in every land.

The word is "Cadillac"—and the meaning, of course, is "quality".

And it is understandable, we think, that Cadillac should have become a part of the universal vocabulary.

For its devotion to excellence has been of such a degree—and of such a tenure—that the car has become the world-wide symbol of everything that is good and desirable in a manufactured product. This truth has never been better expressed than it is in the current Cadillac.

Inspiring to look at, to drive and to own—it is truly the master achievement of motordom's master builders.

And Cadillac has imposed on its construction the most rigid standards and restrictions ever placed over the assembly of a motor car.

More than fourteen hundred separate inspections now guard the quality and goodness of every Cadillac—and the results of this crusade for perfection can be seen ... and felt ... and sensed.

Don't you owe yourself a personal appraisal of this 1961 "car of cars"?

Your Cadillac dealer will provide the car and the keys for a demonstration at any time.

We know you'll agree that it says "quality" with an eloquence all its own.

Village Caucus Seeks Well-Qualified Names

Donald Whiting, chairman of the candidate recommendation committee of the Arlington Heights Caucus, this week appealed to residents to submit the names of persons considered well-qualified to run for village office.

The 21-member committee is currently considering recommendations for the offices of village president, trustee, and village clerk. The offices will be filled in an election to be held next April.

"Even though we have 21 members—one from each precinct — on the committee," Whiting said, "there are undoubtedly many qualified persons who are unknown to any committee member. The only way we can secure names is for residents to recommend them to us.

"The opportunity to submit names is open to every resident. Each person recommended will be contacted by the committee to determine their qualifications and willingness to serve."

THE COMMITTEE has released letters to all known village civic associations, including property owner associations and service clubs, asking for their membership to make individual recommendations.

Questionnaires are now being prepared for each person recommended, and the committee plans to begin interviews shortly after Christmas in order to make final recommendations to village voters before January 31.

Residents may submit names of prospective candidates by letter or phone to any committee member or to chairman Whiting, 121 N. Phelps, CL 5-5234.

UP-FOR-GRABS in the spring election will be the seats of village president Edward G. Carlisle, trustees Robert Bukowski, Melvin Kurtz and Wendell Prunty, and village clerk Mildred Pearson.

Slates in opposition to Caucus candidates have been reported to be forming, but no public announcements of candidacy have been made to date. (AF

Accident Driver Charged by Police

Charges of disorderly conduct, public intoxication and fighting with police were leveled by Wheeling police Sunday against Richard Hengl, 23, of 1208 Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

The charges followed the overturning of Hengl's car at 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning on Wolf rd. south of Milwaukee ave.

Severely injured in the crash was Wally Mulso, 23, of 107 E. Prospect, Mount Prospect. Mulso was taken to Lutheran General hospital, Des Plaines. Wheeling police report he suffered spinal injuries and a broken knee cap.

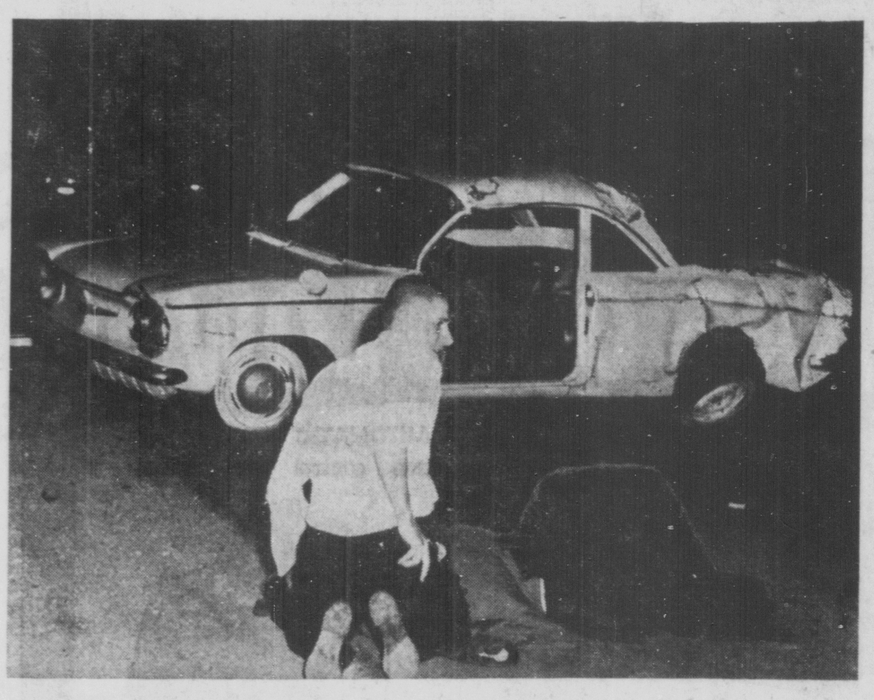
POLICE STATED the car was across both southbound lanes of Wolf rd. They reported Hengl had apparently gone off the road, attempted to get back on and overturned. One of the car doors was found by police 100 feet southwest of the crash scene.

Hengl told police an unidentified northbound car swerved into the southbound lane, forcing him from the road. There were no witnesses to the crash, police said.

Hengl was released on a $250 bond Sunday night. He is scheduled to appear before Wheeling Police Magistrate Ted Scanlon at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Dec. 16.

Police said Hengl admitted having a similar accident only three months ago.

HENGL REFUSED to take a drunkometer test, Wheeling police stated. Sgt. Ray Widing and Off. Bob Llewellyn handled the accident. (ACM



THE WRECKAGE of his new Corvair looms in the background while driver Richard Hengl of Arlington Heights comforts his injured passenger, Wally Mulso of Mount Prospect. Scattered Socials Mark Coming Deluge

There have been a few early parties to mark the coming holiday season and the ending of some vacations in the south and occasional birthday celebrations. These scattered events are like the first sprinkles of the coming deluge, and the deluge is not far off.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pauly, 125 S. Burton, were among 20 Chicago area couples who met Saturday night in the Svithiod Singing club in Chicago for an annual Christmas season reunion. Nearly a decade ago a few couples who enjoyed frequent fun-times together had a particularly zingy, singy December evening in the club and agreed to make it an annual get-together.

Through the years more friends joined the original few and now the early December date brings some of them together for the only time during the year. Other suburbanites joining the Paulys for the seasonal dinner-and-singing session were the Art Travises of Westgate and the Stan Edlunds of Prospect Heights.

DECEMBER birthdays are popular and numerous among relatives of the Robert Pagliai's parents, the George Piemonts of Elmwood Park. The host, with a birthday this week, was honored by his 16 grandchildren and honored in his turn four of the 16 who have birthdays this month.

Cake, congratulations and 5 choruses of the birthday song filled the house and everyone in it. Sharing the spotlight with her grandfather was the Pagliais' daughter, Jean, who will be 11 years old Saturday.

Jean celebrated early in deference to the encroaching Christmas rush and entertained five school and neighborhood friends last Saturday in the Pagliai home, 905 S. Evergreen. The young ladies enjoyed a gala luncheon, then spent the afternoon with planned entertainment as well as jollies of their own making.

A LUNCHEON and gift exchange highlighted the annual Christmastime get-together Tuesday afternoon of seven long time friends who meet regularly through the year for cards and sociability. Mrs. Paul Taege, 216 E. Euclid, was hostess to Mrs. Elmer Crane, Mrs. Joseph Wichtner, Mrs. Emil Schubert, Mrs. Alma Ihle, Mrs. Harry Topping and Mrs. Christine Mors.

A relaxing, restful weekend at the Wagon Wheel lodge in Rockton provided a welcome respite midst Christmas hurry for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Funk, 416 N. Drury.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown returned home to 509 S. Chestnut a week ago after a 10-day stay in Georgia that combined business and pleasure. From a "home base" in the King and Prince hotel on St. Simon Island, they revisited scenic spots they've enjoyed before and made several pleasurable business tours.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Fine, 609 S. Chestnut, also blended business and pleasure during their recent stay in New York. They returned Sunday after 10 days in the east where Mrs. Fine visited her mother, Mrs. Ellen Garvin in Yonkers while Mr. Fine attended a business convention in New York City.

Mrs. Edwin Gow of Dolgeville, N. Y. returned to the east a week ago after a week's visit here in the new home of her son, David, and his family, 641 S. Kaspar. The Gows moved early last month from 824 S. Dunton.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chaney, 406 W. Kirchoff, came home a week ago today from Miami Beach where they vacationed for 10 warm and sunny days. Like most winter stays in Florida it's made home sweet home seem pretty chilly.

Also somewhat tanned and thoroughly rested for the Christmas flurry are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bawden, 505 N. Wilshire, who returned from Florida early last week. They enjoyed a 3-week vacation at Lake Worth, near Palm Beach, and report ideal weather for winter sunning.

TEN LOCAL and Edison Park ladies who meet once a month for a musical afternoon will attend a Christmas tea today in the Hugh Hoym home, 721 S. Dunton. Each is an organist and has the instrument in her home, and at the regular get-togethers they share ever-growing repertoires. Today's social will musically herald the sounds of Christmas. Guests are Mollie Stuertz and Lee Stoklosa of Edison Park, and Mildred Schmidt, Denby Rutledge, Wilma Kups, Bernice Prell, Ann Fabian, Jen Pauly and Beverly Galandak.

A surprise celebration, given by their three daughters, recently honored Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leth, 503 S. Evergreen, who observed their 25th wedding anniversary December 7. The Saturday evening before their anniversary date, Mr. and Mrs. Leth were dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Leth's parents, the August Schulenburgs, 112 S. Evergreen, where they received an after-dinner call from their daughter, Stephanie, to return home.

They went, somewhat reluctantly, and found 30 friends and relatives waiting to surprise them. Co-conspirators with Stephanie were her sisters, Mrs. David Gallimore and Mrs. Ted Lisec. Mrs. Lisec, expecting her second child this month, was not able to be here but called from her home in Indianapolis to add her greetings to the general happy hubbub.

THE PROCEEDINGS were taped for posterity and future laughs, with Mrs. Leth's complete surprise repeatedly on record. One guest, a maid-of-honor at the Leth-Schulenburg nuptials of 1935, recalled that 25 years ago the bride-to-be got wind of a would-be surprise shower and refused to appear on schedule. Fears that history would repeat itself this December were unfounded.

December 8 the "bride" celebrated her birthday with a dinner party that included her parents, and the following day celebrated both anniversary and birthday at an afternoon coffee in her home with nine neighborhood friends.

Neighbors and friends of the junior Frank Davenport family, 421 S. Windsor, extend sympathy to the family in their loss of Mr. Davenport's father, Frank Sr. of Wilmette who died suddenly Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. George Bolas, 630 S. Beverly, recently returned from a 5-day vacation at the Desert inn in Las Vegas. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keough of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Machin, 534 S. Beverly, were in Mexico City during the past week on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edelblute, 209 S. Pine, are home from a 2-week motor trip through the southwest, which took them to Albuquerque in time to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bonnichsen.

Enroute to New Mexico, the Edelblutes stopped off in Kingfisher and Seiling, Okla., to spend several days visiting friends and relatives. Here they met Mrs. Edelblute's mother, Mrs. Eva Wakefield of Moscow, Idaho, and her aunt, Mrs. Ida Weber of Spokane, who had arrived by train earlier in the week and who planned to accompany the Edelblutes to New Mexico. A highlight of their stay with their daughter and her family, was getting acquainted with their new granddaughter, Susan.

Returning home, Mrs. Wakefield and Mrs. Weber accompanied the Edelblutes as far as Kingfisher, where they will remain until Christmas, and then come to Arlington Heights to spend the rest of the holidays with the Edelblutes.

WEEKEND GUESTS of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Triplett, 400 S. Lincoln, were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bigsby of Milwaukee and their three children. Of special interest to the children during their stay was a visit to the Museum of Science and Industry, to see the Christmas program and displays.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Skamfer, 437 S. Banbury, and their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ferguson, were hosts to 24 friends Sunday at a hayride party. Guests arrived at the Ferguson home first, for cocktails, and then left by private bus for the Idle Hours Stables and a hayride. Guests found that riding about the countryside in a horse-drawn hay wagon is still lots of fun and much later, when appetites were sharpened by the crisp winter evening, they returned to the Skamfer home for supper and relaxation.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter V. Toffoli Jr., 358 S. Dryden, entertained at a dinner party Saturday. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. John Hall of Arlington Heights and Mr. and Mrs. John Bruning of Prospect Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conley, 417 Lincoln, joined Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner of Mt. Prospect Monday at the annual McDonald Christmas Dinner dance at the Svithiod Club of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McMillan, 415 E. Grove, will entertain af a buffet supper and bridge Friday.

NEW RESIDENTS of Scarsdale are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dial, who recently moved to 514 S. Dryden from Chicago. They have two children, Cynthia, 5, and Christopher, 2.

Emil Haas will arrive from Pompano Beach, Fla. Friday to stay through the Christmas holidays with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tremberth, 300 E. Rockwell.

Out-of town holiday guests expected by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Whiteman, 705 E. Rockwell, are her mother, Mrs. O. J. Marshick and her sister and family, the William Van Fleets of Detroit. Also joining the family group will be the Whiteman's son, Jeffrey, who arrives home Friday from Cornell university where he is a freshman.

Mrs. Kenneth Urbanek of Urbana spent five days in Arlington Heights visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Vander Vort, 433 S. Belmont, while her husband attended the National Food Brokers convention in Chicago.

The Vander Vorts' younger daughter, Claire, will arrive home Friday from Fayette, where she is a sophomore at Upper Iowa university.

Miss Judy Strobel arrives home from Valparaiso university Friday to spend three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strobel, 1319 Mayfair.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Winters, 315 S. Windsor, and their daughter, Vicki, attended a birthday party Sunday for Miss Nan Geerdts, who was celebrating her fifth birthday. Nan's parents, the George Geerdtses and her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Bosch, lived in Stonegate many years and recently moved to a new home in Barrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian MacLachlan, 1230 Woodford, entertained at a dinner party Sunday. Guests dined on wild duck which Mr. MacLachlan bagged on a recent hunting trip in Burlington, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shaw, 306 S. Windsor, spent a day in town last week, dining at the Palmer House and attending a performance of the "Flower Drum Song."

Members of the Scarsdale Ladies Bowling league met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Harold Lussow, 402 S. Gibbons, for their annual Christmas luncheon.

MRS. ALFRED Wilcox, 210 S. Brighton, entertained her Brighton place neighbors Wednesday at a pre-Christmas luncheon.

Mrs. W. T. Hines, 216 Drury, recently returned from California, where she spent two weeks visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Behling of Los Altos Hills. Mrs. Hines was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Henry Senft of Batavia.

Upon returning home, Mr. and Mrs. Hines welcomed his mother, Mrs. Ernestine Hine of Cincinnati, who will visit here through the holidays.

Q. I've been dating a girl and plan to give her a Christmas gift. Should I include her parents, too? I have been entertained in their home many times and am very friendly with them?

A. It would be nice if you gave them some small gift for their household that both can enjoy. Little gestures of appreciation such as this are always in good taste, and show good breeding, too.

One of the first college students home for the Christmas holidays is Bill Richter. He arrived Saturday and will report back to classes at the University of Denver January 3. Because the students do not come home for Thanksgiving, they are allowed the long holiday at Christmastime.

Coinciding with Bill's arrival, Saturday was Mr. Richter's birthday celebration. Guests for dinner came from Park Ridge and Des Plaines. Cards finished off the evening's entertainment.

We are happy to report that Rusty Walters is back at classes at Arlington high. Rusty was hospitalized after suffering a broken arm during practice wrestling matches. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walters of N. Douglas ave.

The snow that threatened all day Sunday fell on the southern part of Illinois and made an extremely hazardous return trip for Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mell. The Mells had spent the weekend in Danville visiting Mrs. C. F. Orendorf, Mrs. Mell's mother. The freezing rain and later blizzard conditions reduced their travel time at one point to three miles in a half haur.

ON TUESDAY Mrs. Mell was a member of the Home group of the Women's club who entertained patients at Elgin State hospital. Once a year the group presents a style show for the pleasure of the hospitalized and treats them to coffee and cake after the performance.

Tammie, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Behrens, took part in the children's Christmas program at Faith Lutheran church Sunday. The little children entertained their parents by singing Christmas songs.

Tammie's 4th birthday was on Thanksgiving day and that of her special playmate, Jeffie Haseman, two days earlier on November 22. The two families celebrated together on the Sunday previous with a birthday dinner at the Haseman residence.

Each month the ladies on the 200 block of N. Brighton get together, minus their children, for an evening of fun. On Thursday night they are planning their Christmas party at the home of Fran McKnight, 211 N. Brighton. A grab bag gift will be the feature for this month's party.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans, 215 N. Beverly, who became parents of their fourth child on Monday, Dec. 12. The baby, a boy, as yet unnamed, weighed 8 pounds, 1 ounce. Carol, Dickie and Bob are the new baby's sister and brothers.

Mrs. Norman Dennis reports that just one elm tree instead of three, as stated in last week's column, was knocked down in the accident that took place in front of their home on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Q. My husband insists on drowning everything on his plate with gravy. I think this is bad manners. What do you think?

A. Strictly speaking, gravy is for the meat and if you want to eat your potatoes with gravy, you dip a forkful into the gravy that has escaped the meat.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

Ann Jeanette Harris was the first one to be baptized in the new Episcopal church, St. Simon. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harris, 1010 N. Race, chose last Sunday for the baptism. Miss Jeannette Mack of Cicero was Ann Jeanette's godmother and Richard Harris of Russelville, Ark. was godfather by proxy since he and his family were unable to come here at this time. There was a family dinner at the Harris' after the baptism.

At 1115 W. Elm Lorraine Cummings gave a Christmas cookie exchange the evening of December 6. Lorraine had asked her 15 guests to bring two pounds of her favorite cookies, along with the recipe, which she displayed on the table when the ladies arrived.

TWO FAMILIES in Ridge Park moved last Friday. The Ronald Murphys, who lived at 1014 N. Chicago, moved to Scarsdale, and the Robert Skallerups moved from 1511 Oakton to their new home in Trout Valley.

George Callahan is getting a few pointers from his brother, Johnny, who was in the Christmas program at Faith Lutheran church Sunday. Johnny sang with his pre-kindergarten group, but George's role on the program next Sunday will be a little different. He will be a shepherd in a manger scene. The two boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Callahan, 1014 N. Ridge.

The Elmer Carlsons, 1711 Oakton, had Christmas Eve celebrations last Sunday when his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dippert, came from Rapid City, S. D. for a pre-holiday visit. Relatives from Roselle and Hinsdale came out for a family dinner and early Christmas celebration because the Dipperts must return home to their family before December 25.

When Bea and Mick Danes, 725 N. Harvard, heard Carroll Brown was flying from Phoenix Sunday night they planned to have dinner with him.

FIFTEEN COUPLES who had dancing on their minds Saturday evening met at Doris and Bob Walkers, 1106 W. Elm, for cocktails before leaving for Glendale country club and the Hundred Couples club Christmas dance. They were a little early for Christmas decorations but everyone seemed to appreciate the big dance floor and the orchestra. This group is always well represented by Ridge Parkers.

There is quite a bit of excitement at the Bob Walkers all this week. Vicki, who is a senior at Arlington high and already thinking about college, will be going down to Purdue to the Phi Delta Theta house to a Christmas dance. She will be the guest of Bob Sbarbaro, a sophomore at Purdue.

Millie and Bill La Grave, 824 N. Patton, have just returned from a 4-day business and pleasure trip to New Orleans. They stayed at the newest hotel in the French quarter, the Royal Orleans. After dinner at Antoins, breakfast at Brennan's, an evening at the Blue room of the Roosevelt hotel where Linda Darnel was playing, they both want to go back.

LAST THURSDAY evening, Mrs. Bob Kapish, 911 N. Harvard, had a coffee for newcomer, Mrs. Don Goetz, and her mother-in-law to introduce them to some of their neighbors. Besides the two Mrs. Goetzes, Mrs. J. J. Shaffer, Mrs. George Krilcic, Mrs. Hank Bayert, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Joe Heinz, Mrs. Kenneth Kniot, Mrs. Alfred Meuser, Mrs. Robert Cummings and Mrs. Steven Andre were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Goetz and his mother have moved to 913 N. Harvard from Brooklyn, N. Y. They have two children, Irene, 16, and Dudley, 18, who are both freshmen at Wagner college in Staten Island. Irene and Dudley flew home for Thanksgiving for a few days but expect to be here two weeks over Chrisfmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Myslo, 721 N. Kasper, took their children to a birthday party Sunday for their cousin, Kathy Myslo, who lives in Elmhurst. The children had fun helping their cousin celebrate her fifth birthday before everyone sat down to a family dinner with ice cream and cake coming later.

IT TOOK TWO parties to celebrate Diane Ostrowski's sixth birthday December 3. Her first party included Eliot Morris, Eileen McNamara, Janet Broadfoot, David Petersen, Stevie Kay, Chipper Howes, Patty Zoellick, Susan Hall, John Patterson, Susan Klinger, Bonnye Myslo, Warren Reid, Debbie Pilip and Diane's sister, Debbie. The following day there was a family party for Diane highlighted by the visit of her great grandmother from Moline, Mrs. Caroline Schuemann.

Norma Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, had the honor of being godmother Sunday at the baptism of her niece, Carol Lynn Barnes, in Chicago. Afterward there was a party for the family in the home of Carol's parents, the Jim Barnes. Jim and Gene Barnes are brothers.

Mary and Ernie Ross, 818 N. Princeton, attended the cocktail party at Ruth and Bob Valloon's home just before the Hundred Couples club dance Saturday evening.

DECEMBER 8 was Jimmy Broadfoot's eighth birthday but he waited until the following Saturday to invite several of his friends from St. Peter school to a party in his honor. After lunch, ice cream and cake, the boys spent the afternoon playing games. Jimmy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Broadfoot, 936 N. Kaspar.

When Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tollesson, 1504 Brown, left Northwest Community hospital with their twins, they caused a bit of excitement going through the halls. There was just about as much excitement Sunday when Lisa Ann and Mark Olaf were baptized in St. James Church by Father Lane. Mrs. Tollesson's niece, Donna Meeuwsen, was godmother to the twins and her nephew, James Hockers, was godfather.

Donna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Meeuwsen, came down from West De Pere, Wis. for the baptism and left after a family party honoring the twins. Mrs. Meeuwsen, who is Mrs. Tollesson's sister, is staying this week.

Garden Club Decorates Village Hall, Hospital

Instead of their usual fourth Monday meeting, Arlington Heights Garden club held a Christmas workshop December 8 at Pioneer Park fieldhouse. In addition to creating centerpieces, arrangements and wreaths for their own homes, members of the group made wreaths for the Arlington Heights village hall, the railroad station, library and the fieldhouses at Pioneer and Recreations parks.

Another recent activity of the club was a workshop held in the home of Mrs. George De Briae at which ornaments were made for the Northwest Community hospital's first Christmas tree. The 11-foot pine, a gift of the club, has been erected in the courtyard. It will be decorated on December 15.

MONDAY, Mrs. Ronald Baptiste, the club's civic chairman, and a co-worker, Mrs. Leonard Luber, arranged fresh greens in the outdoor flower box at the railroad station. The box is maintained by the club on a year 'round basis as part of a program of community service. (A

SHERWOOD

When Doris Spindler went to Jean Hogan's home, 1010 N. Clarendon, for bridge last Wednesday evening she didn't know that a surprise baby shower was waiting for her there. Marilyn Shuman, Isabelle Chodera, Dorothy Sortor, Evelyn Brogan, Claire Port and Marge Thwaite, who play bridge together regularly, were waiting for Doris.

Doris and Herb Cornelius, 1108 Watling, had a pre-Christmas party for their families. Seventeen of their relatives came for a buffet supper.

The D. F. Houses, 1120 N. Harvard, are looking for Rob Sunday. He will be home from St. John military academy in Delafield for a 2-week Christmas vacation. Terry Conner, son of the H. E. Conners, 1117 W. Burgoyne, will be here Friday from St. John.

GEORGE HARRIS

The time of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men," draws near and with it comes a nostalgic feeling that seems to arrive about the same time. It is the time of the year that old "Dad Harris" seems to get a little maudlin, and once a year doesn't seem too often.

It is at this time that all of us seem to soften a little, and there is that glint in our eye and a bright smile on most of our faces. More tolerance seems to prevail, and the small things that have irked us all year long seem to be of no importance. We seem to be more for giving and seem to have a greater understanding of our fellow man. Bigotry, intolerance, and greed seem to be in the minority—oh, if we could only carry this feeling throughout the year, it would be a much better place in which to live. I feel that each and every year we seem to have a better understanding; actually we are becoming of age as people and as a nation. There are many things upon which we could improve, but with patience and understanding this, too, shall come to pass.

Postal Workers Take Grief in Stride

Holiday seasons mean woes for the post office department.

But most postal employees take their seasonal grief in good stride.

"The mail deluge at Christmas tells us the next 11 months will be comparatively easy," says Postmaster Joe Knuth of Mt. Prospect. He admits, however, the holidays are becoming more and more hectic.

Last year the 41-year-old postmaster directed the processing of nearly 191,000 pieces of letter-size mail and 16,000 packages through the post office at 202 E. Evergreen, Mt. Prospect.

THIS YEAR the suburban postmaster expects a much higher volume of incoming and outgoing mail. The Mt. Prospect post office's delivery zone now includes more than 7,000 stops, as compared to some 6,000 in 1959.

"Every time a new home is occupied our job becomes that much tougher," Knuth points out. "The first thing a home purchaser does is hang his house numbers and a mail box. Then we take over."

Anticipating the Christmas rush, Knuth and his chief assistants start each fall to ready additional equipment, hire extra personnel, and obtain larger working facilities.

"The rush starts around December 10 and carries right through Christmas day," Knuth explained. "We encourage early mailing of Christmas cards and gifts to make these days more bearable, as well as to insure on-time deliveries."

FOR THE rush period, extra quantities of mail sorting cases and carrying pouches are brought out of storage. The cases, used for the street - by - street sorting of letters, are increased from one to 32. Dozens of additional delivery pouches are required.

This year Knuth will double his mail carrier staff from 21 to 42, giving each regular carrier an assistant. Distribution workers for outgoing mail will jump from the normal four to 32, most personnel being housewives and college students home for the holidays.

To allow much needed elbow room in the post office building, a second building on Northwest hwy. is equipped to handle all parcel post pieces. Packages are delivered to the post office by residents, but transported to the temporary building for further handling.

"These additions in equipment, personnel and working area permit us to do the job that would otherwise take until late in January," Knuth noted. "And the cooperation given us by the public is always appreciated."

HE DESCRIBED "cooperation" primarily as submitting Christmas mail "early and often," and secondarily, keeping sidewalks shoveled. Aids to the post office in processing outgoing Christmas cards are the "local" and "out-of-town" stickers being distributed to residents this week.

A sometimes headache at Christmas is provided by letters directed to Mr. Santa Claus at the North Pole, Knuth confided. "The post office department sees that letters to Santa are funneled into Chicago and delivered into the proper hands," he said. "And the privacy of the four-cent stamp is never invaded enroute."

Causing consternation all year round for postal officials are the unaddressed, misaddressed and partially addressed pieces of mail. "Mistakes in addressing are especially bothersome at Christmas time," Knuth said. "Christmas cards are often not delivered until after the holidays because of poor addressing."

LAWRENCE Hodges, assistant postmaster, Bernard Nerge, superintendent of mail, and Ralph Palubicki, foreman of mail, all support Postmaster Knuth in urging early mailing and inclusion of return addresses.

Though holidays mean much more work for the post office department, employees seem contented with their lots.

"We're so busy the holidays go by very quickly," Knuth concluded. (B8

Do not say, "I am glad that I went, even if I were disappointed." Say, "even THOUGH I WAS disappointed."

HUGE VOLUMES of parcel post begin to mount under the wary eyes of Postmaster Joe Knuth (right) and carrier Ken Druhot of the Mt. Prospect post office. During the pre-Christmas rush, postal officials hire extra personnel, provide additional equipment and materials, and expedite processing of mail. (B8

Chief Urges Care In Night Driving

Driving after dark in winter demands extra care, special courtesy and special equipment. The driver who fails to realize this may find himself in special trouble now that the season of short days and long nights is deepening.

This warning was issued Wednesday by Chief L. W. Calderwood of the Arlington Heights police department.

"It's a simple thing to understand," the chief said, "but how many drivers actually stop to realize that they can't see as well after dark as they can during the day.

"Even where the main business areas have a modern street lighting system I'm sure nobody would claim it's as efficient as daylight.

"Consequently," the chief continued, "drivers must depend on their own car lights. They can't do this if those lights aren't operating fully and properly.

"In the interest of safety the officers of my department will be keeping an eye open for one-eyed cars, and they're also going to halt drivers whose stop lights aren't functioning. This is for their own protection as well as the safety of drivers following them."

IN ADDITION to checking all their lighting equipment, drivers should brush up on nighttime driving courtesy, the chief advised.

"City driving calls for using the lower headlight beam most of the time," he pointed out. "Driving at legal speeds, there are very few occasions when the use of bright upper beams would be advisable—and certainly not when meeting or following other drivers."

Another courteous action is to touch the brake pedal lightly a few times before braking, Chief Calderwood declared. This gives the driver behind a little extra warning—which, on snow or ice with a chainless car, would prevent involvement in a rear-end collision, he said. (A

Airman Crashes Head-on Into Bus, Wrecks Auto

A 37 - year - old Navyman was charged Friday with driving too fast for conditions and driving on the wrong side of the road after his auto crashed head-on into a bus on Northwest hwy. at Princeton ave.

Treated at Northwest Community hospital for severe facial lacerations and a dislocated hip was William A. Minyard, of Grand Prairie, Texas, who is stationed at the Glenview Naval air base.

JON R. GIBSON, of 114 W. Lake st., Barrington, told police he was driving a United Motor Coach bus east on Northwest hwy. when Minyard's auto suddenly pulled across the center line and headed straight for the bus.

"This guy looked like he was going to make a left turn onto a side street," Gibson said, "but there wasn't any side street there - only railroad tracks." The collision sent Gibson's bus hurtling up the railroad track enbankment. The bus driver suffered slight knee injuries.

Minyard's auto was rendered a total wreck in the accident. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

A welcome is extended to Rev. Maynard Beal and his wife, Jean, who, with their children, Danny, Chris and Nancy, moved into their new home at 1440 N. Race a month ago. Their arrival here from Yorkville was prompted by the Rev. Beal's appointment as associate minister of the Arlington Heights Methodist church. Needless to say, this young couple's activities center around their church work; Danny is busy in the first grade at Wilson school, while Chris and Nancy remain at home to keep their mother company for a bit longer.

Inasmuch as Don Shields, 1256 N. Race, is manager of the F. W. Woolworth store, Rolling Meadows, he and his wife, Mina, were among the store employees enjoying their annual Christmas dinner party at the Waterfall restaurant, followed by several hours of bowling.

A dinner party was given last Saturday night by Elaine and Bill Petrucci, 1115 N. Wilke. Together again were former neighbors, Joan and Harry Stevens, Rockford, Maxine and Sheldon Mells, Mount Prospect; and Edith and Ted Larson of the Terrace. After dinner, the men enjoyed a card game and the women had a good gabfest. land was unable to attend

Although Ruth Nordland was unable to attend the party given Saturday afternoon for Susan, daughter of Ellen and Bob Wiley, 1329 N. Race, her sister, Mary Anne, and Margie, Jean and Diane Simmons, were on hand for the festivities, which included wishing her a happy ninth birthday.

Sunday a family dinner party was held. Wishing Susan many happy returns were her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Wiley, Elmhurst, sisters, Mary Anne, Patricia and Deborah, and brother, Michael.

Sunday marked the seventh birthday of Robert, son of Jeanne and Ray Parks, 1259 N. Wilke. Present at the family dinner party were his sisters, Nancy, Susan and Judith, maternal grandmother, Mrs. Clara Liepitz, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Heidemann, as well as cousins, Sally, Billy and Linda, all of Elgin.

It was a hectic weekend for Shirlee and Frank Pircher, 1330 N. Illinois. Saturday their son, Steve, 4, was hospitalized in Northwest Community hospital with a severe attack of the croup.

In spite of this fact, Shirlee and Frank went ahead with plans to have their infant son, John, baptized Sunday afternoon in St. James Catholic church, although a party in honor of the occasion was postponed. Present at the ceremony conducted by Rev. George Roth were John's godparents, Mrs. John Fairfield of the Terrace and John McInerney, Melrose Park. Steve was able to return home Monday afternoon.

A LUNCHEON-theatre party was held Saturday afternoon for Gordon, son of Regina and Bill Heise, 1222 N. Yale, in honor of his eighth birthday. His guests were his brother, Wayne, Bobby and Tommy Lussier, Jimmy and and Tommy Reed.

Kathleen, daughter of Eileen and Ray Brown, 1504 W. Oakton, 8 December 9, celebrated last week at a party attended by her sister, Marianne, Ann Frisbie, Leslie Yates, Jill Turner, Eileen Dunne and Kathy Talaber. Following lunch, the girls played bingo and created "doggy" favors, each from a bar of soap, a washcloth and ribbon, which, says Eileen, absorbed their attention for the better part of the afternoon. Mary Jo Burkhardt was unable to attend.

Mary Jo was preoccupied in helping to celebrate the sixth birthday of her sister, Suzanne, daughter of Mary Louise and Dieter Burkhardt, 1507 Clarendon. Present at a dinner party Friday night were Suzanne's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mae Mammoser, and aunt, Miss Dorothy Mammoser, both of Chicago, Mary Jo and brothers, Chris, Peter and Curt. The highlight of her birthday, however, came Saturday afternoon, when Mary Louise took the girls on their first train ride to Chicago, where they were treated to lunch and a view of the holiday adorned windows of the department stores.

ANOTHER couple to be welcomed to the Terrace are 2nd Lieut. Walter Skantze and his wife, Florence, 1400 Clarendon. Arriving from New Hampshire with them was their son, Donald, 2. While Florence is busy getting their home settled, Walter is busy at the Nike base, Arlington Heights.

Laura Louise, sixth child of Anne and Fred Miller, 1256 N. Illinois, was baptized Sunday by Father George Roth in St. James Catholic church. Anne's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Frank, Chicago, were proxy godparents for William Bottorf, Mexico City, and Mrs. Florence Schrup, Rock Island. Although the baby's sisters, Theresa Marie and Elizabeth, and brothers, Freddie and Billy, are away visiting relatives in Dubuque, her sister, Mary Anthony, and the Franks were present at a dinner party held in honor of the occasion.

December 6 is the natal day of Alison, daughter of Joan and Warren Blackburn, 1326 N. Race. That afternoon her brother and sister Briggs and Kris, and aunt and cousins, Mrs. Donald Anderson, Keith, Dale and Robin, Palatine, were guests who wished her a happy eighth birthday.

AFTER LEAVING their children, Jill and David, in the capable hands of their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rix, Chicago, for a weekend visit, Jerri and Bill Rix, 1244 N. Swedish Sport Car Result of a Dream

How is it that Sweden, a country with no vast home market for automobiles, has been able to design and produce in the Volvo a family sports car that today has a worldwide reputation?

The secret of the success of the Volvo is found in the fact that Volvo is the outgrowth of three factors that are indigenous to Sweden—centuries old engineering experience, native craftsmanship and superior Swedish steel.

THE VOLVO had its beginning in 1924 when two young employees of a ball bearing company met at a party. As the evening wore on, they found that they shared the same dream: that of producing a Swedish car for Swedish needs.

In 1927 they were able to get a loan from their company to get started building their dream car, the Volvo. They named their car Volvo because the building in which they started manufacturing had that name already on its front. The word means "I roll."

The founders, feeling the name was a prophetic one, adopted it and the company and its cars have been rolling ever since.

Today nearly 80,000 people in Sweden owe their living to Volvo. Since the first Volvos were exported in 1929, the export business has been expanded to many countries. In North America alone, sales this year run in the neighborhood of 20,000. Volvo's appeal to the American buyer is based equally on 30 miles per gallon economy, 95 miles per hour performance, comfortable seating and endurance.

Firestone Tells Tire Price Slash

"Effective December 1 car owners will find themselves paying $1.00 to $4.00 less for all Firestone passenger tires," E. B. Hathaway, sales vice president at Firestone, announced this week.

In addition to the lifetime guarantee against defects in material and workmanship and the Firestone customer satisfaction guarantee, car owners will receive a 12 to 30 month new time-service guarantee on Firestone passenger car tires, he added.

HATHAWAY further commented that Firestone is the first major rubber company in recent years to make such a guarantee available and believes it is a step that will be welcomed by American motorists because it gives them the greatest protection possible.

When asked about the price reductions. Hathaway stated, "This is the first across-the-board price reduction on passenger tires in some time. These are the lowest tire prices since 1954.

In the case of the new guarantee, it was pointed out that the low priced Firestone Champion would carry a 12 month guarantee; the Safety Champion and the Town & Country winter tire will carry 18 month guarantees; the Nylon "500" and DeLuxe Champion 24 month guarantees and the Butylaire and Premium Quality tire 30 month guarantees.

HATHAWAY further stated that with this price reduction program, plus the time-service guarantee, Firestone feels sure that the year 1961 will be one of outstanding sales for the company and its thousands of dealers and stores. (BB

Local bakers will soon begin looking for the loveliest young girls in this area to compete in a beauty contest.

The girls, who will range from 6 to 10 years of age, will be candidates in a contest to find the prettiest and sweetest girls in the Chicago area.

THE WINNER will be crowned "Little Miss Muffin" at a "coronation" and dinner to be held on February 26.

The local Bakers' association points out that no special talent is necessary to enter the contest. Judges will base their scoring on six qualities: wholesomeness, freshness, naturalness, attractiveness, friendliness and poise.

"Little Miss Muffin" is the symbol of retail bakers all over the United States. The Chicago area winner will go on to compete for the national title at the Retail Bakers national convention in Chicago, April 16 to 19.

BAKERS are offering prizes to the Chicagoland winner worth $500 and especially selected to appeal to little girls.

The national winner will receive an additional $1000 U. S. Savings bond and other valuable prizes.

Beginning January 9, entry blanks will be available at bakeries in this area. Names of participating bake shops will be announced a week before the opening of the contest. (BB

FOR MEN OF THE JET AGE

Jet speeds of today's life are making the so-called ladder-climbing more competitive. Men in all fields on the march forward, who will make the grade, must carefully consider their grooming needs from hair to socks and shoes.

In addition to the accustomed modern neatness necessary in business, there must be alertness and freshness in appearance, even during the rush-rush hours, and quite frequently, enthusiastic readiness for an important dinner engagement. It must be recognized that this requires the "know-how" to properly relax at every opportunity if one expects to be efficient in meeting the demands of today's jet age.

THE HOUSE FOR MEN, INC. has developed a modern-time and much-needed assist for today's forward looking men and has incorporated in their 'HIS' line of good grooming essentials, a masculine push-button aerosol cologne that develops a pleasing mist which men like and which helps to give them that refreshing lift so often needed. A few drops of this mist on the base of the neck, forehead and wrists will be found pleasing, cooling and up-lifting, with a prompt aroma that is the nearest approach to a brisk early morning in the Northwoods. It is also a real lift after removing those well-worked over cigars or cigarette remains. After airing a room, add a few puffs of 'HIS' jet spray Northwoods fragrance. A new, refreshing outlook will take over, lessening drag to the remaining efforts of the day. A busy office will also welcome this pleasing improvement.

'HIS' Northwoods aerosol will also do a fine job for the home. Often new clothes, fresh ones from the cleaners, or those that have been housed in an unventilated closet have a hangover that may not be pleasing to others. A touch of the button will change things.

Ask your department or drug store for a store test of this new, outstanding jet spray Northwoods fragrance by 'HIS'. You have a pleasing treat coming. This spray cologne is beautifully packaged in gift cartons with "see-thru" acetate covers. Non-slip bottles are shaped to fit a man's hand.

'HIS' Northwoods Spray Cologne....$2.00 plus tax.

At McDonald's Drive-Ins

Illinois State Food Records Are Broken

While many new industries are springing up in the midwest, some in the multi-million dollar class, there is also a boom in small business openings. These small businesses in some instances are outgrossing some manufacturers. Perhaps the outstanding example is the ever-present roadside hamburger drive-in.

But today's counterpart isn't the one-arm spot that used to dot the countryside. Now they are plush, streamlined assembly-line purveyors of millions of the tasty, grade-A favorite American food item. Just in the past several years, one of the most remarkable small business booms in Illinois has been the growth of the McDonald's drive-in chain, now established in every major city in the state. There are 42 units in the state and seven more are under construction. Total costs of these drive-ins is $6,125,000.

WHY THE boom in McDonald's drive-ins in the state of Illinois?

While some might think it's because of the heavy local and interstate traffic that the state enjoys, this is not entirely so. Actually, most of the establishments are in neighborhood areas.

With McDonald's drive-ins it's a proven axiom that their business depends on the home trade. More than 90 per cent of the business of the McDonald's at 400 N. Lee st. in Des Plaines comes from families coming home from church, the movies, a bridge party, PTA meeting or other gatherings, according to Harold Jacobs, operator of the local unit.

Another reason for the volume trade that McDonald's does is the fact that the 10-item menu has been unchanged in quality, quantity and price since 1948. The entire menu is built around McDonald's famous 15-cent hamburger. There are only two other food items — French fries and cheeseburgers — plus triple thick milkshakes, three soft drinks and coffee, milk and hot chocolate.

McDONALD'S throughout the state is big business in terms of food consumed. More than 100,000,000 hamburgers have been consumed in Illinois in the past five years, more than one-quarter of the entire meat sales of the chain which has 225 units in 31 states. McDonald's has really helped the potato surplus by using more than 15 million pounds of spuds during the same time. Incidentally, shortening is ordered by the ton, rather than by the can.

While it's all big business, it's the family trade and small check that McDonald's relies on.

In fact, when the McDonald's survey team comes out to look over a proposed location, the No. 1 question is "How many homes are around here?" "Where are the churches?" "Where are the schools?" Basically that is what the McDnoald's trade is based upon—the family.

THE AVERAGE check is only 72 cents—and that's for a complete meal. And no tipping. The average customer consumes two hamburgers, French fries and a milkshake.

Service is all on an assembly-line basis. That's what makes it seem so easy. There's no cutting of potatoes or peeling onions. Potatoes are peeled electronically by an abrasive machine and the onions are dehydrated, so no tears.

The result is a complete meal in 50 seconds!

There are eight McDonald's in Chicago and others in Des Plaines, Downers Grove, Elgin, Evanston, Glen Ellyn, Glenview, Harwood Heights, Joliet, LaGrange, Libertyville, Northlake, Skokie, Villa Park, Calumet City, Aurora, Chicago Heights, Crystal Lake, Waukegan, Berwyn, Danville, Decatur, DeKalb, Galesburg, Moline, Normal, Palatine, Peoria, Rockford, Rock Island, Urbana, St. Charles, Springfield, East St. Louis and Kankakee. Prospect in Two Games; Cards at R-B

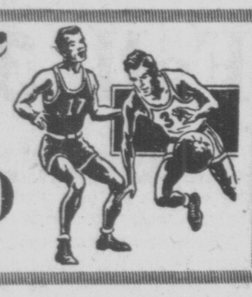
KICKIN' IT AROUND



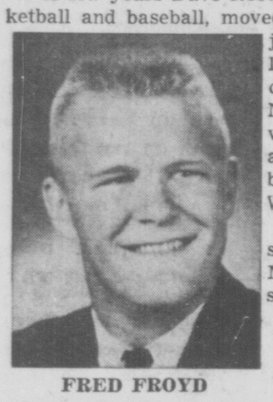
by BOB FRISK

FISHERMEN AREN'T the only people who can talk about "the ones that got away."

Just ask a coach sometime.

Whether you lose a hefty muskie in Wisconsin or a hefty lineman in Illinois, it's all the same. These anglers have some company with the coaches who watch promising athletes leave the area with their folks and proceed to turn in impressive marks at other schools.

A few years Dave Reed, an outstanding prospect in basketball and baseball, moved from Arlington with his family just before entering high school. Dave went on to shatter several cage scoring marks with a unit in New Jersey, captain Brown University's hardwood aggregation, and perform well enough in baseball to warrant a tryout with the Washington Senators.



FRED FROYD

Keith Butterfield was a tennis standout at Arlington, moved to Minnesota, and copped a state singles crown in his senior year.

A promising track man in the immediate area who transferred to Maine township East was Rick Tokoph. Last spring young Mr. Tokoph set one mark and tied another in the frosh-soph division of the West Suburban conference track meet.

What about the Grant high school coach who a few years ago had an outstanding youngster coming up in George Pomey? Today Pomey is a standout on a Prospect high school basketball squad that is making itself heard in prep cage circles. Last weekend this 6-4 senior set a school scoring mark.

The starting center on Springfield high's highly-regarded basketball team this winter is a 6-7 lad who was a prolific scorer with tiny O'Fallon high school last season. His folks moved to Springfield and the Senators picked up a boy who could lead them to a state championship.

Bridgeport, the state runnerup last year, has been bolstered by a transfer student, 6-5 Bob Andrews. Andrews made his debut by rimming 28 points against Salem.

Now we hear that Fred Froyd, who moved from Arlington less than two years ago to Fort Wayne, Ind., earned a second team berth on the East-Northern Indiana high school conference all-star football team. The ENIHSC is considered one of the roughest in Indiana.

Froyd was named at center on the 11-man second team and was the only member of the Fort Wayne North eleven to merit a spot on either of the first two aggregations selected by a panel of prep football experts.

Fred played midget football in Arlington and was on the Jr. High wrestling, basketball, and track teams. In high school he played football for two years before transferring and was also on the 1959 frosh-soph baseball unit that tied for the West Suburban championship. He was active in the baseball programs from Little League through American Legion.

THIS 'N THAT

Mike Ryan, a junior from Arlington Heights, gained a varsity football letter at Culver Military Academy . . . Phil Shaw of Prospect Heights picked up his frosh numerals in football at Cornell college in Mount Vernon, Iowa . . . After Northern Illinois' first three varsity basketball games George Bork had 22 points for a 7.3 per game average . . . The Northern frosh and Arlington high grad had hit on nine of 19 shots for a .474 floor average and on four of five free throws . . . That mysterious young man whose picture appeared without a name in the column last week was Hal Brandt of Hinsdale high school . . . The name did appear in all editions but the eight Heralds . . . LaGrange has taken an early lead in the President's Cup race of the West Suburban conference.

Congratulations to the Bill Buckellews. Lake Park's personable athletic director became the proud father of his third boy last week, Jon Carl. A lineman in the making, Jon weighed 11 pounds, two ounces.

In one recognized post-season football poll Prospect's unbeaten Knights ranked seventh in the Chicago area behind Evanston, Taft, Vocational, Hinsdale, Fenwick, and St. George . . . East Moline's new basketball gymnasium seats 5,068 . . . Ralph Carlino, an Arlington high grad and former prep wrestling standout, is working at 123 pounds for the Indiana university varsity . . . At a Wisconsin alumni dinner last week the new Badger track coach, Rut Walter, was introduced as a sure-fire success . . . Since Wisconsin failed to score a single point either indoors or out last year Walter has only to produce one point to show improvement . . . For two teams that boast only one letterman between them Arlington and Glenbard West put on an impressive early-season hardwood exhibition last Saturday evening.

They're calling this the most fantastic finish of the football season: when a college halfback ran 98 yards for a touchdown in the last eight seconds, fielding the ball from a field-goal try!

Knights At Home Friday

The clubs that staged two dramatic battles last season will meet again Friday evening as the Interim assn. spotlight focuses on the Prospect high fieldhouse.

East Leyden's Eagles and Prospect's Knights, co-champions of the loop in the 1959-60 campaign, are matched in the key game of a busy conference weekend.

Friday's tilt will be the first of two Interim tests for Coach Dick Kinneman's Prospect quintet with the unbeaten Knights journeying to Glenbrook Saturday evening.

LAST SEASON East Leyden was one of two teams to decision Prospect. The Eagles edged the Knights 58-57 in the first meeting, but Kinneman's squad turned around and recorded a 68-59 triumph in a second battle.

Coach Lou Granzin was hurt by graduation, but the East Leyden mentor has a talented returnee in 6-3 Jim Rodgers, one of the finest players in the state, and the presence of Rodgers would make any team dangerous.

The 6-3 senior is the defending Interim scoring champion and in his first loop game last weekend he rimmed 27 points against Willowbrook. He averaged 22.2 points per game as a junior in Interim play and collected 45 in two meetings with the Knights.

At Prospect

Prospect		East Leyden
6-4 Pomey	F	Rodgers	6-3
6-4 Zadel	F	Wertz	6-2
6-5 Palmer	C	Widman	6-3
5-9 Lussow	G	Beals	5-11
6-0 Empkie	G	Ranallo	5-7

TIME: Junior-varsity game, 7 p.m., Fri.
PLACE: Prospect high fieldhouse
COACHES: Prospect, Dick Kinneman; East Leyden, Lou Granzin

GRANZIN HAS one other letterman back at Leyden in 5-11 senior Dennis Beals. Rounding out the starting alignment for the Eagles, 2-1 for the season, will be 6-2 Jim Wertz, 6-3 Dennis Widman, and 5-7 Clem Ranallo.

In addition to matching the two co-champs of the Interim assn., Friday's battle will also match the top two scorers in the league.

Rodgers is five points behind Prospect's George Pomey with the Knights' standout netting 32 in a brilliant performance last Friday against Wheaton. Pomey enjoyed quite a weekend with 54 points in two games and now has 116 in six tilts this season.

The 32 points broke by eight the varsity scoring mark at Prospect established by Bill Zadel last season.

THE KNIGHTS also enjoyed a productive weekend with 152 markers in the two routs over Wheaton and Palatine. In addition to Pomey, Fred Lussow and Zadel were in the double figures both nights and guard Fred Empkie put on a brilliant shooting performance against Wheaton.

Empkie, a 6-0 senior more noted for his defensive ability, sent home seven baskets in a row from 20 feet and added an eighth for 16 points. Fred also did a creditable job at checking the Tigers' high-scoring Johnny Pfund.

PROSPECT'S opponent Saturday has not won a con-

Arlington Seeks First League Win

by BOB FRISK

Two West Suburban quintets seeking an escape from the conference basement will battle Friday evening when Arlington high's Cardinals invade Riverside-Brookfield.

Both league outfits have been tagged with three straight losers in WSC play and are the only league units in this hardwood predicament.

In addition, both frosh-soph entries are also 3-0 in conference action and will be attempting to move up in the standings when they tangle in Friday's prelim.

The varsity battle will serve as a final performance by both teams before they initiate play in holiday tournaments. Arlington will be competing in the Niles invitational and Riverside will journey to Joliet for the Joliet holiday affair.

COACH Frank Bohac's Cardinals boast the better overall mark with a 4-3 standard this season, but Chuck DeWild has several experienced performers at R-B and the Bulldogs are going to jell one of these days.

Riverside dropped its opener to Argo, then pasted Elmwood Park and Carl Sandburg. But since that Nov. 25 victory over Sandburg, DeWild's squad hasn't cracked the victory column.

Maine East, Proviso West, Downers Grove, and LaGrange recorded wins over R-B in those uneventful two weeks.

COACHES: Arlington, Frank Bohac; Riverside, Chuck DeWild
OFFICIALS: Tony Sacco and Rich Weller

SENIOR Tom Gard is Riverside's top league scorer with 43 points in three outings and Johnny Litz has chipped in with 40. Guard Bob Schmidt, who tossed in 20 counters in the Bulldogs' two losses to Arlington last season, has 26 at this stage of WSC play.

When the Cardinals dumped R-B 70-60 in their final meeting last winter, Gard was the loser's top boy on offense with 17 points and Schmidt stood out on defense, handcuffing Arlington's talented George Bork with only three baskets.

It was Jim Clabaugh, currently the Cards' top scorer, who took up the slack while Bork was experiencing an off night, and dumped in 19 points in his second start of the season.

ROUNDING out R-B's starting alignment Friday will be either 6-6 Ed Custer or 6-0 Rog Reid at the pivot and 5-11 Dick Griffith at guard.

Jack Braun, a 6-2 senior forward, and Bob Dolezal, a 6-0 guard, are also expected to see some action for DeWild's unit.

ALTHOUGH Arlington was dumped in both games last weekend, Bohac's quintet did exhibit some flashes of creditable basketball, particularly against a tall Genbard West team. The LaGrange encounter was decided at the free throw line.

The Cards were in both games until the closing minutes and could have registered triumphs. Arlington hasn't been thoroughly out-classed in any contest this season which is encouraging in that only one boy in the starting five saw enough varsity action last winter to letter.

With each game the squad is gaining experience and could make some noise in area circles before the season is too far along.

CLABAUGH continues to rank as the squad's top scorer and now boasts 151 in seven tilts for a 21.6 ppg. Jim has 53 points in three WSC battles, two behind the pace Bork set last year when he cracked the Cards' scoring mark for a single conference season.

Soph guard Chuck Close and Senior Bob Jacobsen rank second among the Cards' starters in league scoring with 25 points each in the three games. For the season Jacobsen stands behind Clabaugh with 72 markers.

First Encounter Wednesday

Cards to Test East Leyden In Niles Tournament Bid

Arlington high's Cardinals will join three other schools in the Niles pre-holiday basketball tournament slated to get under way Wed., Dec. 21.

Coach Frank Bohac's West Suburban squad and East Leyden of the Interim assn., No. Chicago of the Tri-County conference, and Niles township of the Suburban league will compete in the three-day affair.

Arlington and East Leyden are hooked up in the tourney opener Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock with No. Chicago clashing with Niles in the finale that evening at 8:30.

Thursday's opener will match the winner of the first game with the loser of the second. The 8:30 p.m. test will include the winner of the second game Wednesday and the loser of the first.

THE TEAM with the greatest number of wins at the close of the three evenings of play shall be declared the champion and will receive the tournament trophy. In case of a tie, teams will flip for the trophy on hand and a duplicate trophy will be ordered for the other team.

In Wednesday's opener Arlington will be running into a club that is sparked by one of the top players in the state in 6-3 Jim Rodgers. The Interim assn. scoring champ as a junior, Rodgers rimmed 27 in the Eagles' come-from-behind victory over Arlington for the Wheaton tourney crown last winter.

East Leyden boasts two returning lettermen in Rodgers and guard Dennis Beals and posted two victories in its first three games. The Eagles dumped Willowbrook and Elmwood Park and fell to York of the WSC.

NORTH CHICAGO boasts four returning monogram winners in 6-1 Dave Armstead, 6-1 Herb Macknick, 6-0 Bill Liskey and 6-2 Lester Long. The Warhawks stand 3-3 for the season with wins over Highland Park, Antioch, and Willowbrook.

The Tri-County representative has good average height with excellent speed with Liskey, a talented junior guard, and Armstead the two standouts. Ron Greathouse, a 5-11 junior, is another Warhawk starter.

Niles is experiencing a lean year although Jack Fabri's club could surprise. The Trojans own a 53-42 victory over Glenbrook with Capt. Bobby Koseor netting 11 in the triumph.

BOB BROWN and 6-4 Dick Masek have also been capable scorers for Fabri's quintet with Brown bagging 21 in two Suburban league games.

Tourney fans should park in the parking lot west of the building located on Oakton at Edens Expressway in Skokie.

There will be no advance sale of tickets at the various schools. Student tickets at the door with school's identification card will be 50 cents. Adult tickets are $1.

Arlington's Varsity Gym Squad Wins

Arlington topped each event, recorded sweeps on the horizontal bar and rings and a near-sweep on the parallel bar, and coasted home with an effortless 89½-42½ varsity gymnastics victory over Maine West Tuesday afternoon.

The defending state champion Cardinals had little trouble recording their second straight dual meet victory, and Jerry Russell captured three events to pace the triumph.

Russell, a junior who copped two events in the opening win over Niles, topped the horizontal bar, rings, and parallel bar for 21 team points.

BILL SAYRE, as expected, ruled tumbling and Dick Wetzel, as expected, paced the side horse. Both boys boasted 168 scores in winning their events for the afternoon's top performance.

Bob Cordaro headed the Trampoline to round out the first place awards taken by Arlington competitors.

The Cards copped the top three places on the horizontal bar with Russell, Larry Brousseau, and Len Witter and on the rings with Russell, Witter, and Dave Wollerman.

ONLY A TIE for third on the parallel bar prevented Arlington from completely sweeping that event. In addition to Russell's first, Brousseau finished second and Wollerman tied Maine West's Scully for third.

Brousseau also finished second on the side horse and collected 15 points for his afternoon's efforts.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph gymnasts will travel to Willowbrook next Wed., Dec. 21, for a meet at 4:15.

In the last NCAA championship cross country meets, Michigan State has walked off with four team titles and two second place finishes.

Frosh-Soph Wrestlers In Tourney

Eight teams, including Prospect high school, will compete in the first Wauconda frosh-soph wrestling tournament slated for Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 21 and 22.

Coach Maurie Levy's young Knights will join Ela-Vernon, Lake Park, Grayslake, host Wauconda, Harvard, West Chicago, and Naperville.

The sessions will start at 6:30 each night with individual trophies for first and medals for second and third. No team trophies will be presented.

Bob Tery, Wayne Whitmore, and Art Serfling will be the officials for the tourney.

Prospect's Gymnasts Open at East Leyden

Prospect high's varsity and frosh-soph gymnasts will open their 1960-61 schedule Friday evening when they travel to East Leyden to meet two formidable units.

The season lidlifter will begin at 7 p.m. and will provide Prospect with its only competition prior to the holiday break.

Friday's opener is the first of ten duals for both the varsity and frosh-sophs.

COACH RICK Farris listed his probable lineup for the varsity and will work with Bill Palmer, Dave Price, and Dan Simonsen on the parallel bar. Price, Warren VanDerVoort, and Jeff Fahrner will operate on the horizontal bar.

The Trampoline slots will go to soph Paul Shaw and junior Ray Strobel with the third spot handled by either Bill Covalsen or Jim Oldham.

OLDHAM, Strobel, and soph Dave Leekly will compete in tumbling with Rick Stubenrauch, Ron Kelly, and soph Dick Anderson on the side horse.

Rounding out the Prospect varsity alignment will be Dan Malloy, Dick Liebenow, and Fred Hartman on rings.

Farris boasted 14 returning lettermen at the outset of the season but only 11 will be competing Friday. Warren Bischoff and Jim Gardner have dropped off the squad, and tumbler Art Virta is out with an ankle injury.

THE FROSH-SOPH lineup was pending tryouts Tuesday afternoon, but Coach Jack Murray did indicate the probable competitors.

Gary VanDerVoort, Dan Price, and frosh Rick Durgin and Scott Paris will vie for the slots on the horizontal bar, and VanDerVoort, Price, Wayne Deeke, and Russell Barthule are the leading candidates for the parallel bar.

On the Trampoline it could be John Strobel, Dick Schaeffer, and Burgess with tumbling positions going to three of the following boys: Dixon Randolph, Jim Smith, Steve Evans, Strobel, and Brian Williams.

WAYNE ARONSON, Tim Jennings, Dick Dvorac, Price, and Major bidding for rings positions, and the side horse is a definite question-mark.

Murray listed Royce Fichte, Bob Sabey, and Price as possible performers for the latter event.

JOSEPH BOWYER, 10, of 410 Hill ct., Prospect Heights, hooked and landed this six foot, six inch sail fish weighing 40 pounds in Miami Beach, Fla. He landed the fish while deep sea fishing in Biscayne Bay. Joe attends St. Alphonsus school and is in the fifth grade.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

PROSPECT HIGH is already being touted as the team to meet the Chicago champs in the first round of the "Sweet Sixteen" for a chance to join the "Elite Eight" at Champaign in the state quarter finals. The pre-season book leans to Marshall of Chicago who may be back to try for three state titles in four years. The Commandos have a new coach, Harvey Hartenstein, replacement for Spin Salario who moved up to coach Chicago Teachers College. Good men from the champion team are back at Marshall including 6'7½" Ed Franklin and Eddie Jakes, a little 5'11" sharpshooter who scored 18 points in the championship game at Champaign. Don Jackson 6'3" and Jim Pitts 6'7 are Marshall's forwards; Franklin, the center; and Jakes and 6'1" Charley Jones, the guards.

Prospect, like Marshall, has not been pushed yet this season. The Knights were supposed to have trouble with Wheaton but took them in camp handily last Friday and then smothered Palatine on Saturday. The Knights do not have a 6'6" player on the squad but do have three men up front who stand 6'4" and can rebound in even terms with players two inches taller. Small, speedy, expert ball handling guards round out a Prospect quintet which may give the city press as well as the local writers many columns of interesting sports coverage before the season is concluded. Our best wishes to Dick Kinneman and his team as they move along in a great cage season.

PALATINE TEAMS are preparing for two holiday tournaments. The Pirate wrestlers coached by John Ellis will be host to North Chicago, West Aurora, Libertyville, Naperville, DeKalb, Arlington Heights, and Crystal Lake in the annual Palatine holiday event December 27-28-29. Palatine will be a strong contender. Last year they tied with North Chicago for the championship. The Pirates have greater team balance than a year ago and several state tournament prospects. Brad McCreery tops the team with seven straight wins. This past weekend the Pirates took Crystal Lake and Arlington rather handily. "Pa's Bucket," the trophy for which Palatine and Arlington compete, will stay in the Palatine trophy case for the third straight year since the emblem of supremacy was put up for competition. After meeting Zion Friday, Palatine will face a real test on the home mats against Evanston Saturday evening.

PALATINE WILL PLAY in a holiday basketball tourney for the first time in a number of years meeting Antioch in the first round of the Fenton tournament on December 27. The Pirates could be a factor in this tournament. If they beat Antioch the next opponent would be winner of the Fenton-Willowbrook game.

WE ARE HAPPY to hear that Prospect has been awarded a regional basketball tournament. They deserve it with their outstanding team and a fieldhouse which will seat 3,600. The sectional will again be held at Arlington Heights. Other regional centers from which teams will come to Arlington are Elgin, where Crystal Lake will be the favorite; North Chicago; and Barrington.

WEEK BY WEEK Crystal Lake gains stature as the North Suburban leader. The Tigers have yet to be pushed in a conference game and they have met the best teams. Crystal Lake beat East Maine of the West Suburban League in its opening season game by a handy margin. Last week Maine whipped Hinsdale, rated as one of the best teams in the suburban area, to add Crystal Lake's prestige. Only setback for the Tigers was a loss to East Rockford, favored to win the Big Eight championship. Like Prospect, the Tigers have the same team returning for the senior year. This is a tremendous advantage from the standpoint of poise, ball handling, confidence, and smooth team work. Crystal Lake was supposed to be co-favorites this year in the North Suburban with Libertyville. The two had tied for the gridiron championship. When they met a short time ago Crystal Lake ran up a 20-4 lead in the first 3 minutes to show the Wildcats who is boss in the North Suburban this year.

20 YEARS AGO (December 20, 1940)

Palatine whipped Barrington 42-24 varsity and 40-28 lightweight. It was Barrington lightweights, first defeat. Dick Hildebrandt and Bob Hollinger were outstanding for the Pirate varsity and Salvo, Bob Howes, and Harris for the lightweights. . . . Palatine lost their first game of the season Saturday at Niles 41-37 as poor shooting left the Pirates behind 21-7 at the half and with only 1 basket in 18 short shots in the first quqarter. . . . Palatine will meet Malta in the opening round of the DeKalb Holiday Tourney. . . . Showdown is Friday when Palatine meets Wauconda in what is expected to be the Northwest title game without Coach McElroy who is seriously ill. . . . Arlington won their first Northeast victory by taking Crystal Lake 25-21. Millay scored four baskets for the Cardinals. Bensenville's offense stalled again and they lost 20-9 to Northbrook. Kernats scored 16 as Bison lights routed Northbrook 35-7.

10 YEARS AGO (December 15, 1950)

Northbrook stopped Barrington's winning streak of 25 straight Northwest Conference games by upsetting the Bronchos 62-60. Rodney, Pierce, Cusker, McWilliams, and Landwehr (27 points) were the boys who made history for Northbrook. . . . Palatine beat Wauconda 51-40 in spite of Bob Nolan's 19 points. Nolan had a bad night but leads the loop scorers with 87 in 4 games. Ray Sievers scored 16 and Paul Schrage 13 for the Pirates who are now the only Northwest undefeated team. . . . Arlington plays at Palatine Wednesday for the "Sleigh Bells" trophy which Arlington has held since 1947. . . . Only Norbert Leckband won as Arlington was beaten in wrestling by LaGrange. . . . Arlington cagers dropped a 46-33 decision to Crystal Lake. Evans scored 14.

Ruggles Maintains WSC Scoring Lead

LaGrange's Dick Ruggles held on to his West Suburban scoring lead last weekend although he was checked with only ten points in the Lions' victory over Riverside-Brookfield.

Ruggles tallied 25 against Arlington on Friday and with his ten against R-B now boasts 67 points in three conference battles for a 22.3 average.

Seven points behind Ruggles is Hinsdale's Hal Brandt with 60 markers. Bob Haarlow of Hinsdale and Bob Rudolph of York are tied for third with 57 each. Rudolph tossed in 31 in the Dukes' smashing 90-74 win over Glenbard West.

Arlington's top point producer, Jim Clabaugh, is tied for sixth in WSC scoring with 53 points for a 17.7 average.

St. Paul Cops 78-27 Loop Game

St. Paul of Mt. Prospect gained undisputed second last Sunday in Walther league basketball by dumping St. Andrew of Park Ridge, 78-27.

St. Paul dominated play throughout the game as it pulled away 38-11 at halftime. Dan Moritz paced the winners with 45 points and Cosman added 11.

Immanuel of Palatine won by forfeit from St. Paul of Norwood Park through a schedule misunderstanding.

Knights' JV Mat Unit Wins

Glenbrooks' junior - varsity wrestlers fashioned six decisions and two pins last Friday afternoon and wrapped up a 28-14 victory over Prospect's Knights.

The Spartans trailed after three matches but gained a pin at 120 and rolled up a 19-6 lead before the Knights could pick up another victory.

Rogers decisioned Ebei 3-2 at 145 to give Prospect three more points, and the Knights concluded their scoring when Frank Rutigliano pinned his heavyweight opponent in 3:10.

Cards' Soph Gym Outfit Routs Maine

Arlington high's frosh-soph gymnasts found their second meet of the young season to be a lot easier than that first one.

After slipping by Niles by two points in the opener Coach Mike Karon's Cardinals exploded Tuesday and routed a host Maine West team 89-43.

Arlington topped every event and gained sweeps on the Trampoline, parrallel bar and rings.

Bill Kelley picked up three firsts and a fifth for the Cards for 23 team points. Other victors were Bob Paddock on the side horse, Jim Lippert on the Tramp, and Rog Lindstrom in tumbling.

Glenbard Sophs Top Arlington

Glenbard West jumped off to a 10-4 first period lead and experienced no trouble in the final three stanzas as it ran over Arlington high's frosh-soph cagers 51-24 last Saturday evening.

The visitors from Glen Ellyn pulled ahead 22-13 at halftime and exploded to a 19-4 advantage in the third quarter.

Nine boys scored for the young Bards with Patterson tossing in 15 points for game scoring honors.

ARLINGTON collected its only basket of the first period with 2:50 remaining and could register only four points in that segment. The young Cards also were checked with four in the third quarter.

Phil O'Connell dumped in seven markers for Arlington and Ken Seeger and Bill Guilfoil added four each.

Fourth Period Rush

Glenbard West Tops Cards in WSC Game

by BOB FRISK

Arlington and Glenbard West put on one of their typical hardwood dramas last Saturday evening before the visiting Hilltoppers opened up in the final eight minutes and coasted in with a 64-52 victory.

For the second straight night the Cardinals were in contention until they experienced an offensive lapse in the fourth period.

On Friday the Arlington quintet was outscored 19-7 in those final eight minutes. On Saturday the margin was 19-10.

But even in defeat, the host Cardinals turned in a creditable performance against the strongest unit they've faced this season.

COACH FRANK Bohac's squad was in the game all the way until those closing minutes and never trailed by more than seven points before the rangy Bards pulled away. Arlington held the lead toward the end of the second period and closed the gap to one point on two occasions in the final half.

Saturday's battle was typical of the exciting encounters played between these two WSC rivals. Last year Glenbard recorded a 52-48 victory on its hardwood while the Cards turned around and fashioned a 69-67 triumph in their gymnasium.

Both clubs got off to a slow start but opened up in a second period that saw 36 markers registered, 18 by each outfit.

AFTER GLENBARD had pulled out to a 17-10 lead, Arlington started to move. Gary Brodnan tossed in a jump shot, Chuck Close canned one from out, and Skip Witt netted a hook to cut the Bards' lead to one point.

Brian Farney hit from 20 feet but Ross Retterer tallied on a layup for Arlington.

Two straight baskets gave Glenbard a five-point lead and then Bohac's squad initiated a rush that gave it a 1-point margin with 1:38 remaining before intermission.

WITT HIT his fourth straight shot and Close followed with a successful drive. Chuck was fouled on his shot and when a free throw attempt fell off Clabaugh was there to stuff it in and give Arlington a 24-23 lead, its only lead of the game.

Bill Peterson dumped in a pair from close in and after Close connected from the side, Peterson tallied two more on an easy layup to give Bob Metcalf's visitors a 29-26 lead at the intermission.

Glenbard increased its lead to seven points midway in the third segment, but Arlington fought back and when Bob Jacobsen countered, the Cards were down by only two with 1:30 remaining in the period.

ARLINGTON stayed within four points of the Hilltoppers until Farney banged one home and gave Glenbard a 52-46 lead. The visitors moved out to a nine point advantage on a free throw and Bill Power's basket and with Power leading the surge, coasted in with the decision.

Power, the game's leading scorer with 21 points, hit 11 in the final period. Clabaugh and Close topped Arlington with 14 and 12 respectively.

LaGrange Pulls Away In Final Four Minutes

by BOB FRISK

The score's deceiving but LaGrange still owns a West Suburban basketball victory over Arlington high school's Cardinals.

Coach Art Sandusky's Lions had to battle all the way before putting on a late spurt that turned a close game into a decisive LaGrange triumph last Friday evening.

Arlington was down by only four points with 4:04 remaining, but in those next four minutes LaGrange poured in 14 markers while the Cards could collect only three and the hosts walked off with a 62-47 conquest.

For Arlington's Cardinals it was their second straight WSC defeat and second loss of the 1960-61 campaign. And an inability to cash in from the free throw line played a major role in the defeat.

ARLINGTON connected on only 13 of 28 free throw attempts and lost several crucial one-and-one situations when that first effort fell off.

When Coach Frank Bohac's crew closed the gap to four points midway in the final stanza, LaGrange started its rush. Nick Bolum countered on a layup and seconds later Fred Chana dumped in a tip to give the Lions a 52-44 lead.

The Cardinals' Bob Jacobsen hit on one of two free throw attempts, but Dick Ruggles, a standout all evening who wound up with 25 points, tallied on a jumper and free throw to send LaGrange off to a 55-45 lead with 2:17 left.

LARRY QUANE, a 5-9 senior guard, hit the next three points for the Lions and with only 1:20 remaining the hosts were comfortably on top 58-45. Ruggles and Arlington's Ross Retterer traded baskets before Quane tossed in the final two-pointer.

Another shaky start put the Cards behind 13-3 with 3:13 remaining in the first period, but a flurry led by Jim Clabaugh and Jacobsen closed the gap to three points going into the second quarter.

Arlington continued its rush in the next eight minutes and gained a tie with 3:26 before the intermission when Gary Brodnan potted a 15-foot jump. The two teams battled on even terms until Ruggles hit on a layup and jump to give the Lions a four-point lead.

THAT FOUR point margin held up in the closing seconds and LaGrange held a 30-26 halftime lead.

Clabaugh's basket and free throw at the outset of the second half moved the Cards within one, but Ruggles, Quane, and John Willoughby hit successive baskets to send the Lions off to a 36-29 lead.

Arlington continued to hang on with Jacobsen and Clabaugh doing the scoring and was down by only two in the early moments of the final period. LaGrange gradually pulled ahead and outscored the visitors by 11 markers in the final four minutes.

Clabaugh with 24 and Jacobsen with 15 accounted for 39 of Arlington's 47 points.

Palatine's Pirates Fall To Prospect

Pomey Registers 22 In Knights' Triumph

By TOM McSHANE

The Prospect Knights roared past Palatine Saturday night 74-41 to capture their sixth straight triumph of the 1960-61 basketball season.

With forward George Pomey leading the way for the second night in a row, the Foundry rd. quintet disposed of the Pirates in awesome fashion to boost their statewide stock another notch and bring Coach Dick Kinneman his twenty-eighth win against two defeats over a two-year span.

Pomey, who scored 32 points against Wheaton the night before, turned in another superlative performance Saturday with 11 baskets for 22 points. His 54 points over the weekend brought his season's average to 19.4 per game.

THE KNIGHTS stepped off smartly against the Pirates, building a 10-2 lead in the first three minutes on two 15-footers and a drive by Pomey, a 20-footer by Guard Fred Emkie, and a push from the corner by Guard Fred Lussow.

Palatine came back momentarily and closed the gap to 16-10 at the quarter.

Denny Christensen of Palatine sank two free throws as the second quarter opened to move the Pirates within four points. This was the closest they came.

TWO BASKETS by Pomey put the Knights ahead 20-12, and set the stage for 15-point burst that sewed it up.

Palatine scored a basket, making it 20-14. Then Center Bill Zadel hit a follow-up, Pomey made a layup and canned a 15-foot push, and Zadel came back with a push shot from the corner and a free throw to move Prospect ahead 29-14 with 1:42 remaining in the half.

Another Palatine basket interrupted the surge, but Pomey, Empkie, and Bob Glaser countered with last minute field goals to give the Knights a 35-16 halftime lead.

THE PROSPECT surge continued in the third quarter as the Knights outscored the Pirates 24-4 with Lussow getting nine, Pomey six, and Zadel five.

With the score 59-20, Kinneman pulled his starting five as the fourth period began and the Pirates came to life to outplay the second-stringers 21-15.

Pomey's 22 points led all the scorers. Zadel had 12 and Lussow 11. John Seehausn led Palatine with 11, followed by Jon Fabri's 10. Ron Kozlicki, the Pirates' 6-7 center who played most of the game in the high pivot was held to two baskets. SP

Wheaton's JVs Edge Prospect In Loop Battle

Prospect's junior varsity basketball team opened its season with the narrowest of losses last Friday night in Wheaton.

The junior Knights, with three sophomores in the lineup, dropped a 45-44 decision to the Tigers in a game that went right down to the wire with the lead changing hands.

The score was tied at 10-10 at the end of the first period; Wheaton took a 27-25 halftime lead; then Prospect won the third quarter 11-8 to open the crucial fourth with a 36-35 lead.

WHEATON MOVED ahead in the opening minutes of the period, but Prospect came back to tie the count again at 43-43 on a free throw by Tommy Thomas with 2:36 left. Sixteen seconds later Ken Lock scored his tenth basket of the game to put the Tigers ahead 45-43.

The Knights then held the ball for a full minute trying to set up a shot. With 27 seconds left the Tigers gained possession, then lost it on a technical foul as their excited coach leaped off the bench to call a time out.

Thomas converted the free toss and Prospect put the ball in play at midcourt. The Knights missed a shot, then fouled Lock. He missed and Prospect had possession with 14 seconds left. By this time the crowd was on its feet in a frenzy.

The Knights brought the ball down and missed their shot. The game was over.

Knights Rout Tigers

Pomey Sets Scoring Record in 78-61 Win

by TOM McSHANE

Prospect's Knights, the fourth-ranked basketball team in the state last week, opened their defense of the Interim association crown Friday night with a sound 78-61 victory over a strong Wheaton five on the losers' court.

Coach Dick Kinneman's five put on one of its finest displays of offensive power and defensive skill in the second and third quarters as the Knights ran roughshod over the tall Tigers.

George Pomey, Prospect's 6-4, 195-lb. forward, dazzled the crowd by sinking 12 of 25 field goal attempts and eight of eight free throws to set a new Prospect scoring record with 32 points.

Pomey's teammate, Guard Fred Empkie, added a little lustre of his own to the fast-paced middle quarters by ramming home seven field goal attempts in a row from more than 20 feet out. Empkie also held Wheaton's high-scoring John Pfund to three baskets and five free throws in the first three quarters.

WHEATON, with Jack Hatchinson and Jim Jones leading the way, played the Knights on even terms in the first quarter, and walked off with a 14-13 lead at the buzzer. Pomey had kept the Knights in contention with two beautiful driving layups and two 20-foot push shots.

In the second period, the Knights fell behind 16-13 and 18-15 before they made their move with six and a half minutes left.

Big Bill Zadel made it 18-17 with a 15-footer; Dick Palmer made it 19-18 with a tip; another Pomey layup made it 21-18; a 20-footer by Fred Lussow and another by Zadel made it 25-18; and two free throws and another layup by Pomey upped the margin to 29-18 with 3:30 left in the half.

THE PROSPECT move was sudden, and deadly for the Tigers. Wheaton scored again with 2:59 left, and narrowed the gap by two points in the remaining minutes as Prospect left the floor in command 37-28 at the intermission.

The third quarter was all Pomey and Empkie and the Prospect defense. Empkie hit six for six from the field. Pomey banked in three more baskets and a free throw, and the defense held the Tigers to four buckets and two free tosses. The score was 59-38 at the buzzer.

The Knights moved to a 25-point lead in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter as Pomey continued to riddle the Tiger defense with his drive shot. Prospect held the big lead until, with about three minutes left, Kinneman put in his second string.

THE TIGERS then made a final effort, cashing in nine points in one minute while holding the Knights scoreless. But it was much too late.

Four Prospect starters hit in double figures during the contest as Zadel and Lussow joined Pomey and Empkie with 14 and 10 points respectively. Pfund wound up with 15 to lead Wheaton.

Bill Cook Buick Registers 2-1 Win for Classic Lead

All four matches in the Paddock Classic Traveling League were split 2-1 Saturday night at Country Lanes in Lake Zurich.

However, the only one of the three teams tied for the lead a week ago, Bill Cook Buick, was able to come out on top. The Bowlway of Elgin based team thereby took the league lead.

Tommy Thomas' Casablanca bowlers took two from Bill Bond's Mens Wear to remain a half game out and jump from fourth to second. Bill Bond's from Rolling Meadows and Cook County Mobile Homes from Des Plaines both lost a pair, fell one game back, and from first to third.

TIMROTH fell two games back as the first half of the season rapidly draws to a close. Saturday the teams will roll three game matches—Bill Bond's Mens Wear against Cook County Mobile homes being the No. 1 match—at Bowlway in Elgin.

Then the teams will take two weeks off for Christmas and New Year's before the final position round at Ten Pin in Barrington on Saturday, Jan. 7, which will conclude the first half of play.

Bill Cook, which will be on its home lanes Saturday at Bowlway, found Country Lanes in Lake Zurich to be to its liking as it took a pair from Bill Bond's, which calls Country Lanes Home.

LEADOFF man Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows was the big cog in the Bill Cook attack. Perna, high individual for the night, got Bill Cook rolling with a 218 game and Dave Catherwood of Arlington Heights chipped in a 209 effort to give Bill Cook a 984-833 triumph in the opener.

The second game was much closer, 963-944, with Perna again leading with a 223 game and Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods coming through with an anchor 212. Chief opposition was Frank Graff of Palatine who shot games of 208 and 206.

Graff, in the last game, paced Bill Bond's to a 1042 team game with a 225 game for a 639 series. Earl Nichols of Arlington Heights, George Radke of Mundlein and Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich posted 206, 205, and 204, respectively.

TIMROTH Plumbing went Bill Bond's one better in the high game category with a 1094 effort, high in the Paddock Classic league this year. The win deprived Casablanca from taking all three games and the Paddock Classic lead.

Lee Adams of Mt. Prospect bowled a 256 game and all four teammates were above 200. Anchor man Joe Cordulack of Park Ridge fired 223, Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights 209, Warren Olson 204 and Monte Arkus of Hoffman Estates 202.

Yet, Casablanca had the more sustained effort. Ron Fogarett of Palatine shot 223 and Captain Marv Perry of Arlington Heights 217 to give Casablanca the first game, 961-889.

CHARLEY Johnson of Carpentersville posted a 258 final game to pace Casablanca to a 1015 - 958 triumph. This gave Johnson a 622 series and Fogarett, who had a 207 game, a 613 series. Adams and Cordulack had 615 and 609 series, respectively, for Timroth.

Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling gave Cook County Mobile Homes, of the River-Rand lanes, a surprise by capturing two after Cook County Mobile Homes had taken the opener, 977-894, Cook County won its lone game on a 215 effort by Ted Zimmerman and 212 by Tony Sasso, both of Des Plaines.

The night's high individual game, 266, by Sasso, didn't prevent Jeffery from taking the second game, 989-956, as George Stone of Wilmette and Captain Bill Harris of Wheeling each had 215's and Hec Healey of Northbrook 206. Harris continued hot with a 209 game to pace Jeffery to a 941-883 triumph as Cook County Mobile Homes slacked off and dropped from first place. Sasso had a 649 series for Cook County Mobile Homes and Stone 618 for Jeffery.

MOYLE Construction from Ten Pin in Barrington practically eliminated Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect from further title contention by taking a pair, dropping the Gunnell's five four games off the pace. LeRoy Papineau from Lake - in - the - Hills bowled 212 to head a 916-896 win for Moyle. Both teams slacked off the pace in the second, Moyle Construction winning, 882-856.

A 212 by Ernie Koche of Hoffman Estates and 210 by Al Valentino salvaged the final game for Pro Sport Center, 969-947. Papineau had the only 600 series in the group, 616.

Prospect, Arlington Named Tourney Sites

Anouncement of the centers for the District, Regional, Sectional, and State final basketball centers in the 1961 state high school championship series was announced last week by the Illinois high school assn.

Prospect high school will host a regional tournament and Arlington high, as usual, will handle a sectional.

Play in the forthcoming series will open in 42 district centers on Feb. 20. Assignment of teams to the district tournaments will be limited to the schools of smaller enrollments within each regional area.

THE REGIONAL and sectional tournaments will follow the districts at one week intervals. Dates for the state final tournament are March 14, 17-18. The 16 sectional tournament winners will play the first-round games of the state final tourney on Tuesday, March 14.

These games will be played at eight centers, one game at each center, and the winners of these games will play at the University of Illinois on March 17-18.

As in last year's tournament series, only the winning teams will advance from District to Regional competition, and only the regional winners will advance to the sectional tournaments. The 15 sectional winners together with the champion of the Chicago Public high schools athletic assn. will compete in the state final tourney.

The work of assigning 684 Illinois downstate high schools to District and Regional tournaments is now under way and assignments will be announced about Jan. 15.

Mundelein Gals Pace Vernon Hills to Top

Vernon Hills Restaurant of Lake Zurich had its best night of the season Saturday at Northfield Bowl in Northfield.

And the night came at the right moment as the Lake Zurich team took two games from Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling, high average team in the league, and wrested the lead from Steve's in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league.

In do doing, Vernon Hills, bowling out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, broke its high team game mark of 932 with a 947 game and broke its high series mark of 2652 with a 2668.

TWO MUNDELEIN gals, Fran Altergott and Bonnie Kuhn, were responsible for the Vernon Hills surge. Fran rolled games of 214, 209 and 190 for a 613 series, high in the league Saturday night. Bonnie had games of 192, 189 and 189 for a 570 series, third high. Only a 585 by Sis Jennings of Deerfield for Steve's Restaurant intervened.

Fran's 214 game paced Vernon Hills to a 947-909 triumph but Steve's, representing Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling, came back to win the next one, 861-827. Vernon Hills then took the decisive game, 894-852.

Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights remained very much in the running by taking all three games from Sims Bowl of Des Plaines and moving into a second place tie with Steve's Restaurant, a game out of first.

HOWEVER, neither Morton nor Sims rolled the games that Vernon Hills and Steve's did. Morton captured all three quite easily although bowling only 2625. Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights led Morton with a 561 series and Connie Labo of Rolling Meadows had high individual game, 223. Ruth Beyer of Palatine had a 524 series to lead Sims.

Northfield Bowl captured two of three from River-Rand and now challenges River-Rand for fourth place, being just a game back. Ceil Borre and Sally Prouty, both of Wilmette, and Fran Feuer of Winnetka bowled 548, 541, and 538, respectively. However, they were topped by a 564 by Peggy Sparks of Rolling Meadows for River-Rand.

Saturday when action resumes at Sims Bowl in Des Plaines, Morton Pontiac and Vernon Hills Restaurant will be the feature engagement. After a two-week layoff for Christmas and New Year's, the final three games will be bowled at Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling Saturday, Jan. 7, as the final half of the Paddock Women's Classic draws to a close.

Loop Secretaries Urged to Reply Early for Slots

Time reservations for the approaching Paddock bowling tournaments are No. 1 on the call parade of Marian Phillips, tournament coordinator at the offices of Paddock Publications.

Mrs. Phillips is currently in the process of sending cards to all league secretaries reminding them of the tournaments the second and third weekends in January. They received official entry blanks and tournament posters several weeks ago. Additional blanks can be secured at the several bowling lanes involved.

THIS YEAR'S tournament for local men's leagues is slated for Jan. 14 and 15 at Rolling Meadows Bowl, with first place teams of men's leagues as of Christmas Eve eligible. Women's event will be held Jan. 21 and 22 at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine with leaders of women's loops as of New Year's eve eligible.

The tournament is always restricted to men's and women's leagues within the direct area served by Paddock Publications with certain other leagues permitted to enter providing at least half of the keglers have mailing addresses within the area served by the papers.

FIVE SQUADS of competition are planned for the men's tournament, including Sunday at 1:00, 3:25, 5:50 and 8:15, plus Saturday at 1:30. For the women it will be Sunday at 12:30, 3:10, 5:50 and 8:30, plus Saturday at 1:00 and 3:40.

Spots on these squads are always given out by Mrs. Phillips (Clearbrook 3-1520 during the business day) on a first come, first served basis. League secretaries or team captains are urged to call in a time request just as soon as possible to avoid disappointment.

THE DEADLINE on entries for the men's tournament is Saturday, Dec. 31, and for the women's entries Saturday, Jan. 7. Sports department of Paddock Publications is hoping as many entries as possible will come in before that date for promotional purposes. Entries from mixed leagues are not permitted.

Up for grabs in the men's event are five individual trophies, the large traveling team award, plus $600 in prizes if 80 of the possible 93 men's leagues enter. First place money will be in the neighborhood of $198 with $132 for second.

First place in the women's tournament will net $112.50 providing 50 of possible 65 leagues enter the event, plus the five individual trophies and the large traveling team trophy.

Arlington Dogs Bring Home Well-Deserved Trophies

Three Arlington Heights dogs took some of the top honors in the recent Rand Park Obedience show which had entries totaling more than 200. A miniature black poodle, "Lisa," owned by Kay Blackwood, 620 E. White Oak, scored a 199 out of a possible 200 and one of the four dogs tied for the trial's second highest scoring dog.

Larry Sebastian's black labrador retriever, "Zorro," who earlier this year earned highest honors in his novice work, placed second in the advanced Open A class at Rand Park. Sebastian resides at 412 W. Wing.

"JELLYBEAN," a tiny white toy poodle owned by Marianne Scott, 819 S. Evergreen, was the highest scoring toy dog in the Rand Park show.

"Lisa," who was entered in Novice B, had just the week before, completed requirements for her companion dog degree and the four trophies she received at the Rand Park show were an extra bonus as confirmation on the CD degree had not yet come from the American Kennel Club.

Trophies won by "Lisa" were for placing among the top six scoring dogs in the show, second highest in Novice B, second highest scoring miniature poodle and the Northwest Obedience club trophy for highest scoring dog entered from the NOTC.

FOR "JELLYBEAN," who was entered in Novice A, it was the first show and earned the first "leg" of the three required for CD by the AKC. With a score in the 190's, he received trophies for highest scoring toy poodle in the trial, highest scoring toy dog in Novice and highest scoring toy dog in the show.

Zorro, for whom the trial brought a second "leg" in Open work, received trophies for second highest scoring dog in Open A and highest scoring labrador in the trial. His score of 196½ is in keeping with his other scores which brought him a Will Judy award for novice work. This award is given to dogs who score 195 or better in a minimum of three consecutive shows.

ALL THREE dogs attend weekly training sessions of the Northwest Obedience club which trains in Palatine. Another high scoring dog from the club was Erma Muster's weimaraner, "Linda," who scored 196½. Linda was handled by DeForest Muster of Bensenville.

New classes for beginning dogs are held every three months at NOTC. February classes are filled for this popular class, but there are still some openings in the May class, according to Mrs. Charles Berry, secretary, CLearbrook 5-3809. (A-13

SURROUNDED by the many trophies they received at recent obedience show are three Arlington Heights dogs, all "pupils" of Northwest Obedience club. Lisa is the black miniature poodle, Jellybean is the white toy poodle and Zorro is the black labrador retriever. (A13

Q. What should a man do when passing a woman in the narrow corridor of a train, so that he may avoid jostling her too much?

A. He can step into an empty compartment, if there is one—otherwise, just flatten himself as much as possible, face inward, against either wall.

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

The hall-deckin' - with - holly, bein' - jolly season means it's time for the Swingin' Squares traditional Christmas party, tomorrow night, Dec. 16, in the Recreation park field house where jolly old Don Finfrock will start the calling at 8:30. As per the custom of several years, there'll be "His" and "Hers" grab bags. Members and guests who would like to be in on the grab bag fun are asked to bring two gifts, one marked HIS and one marked HERS, and not to exceed a cost of $1 per gift.

THE Swingin' Squares December 2 dance was well attended by a lively group of members and guests who were kept hopping by caller Don Finfrock with assists from Nina Tibbetts and Harry Ryan. Don and his wife, Kay, taught the round dance, "Cecilia," and will review this dance at the next get-together.

Plans are being made for an Old Timers dance, Friday, Jan. 20. Club officers say, "If you haven't square danced for several years, here's a good opportunity to get back in the groove. If you have friends who've neglected their do-cidos for a while too, bring 'em along." More details will be coming later.

EVERYONE is always welcome at the Swingin' Squares dances, held every first and third Friday of the month in the Recreation Park field house, 500 E. Miner, Arlington Heights. Dancing is from 8:30 p.m. to 11 o'clock with a refreshment and social hour following. (A13

Music and an occasional remark from Santa add to the fun between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m., according to Howard Schnair, one of the store owners. (B8

Q. Is it permissible to tip one's soup plate in order to obtain the last spoonful?

A. Yes it is permissible, but generally, tipping the soup plate is not so desirable as being content with the soup you are able to extract by "flat spooning."

Detailed Accident Survey

Find Auto Seat Belt Is Crash Life Saver

Whoever said "If we do not listen to history, we have to relive it," would probably agree that it can serve as a warning to all motorists over the Christmas and New Year's holiday weekends.

Last Fourth of July 442 persons were killed in auto accidents, according to the National Safety council. The council, however, is interested in more than just the number of fatalities. To find out some of the conditions and circumstances of death-crashes, the council took a survey.

The survey found that not one of the people who died in the accidents wore a seat belt. Investigators said that 42 per cent of these lives could have been saved if seat belts were used.

MORE THAN half of the accidents occurred in the first 30 hours of the holiday period. During the first 12 hours deaths averaged almost six an hour.

Three out of five of the crashes involved only one vehicle. Almost one third of the fatal accidents involved drivers under 25 years old. Eighteen per cent were under 20, the survey shows.

Where drinking or speeding were involved, half of the drivers had records of previous violations in the same area. Three out of four of the crashes occurred in rural areas rather than the city.

ALMOST THREE out of five fatal holiday crashes occurred on roads with which the driver was familiar. Fifty-eight per cent of the drivers had driven the death road frequently, 29 per cent had driven it occasionally and only 12 per cent rarely. Half of the accidents occurred within 10 miles of the drivers' homes.

Twenty-five per cent of the trips which ended in death were for the purpose of visiting friends or relatives. Twelve per cent were for picnicking, 11 for business, seven for shopping, and five for going to or from work. Only two per cent were for vacation trips which just happened to include the holiday period.

Fifty-five per cent of the fatal holiday accidents came on the way home and 45 per cent while going. On picnic trips, two out of three fatal accidents occurred while returning. On business trips, three out of four came while returning. In trips for visiting, however, they occurred more frequently while going.

THESE ARE just some of the facts that the survey, which included findings of safety coordinators of the 50 states, revealed. More than 400 of the 442 accidents were investigated. (A13

Horse-Bite Victim, 1, Is Treated at Hospital

Most unusual emergency treated at Northwest Community hospital last week was a horse-bite victim.

Jill Ziske, 1, of Prospect Heights, was treated for a small cut Sunday, after she tangled with the horse.

Five persons were admitted to the hospital and are in good condition after they sought emergency treatment. Donald Schaeffer, 2, of Arlington Heights, was admitted for treatment and observation after he fell down basement stairs and suffered bruises and cuts on his face.

ALSO admitted for treatment and observation of facial cuts is Thomas Moore, 18, of Springfield, who fell while ice skating Sunday. Lloyd Schaeffer, 37, of Wildwood, required surgery after he severly cut his fingers while working with an electric saw. Lars Anderson, 17, of Arlington Heights, is in good condition after admission for treatment of a broken arm. James Killough, 25, of Waukegan, was admitted to surgery for a broken leg.

Other emergency victims treated for broken bones are James Legge, 14, of Arlinton Heights, who fell off a bar in the high school gymnasium and broke his arm; Bart Ritchey, 9, of Mt. Prospect, broken arm; Jill Ansel, 2, of Rolling Meadows, broken leg; and Diane Schaeffer, 9, of Mt. Prospect, broken arm.

Mrs. Edna Edelblute, Arlington Heights, caught her finger in a car door and broke it, amputating the finger tip. The wounded finger was cleaned, stitched, dressed, and placed in a cast.

TWO PERSONS were treated for burns. Allen Kent, 8, of Arlington Heights, was watching a fire Saturday when a can exploded. He suffered second degree burns on his hands and face. William Bond, 35, of Highland Park, suffered first degree burns on his face when an explosion occurred while he was attempting to light a furnace.

Five children found unhealthy quantities of pills and foreign objects to their liking. Guy Rosenthal, 2, of Palatine, was X-rayed, after he swallowed lead pellets. The stomach pump was used on Kelly Anderson, 3, of Roselle, who ate 30 baby aspirin, and Thomas and Donald Solmo, 4 and 3 respectively, of Rolling Meadows, who ate 20 baby aspirin between them.

Persons treated for cuts are Alpha Cutting, 5, of Arlington Heights, who fell against a rocking chair and cut her left eyebrow; Karl Kanitsch, 26, of Crystal Lake, who cut his thumb in a saw while at work; A. J. Creighton, 25, of Palatine, who cut his hand on a butcher knife; Arthur Kalinski, 12, of Arlington Heights, who needed 12 stitches on a hand pinched in a school door.

OTHER CUT victims are Mrs. Qwyne Jensen, Arlington Heights, who caught two fingers in a garage door; Samuel Simons, 1, of Roselle, who fell against a bookcase and suffered a one-inch cut on both lips; George Pitelka, 40, of Palatine, who cut his thumb in an electric saw; W. S. Ellis, 34, of Skokie, who cut his right hand; Michael Monson, 8, of Rolling Meadows, who fell off a slide and cut his right leg; and Jon Marini, 2, of Palatine, who fel against a dresser and cut his chin. No 'Cardiac Jobs'

Few Job Restrictions for Heart Patient, Says M.D.

"There is no such thing as a cardiac job," said Dr. Herman K. Hellerstein, director work classification clinic, Cleveland Area Heart society, who was a guest speaker at a recent medical meeting sponsored by the Lake County Medical society and the Lake County Heart council.

Dr. Hellerstein goes on to explain that work classification clinic has found that 80 to 90 per cent of persons with heart disease can go back to work and not be limited in their capabilities. Seventy per cent of the patients referred to the clinic were returned to the same job.

The clinic, primarily interested in helping persons with heart disease return to work, evaluates whether the cardiac patient can safely return to his same job or a different one. The patients' emotional problems are also taken into consideration. Physicians refer the patients to the clinic.

The clinic team embarked on a project called ergonomics—the measurement of job requirements. In this project, the team tried to study man in his natural habitat—offices, factories and even the operating room.

A normal person and a person with heart disease were studied to determine what was the cost of their work in terms of heart beats. It was found that cardiacs behave just like non-cardiacs, but some people, whether they have heart disease or not, pay an inordinate excessive price for their work due largely to the emotional reaction of the individual.

ALTHOUGH studies have shown that the cardiac patient's heart beats approximately 10 beats faster per minute during the working period than the person without heart disease, many normal people who are in poor physical shape will also have extra heart beats.

Clinical studies have proven that a gradual, well-supervised physical training program for people with heart disease will condition them for greater work endurance.

A person with heart disease can be rehabilitated but this does not mean that he should attempt to do in one day what he has failed to do in many years. A gradual rehabilitation program of the type offered by the Rest Haven Rehabilitation hospital or the Rehabilitation institute of Chicago is suggested by Dr. Hellerstein. (A13

Reapportionment of 13th District Is Committee Goal

Laurence A. Kusek, who ran on the Democratic ticket for congress from the 13th congressional district in 1958, announces the formation of a committee for the purpose of seeking reapportionment of the 13th congressional district into two districts by the coming state legislature.

Kusek points out that the official census indicates that the present population of the 13th congressional district is 900,000.

He also states that the average population of congressional districts in Illinois will be 420,000 when the districts are reapportioned by the coming state legislature. This means, Kusek contends, that when the congressional districts are reapportioned the present 13th congressional district should be divided into two districts.

A LOGICAL division based on distribution of population in the 13th congressional district, says Kusek, would be to form one congressional district out of Lake county, New Trier and Evanston twonships and another congression district out of the remaining 10½ townships; Niles, Maine, Leyden, half of Norridge Park, Northfield, Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Palatine, Barrington and Hanover.

Others interested in the project are asked to contact Laurence A. Kusek, 1602 Talcott rd., Park Ridge. (B8

'WAY BACK WHEN'

50 YEARS AGO

DEC. 9, 1910

Palatine: Palatine's Electric street lights were turned on Dec. 1 and everybody is rejoicing accordingly. The power of the new light exceeds the expectation of the majority of our citizens and the board is being commended for both the number and the quality of the lamps. There will be no more excuse for Palatine citizens not being able to find the keyhole, if they go home before 1 a.m. . . .

That there is something besides honor in being President of the Palatine Commercial Association was demonstrated to Peter Knowe Tuesday. He just missed the 7:33 train and had an early appointment. A fast St. Paul train, scheduled to pass thru here at 50 miles an hour, stopped and Mr. Knowe was able to keep his appointment . . .

November Honor Roll: High School, Sarah Rennack and Elvera Schmidt. Grade 8, Eleanor Anderman, Fred Kunze, Mary Allard, Amelia Kunze. Grade 7, Frank Thurnau and Fred Harmening. Grades 5 and 6, Lawrence Frye, Francis Daniels, Myra Smith, Raymond Pohlman, Forence Thurnau . . .

G. H. Arps addressed the board asking that the police department take some action to stop the nuisance which young boys create around the waiting rooms of the depot. Police committee stated that they would instruct the officers accordingly.

Arlington Heights: Ralph Nehls and Willie Weber got up a magic lantern show and charged admission Friday and realized enough to buy another good book for the Woman's Club public library . . . E. H. Meyer is so sure of his job as a Deputy Sheriff that he is making all his arrangements to enter in a public career. He has rented the choice flat of Judge Frank White, the astute political mascot, who was with the Republicans during their reign; but is ever ready to lend his advice to the "party in power." White can generally guess the winners in any campaign and he told the editor before the late election that we were on the losing side. "Blatz" does well to secure White's political influence in his behalf.

Roselle: Walter Haberstick went out trying his new rifle shooting at a crow, and brought down a 10 lb. goose; he thinks it must be a good one . . . Walter Hattendorf was hunting rabbits with Haberstick brothers Sunday. They killed 15 and then Emil said I think we will leave some for my other friends . .

Quentin Corners: Sauerkraut and pork are very reasonable in price, but apples and fruits are on the high shelf . . . A few railroad men are still working down in the Deer Grove woods, grubbing stumps and plowing on the grade . . . Our railroaders have broken camp and gone to winter quarters with the grading well along and will finish up next spring.

DEC. 10, 1920

Arlington Heights: Hail glorious sunshine. Christmas shopping — freezing beings. Plowing goes on in gardens and fields about town. The robins chirp cheerily these December mornings. Farmers plowing in their fields this fine autumn weather. Commercialized Christmas propaganda is beginning to work . . . Mr. Henry Brockman and Miss Mathilde Reese were married at the parsonage of Rev. Noack Saturday, Dec. 4. They were accompanied by Mr. Ed. Brockman and Miss Amanda Reese . . .

The bazaar given by the young people of St. Peter's church Saturday was a "humdinger" of a success. Or even the hour of opening was duly arrived, Presto! the whole aggregation was sold out—a big financial success . . .

John Kastning, near Plum Grove, has sold 100 bushels of Ben Davis apples this fall and has 75 more to dispose of. Pretty read beauties they are, even if they are much ridiculed Ben Davis, heaps better than no apples . . .

Wm. Seiltz, the hustling farmer and livestock dealer, has built a handsome addition, 26x26, two stories besides basement and attic on the west forty of the old Henry Engelking farm on State Road, which he recently bought. We are glad to see that place slicked up. He will fertilize and put the land under high state of cultivation.

Dr. Wendell A. Diebold, an osteopath, who has practiced six years in Chicago, has opened an office above Landmeier's store, where he can be found Tuesday and Friday afternoons. He has been associated with Drs. Goser and Lychenheim and the Lindlahr's Sanitarium, which are known to many local people. Dr. Diebold is anxious to secure a home in the country and is opening an office here with that end in view.

From Observer's Notes: Queer how stupidly conservative we are as well as our neighboring town of Palatine. Won't put our hands in our pockets to give even the smallest aid to any new business enterprise, looking for encouragement to locate in our town. Penny wise and pound foolish are we, in all such matters. The Utility Battery Co. came here looking for a location before going to Mount Prospect. So did the milk bottling company. We just froze them out. Same with other worth-while activities in the past, which might have added materially to the growth and prosperity of the town. We forget there is "a withholding which impoverisheth and a scattering abroad that increaseth."

Married: Miss Meta Froemling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Froemling, and Mr. Albert Rascher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Rascher, were united in marriage Thursday, Nov. 25, by the Rev. Charles Noack, in the parsonage at St. Peter's church. The bridegroom some time ago bought the property cor. Dunton ave. and Fremont st. and filled it up ready for the future home of himself and bride, and there Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rascher went at once, following their marriage.

Among the prospering businesses in Arlington Heights, is the Shillo Brothesr pickling works, near the railroad and Chicago ave. They are only active during the summer, closing as soon as the freezing weather comes. The company buys the cucumber crop produced in this area, but their largest product is sauerkraut for the making of which delectable pre-digested foodstuff they have shipped in many carloads of cabbages during the summer and autumn. The wholesome appetizing product is all right and finds ready purchasers, but the factory and its near surroundings, smells to heaven, and leads the one approaching its environs, to exclaim with Hamlet, or Horatio (whichever it was) "there's something rotten, if not in Denmark, in Arlington Heights."

Palatine: Palatine is going to grow in spite of herself, so says certain Chicago real estate firm, who is contracting for the settlement of a large number of Jewish emigrants in this vicinity. Evidently a small sized League of Nations will be necessary here. We have kept by ourselves so long and discouraged factories, which would bring in foreign labor to such an extent that the arrival of the emigrants will be a little disconcerting.

Roselle: The Farmers and Merchants bank received their safe Friday.

Mount Prospect: Miss Minnie Mecklenburg and Mr. Al Minnick were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Sat. evening, Dec. 4, by Rev. Miller.

Thieves have started their mischief in Elk Grove. Paul Garlisch reports they stole 38 chickens, a double harness, horse blanket and overcoat from his barn, Wednesday night.

DEC. 5, 1930

Schaumburg: Mrs. Fred Springensguth died early Monday morning at her home. She is survived by her husband and four children: Mrs. W. Meyer of Arlington Heights; Fred and Henry of Schaumburg, and Mrs. J. Kastning of Rodenburg.

Roselle: Mr. George Tews of Roselle and Miss Florence Voelz of West Chicago were married Nov. 22d, 1930, and will make their home in Roselle.

Mr. Gunn of Chicago and Mr. H. Mensching of Roselle are kept quite busy calling on prospects who may be interested in taking an excursion trip to the Rio Grande Valley in Texas. Any person or persons interested call up Mr. Mensching for particulars.

Itasca: The Masonic dance given at the Itasca village hall Saturday night was well attended by members and friends tripping the light fantastic until the midnight hour. Both the Boy Scout and Library fund were increased considerably. The Scout fund was $16.10. The Library fund, sponsored by the Woman's Club in the refreshment booth reached $25.00.

Wood Dale: A great number of Wood Dale people saw the picture "With Byrd at the South Pole," at the Center Theatre. This was our first opportunity to hear the new sound equipment that Charley Irwin has installed, and we find it equally as good as in downtown theatres.

Arlington Heights: The Arlington Heights Paren-Teacher Association was organized Tuesday evening, Nov. 25 with 61 members to start with and representing both the North and South side public school clientele. President Burton A. Noyes of the Board of Education, also a member of the PTA before the war, was asked to preside at this meeting. Mrs. Homer Evans acted as temporary secretary. Mrs. Oliver Aspegren of Evanston, district director of the Illinois Congress of Parent-Teacher organization, explained the organization and the main points of its work. A motion to organize was made by Supt. of Schools E. D. Whitmore. Mrs. Elsie Moodie seconded this motion which was carried unanimously. Mr. B. H. Jarvis then moved that the local group affiliate at once with the state and national organizations. Motion carried 32 to 19. A model constitution and bylaws of the Arlington Heights unit were then read by Mrs. A. H. Fessler, chairman of the temporary committee on that subject; and with insertions of name and use, it was adopted. Nominating Committee was voted upon. Chairman Noyes appointing Mrs. O. G. Barrett, chairman, Miss Irene Russell and Mrs. E. H. Crofoot. Next meeting Thursday, Jan. 6, 1930, at South school.

Headquarters of the Social Service Committee of the Public Health Committee of Arlington Heights are to be open from now on over the People's State Bank, Wednesday and Saturday evenings, 7 to 8:30 o'clock. Everyone having clean or laundered clothing, bedding, or food that he can spare, is urged to bring them to these headquarters; and anyone in need is invited to come and talk to the committee who are there to see that anyone temporarily in need will be relieved from unnecessary suffering, and that confidentially. A meeting of the Committee was held Monday night. Mr. Arthur McElhose, of the People's State Bank, is treasurer. $100.00 the principal part of the proceeds of the Cardinal - Alumni games Friday night, was turned over promptly by Principal V. I. Brown of the high school. The material and money accumulated will be employed judiciously by the Committee, and the Community Nurse, Miss Martha Jackson, in using each item where it will relieve the greatest need.

The almanac says winter begins December 22. Some of us thought it began a month ago.

Judge Wm. E. Kopplin is gone about ten days on a lecture tour including Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, and Detroit; Friday at the Detroit Institute of Arts, and before the Cadillac and Kiwanis clubs in that city. In Grand Rapids he has two engagements, one in the largest church auditorium in the city. Some new material on the scenicly illustrated lectures will be shown before the Woman's Club of Arlington Heights Dec. 17.

DEC. 6, 1940

Arlington Heights: Leonard Maloney, 17 years old, and Robert McDougall, 18 years old, enlisted in the U. S. Army last week and were immediately sent to Camp Custer, Michigan, for the term of three years. The two boys received consent of their parents and passed the medical examination. John Allen and William Foley, the first volunteers in District 1, Cook county, to see active service have been assigned to widely separate points. John was assigned to Fort Snelling, Minn., last Friday, and William to Savannah, Ill., Monday.

William Annen, of Arlington Heights, a senior at Knox, Galesburg, has been awarded his varsity football "K" by vote of the Siwash Athletic Board of Control. Annen played guard on the Knox squad this season. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Annen, 903 N. Dunton ave.

Mrs. C. H. Mills has recently been appointed National vice chairman of the American Music committee of the "Children of the American Revolution" a young people's organization sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The appointment was made by Mrs. Frances Kerr, National president, complimenting Mrs. Mills, author of the society's official song.

Henry Rehling, an Arlington Heights resident for a good many years, died Dec. 3, aged 76 years, 9 months and 8 days. He was born in Elk Grove township Feb. 25, 1864. As a young man he was united in marriage to Miss Caroline Boeger, who died in 1908. About three years later he married Miss Bertha Sternmeyer. Mr. Rehling will be remembered as the special police officer who served in that capacity at many events in the high school and other public places in Arlington Heights. His services were utilized for some time by the bank receiver.

Mount Prospect: Mt. Prospect will have a complete system of ornamental street lights extending along the Northwest Highway early next year—it will be a "Great White Way." The village board authorized the opening of bids Jan. 7 for the project that will not cost the taxpayers of the town one cent. After installation, the maintenance cost is estimated at only $30 a month with the use of lights of 600 candle power each. The municipality will pay the cost of the lights from gas tax funds that have accumulated on the books of the state highway department.

The Way We See It

Successful Caucus Needs Broad Support

With municipal and school elections not many months away, northwest suburban communities are starting to stir as prospective candidates and their backers hold strategy meetings, disgruntled homeowner groups talk of putting up an anti-sidewalk slate, and speculation runs high as to whether incumbents will seek reelection.

Of the various methods of selecting and electing candidates for local office in area communities, the caucus is perhaps the newest and often least understood.

Some communities have recently adopted the caucus system to choose candidates for their school and municipal elections. In other towns, private groups are debating the merits and shortcomings of adopting such a procedure.

Put simply, the caucus' stated objective is that "the office seeks the man rather than the man seeking the office." The object is to find the most capable men in the community to fill the offices up for election.

In theory, the caucus discourages special interest groups gaining control of community or school affairs. It's also intended to take partisan politics out of candidate selection.

Some critics argue, however, that the caucus after a period of time comes to be associated with "good government" and "good schools" and that opposition candidates are automatically suspect and discussion of issues discouraged. It's further contended that some caucuses tend to perpetuate themselves and become special interest groups by drawing their participants from the same group of persons.

It is our opinion that the caucus system, like any other political organization, is neither inherently good nor bad, but may measure its effectiveness and community service in terms of participation.

If, as has happened in the past, the number of organizational delegates to a school caucus shrink from 40 at an initial meeting to less than 30 when candidate selection time comes, the caucus is failing its purpose.

If, as has also happened, less than one per cent of a community's adult population turns out to vote for members of a caucus candidate selection committee for a municipal selection, the caucus is again failing its purpose.

The principle behind the caucus offers a potential for choosing first rate candidates. But even with broad participation, the caucus systems, of which there are several variations, should not be regarded as sacrosanct.

When it comes to election, local or national, we welcome the discussion of issues and debate among an electorate that an opposition generally invokes.

DuPage JP System Needs Review by Commissioners

DuPage county supervisors have wrestled with a dilemma created by the new laws on justices of the peace which go into effect next year.

"What salary for the j.p.'s will be high enough to induce truly capable persons to seek the posts?" is one of the questions supervisors have asked themselves.

The other question is: "If we pay a good salary to attract good candidates, can we afford enough judges to provide quick and inexpensive justice for DuPage citizens?"

Last May supervisors decided that DuPage county should have 15 justices for its population of more than 300,000. The supervisors want the salary of these 15 to be covered by the estimated $80,000 annual revenue from the justice courts. This would mean an annual salary of $5,333 for a justice of the peace, who would have to cover the expenses of his office from this sum.

Recently, Harold P. Dunton, election committee chairman, proposed cutting the number of justices to eight and setting the salary at $10,000. The proposal was beaten by a vote of 18 to 5.

Dunton stressed the importance of attracting good candidates for the judgeships. The majority which defeated his proposal was thinking of the importance of quick and convenient justice — of keeping the j.p. court "the poor man's court." So they want 15 judges instead of eight.

It appears that quite a lot of middle ground has not been explored.

For example, suppose that 11 justices were paid $7,250 each. Many capable persons would likely seek the jobs. Skokie recently elected two village judges, whose salary limit is set at $8,000 by state law, and almost every lawyer in town was willing to run (and half of them did). The DuPage j.p. system, under this arrangement, would remain self-supporting.

This leads to the thought: Is it a sacred principle that the j.p. courts be self-supporting? Many county projects are not. One thinks of the DuPage county airport, for example. To most people in the county, speedy justice, expertly administered, would be more important than airport improvements, if one had to choose between the two.

The operation of the justice of the peace courts affects so many people in such sensitive spots that the DuPage county board should take still another look at the matter of the number of judges and their salaries.

The Shoplifting Problem

Shoplifting by juveniles has reached proportions which make it a serious social problem which stores cannot solve without help.

More than 35 per cent of those apprehended as shoplifters in Illinois stores are juveniles. The Illinois Retail Merchants association reports that this number will grow unless those responsible for the moral instruction of youngsters take a more serious view of theft and the effect which arrest can have on the entire course of a juvenile's life.

Much juvenile shoplifting can be prevented if parents provide better supervision and closer control over shopping done by their children.

Stores cannot stand idly by and permit theft simply because the culprit is a juvenile. They must apprehend the juvenile and make the unpleasant choice of either calling the parents to tell them that a son or daughter has been caught stealing or turning the juvenile over to the police.

No merchant relishes either task, but he has no alternative. In the final analysis, it is parents who can avoid the necessity for stores having to make such a choice.

Has Civilian Defense Any Real Value?

U.S. Needs High-Level Study, Firm Policy

by WILLIAM DULANEY

The nineteenth anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor was observed last week with the declaration of National Civil Defense Day by the office of civil and defense mobilization.

Among literature printed by the federal government for the occasion was a brochure posing the question, "Can We Survive An Atomic War?" The answer was obviously "yes," if we take the proper civil defense precautions.

The brochure noted, however, that "there is growing concern in Washington and elsewhere that the widespread acceptance of "On the Beach's" scientifically-incorrect thesis (that nuclear warfare would end life on earth) has lead to defeatism in the U.S. and other Western nations." Such thinking, said the pamphlet, has "hampered civil defense efforts."

IT'S UNLIKELY any book, movie, or criticism of civil defense efforts has hampered the CD program as much as the federal government's lack of commitment to it. True, around $20 million is budgeted annually for CD efforts plus distribution of millions of dollars worth of surplus government property. It's also true that Washington's official position is one of urging greater civil defense efforts, both through educational processes (knowing the right thing to do when the time comes) and encouraging construction of survival shelters.

Despite CD expenditures and official support, if one considers the billions spent on weapons, the mammoth research programs seeking new means of destruction, and the urgency given to the concept of "massive deterrents," it raises the question of just how sold are our national leaders on the merits of a civil defense program.

There is certainly no urgency emanating from Washington in coordinating the CD efforts at state and local levels. And there is little doubt that should an attack on this country come tomorrow, it would be every man for himself, with mass chaos resulting.

A LOCAL EXAMPLE of our state of civilian defense preparedness was a CD drill conducted among the schools of an area community last year. The village siren was so weak that several of the schools were still waiting for the signal to take shelter a half hour after the drill was over. Not too reassuring in the face of defense department statements that our best warning system against an ICBM attack would give this country a 15 minute alert.

Even less comforting is Defense Secretary Gates' testimony before the house armed services committee:

"We simply do not have an active defense against a launched missile. The best defense is to maintain sufficient retaliatory capability to assure that enemy missiles will not be launched."

RESPECTED scientists, top men in the fields of chemistry and nuclear physics, have repeatedly stated that an all out nuclear war would destroy all human life on our planet. Other scientists, just as respected, have said this is not so, that some of us could survive through civil defense efforts. Who is right? Isn't it time our government gave priority to a high-level study on the advisability of an all out CD program of massive proportions?

Should the results be negative, we should quit pretending and perhaps concentrate our money and energy on seeking an acceptable disarmament program.

If, on the other hand, it's found a civil defense program of consequence is our only hope of survival, then let's get busy. A first step could be, as proposed by Gov. Rockefeller, legislation requiring all future construction to include a survival shelter of some sort.

Illinois Needs Leadership

Statehouse Headaches Face New Governor, Legislature

by CHARLES HAYES

Otto Kerner will inherit a host of headaches next month when he moves into the Executive Mansion.

The new governor has his job cut out for him; after nearly a decade of indifference and ineptness, Illinois is confronted with a desperate need for progressive, determined leadership.

Foremost among state crises is the matter of money.

Failing state finances, coupled with an inadequate and unfair tax structure, are threatening to strangle us. A basic overhaul of the state revenue code is long overdue. Such revision would enable us to levy taxes that are more adequate and equitable.

REVENUE REFORM is imperative if we are to begin facing up to other pressing problems, practicularly the expanding demands of school construction and teacher salaries.

The tragic insuffiency of Illinois' mental health program was widely debated during the political campaign. Now comes the time for action.

Extensive reform and revision are necessary, both in treatment of the mentally ill and in operation of mental institutions. This involves small hospital units located in population centers, separation of the mentally retarded from the mentally ill, more emphasis in intensive treatment of the mentally ill and follow-up programs in each community, and better patient inventory.

Serious consideration should be given to a statewide program of school district reorganization to eliminate small, inefficient school districts.

NEW SUBURBAN areas deserve a proportionate voice in Congress, and the next session of the legislature should give fair consideration to the need for equal representation when it begins to remap the state's Congressional districts.

Immediate steps should be taken toward meaningful reform of Illinois' archaic judicial system. This requires concerted effort for a judicial amendment to the state constitution.

Effective legislation is needed to protect the state's 20,000 migratory farm workers, until now left at the mercy of farmers and growers who have outrageously exploited these defenseless people. Such legislation should include enforceable standards of health, housing, and sanitation as well as special state aid for school districts saddled with large seasonal influxes of migrant children.

Particular effort should be exerted to develop important civil rights legislation: equal job opportunities and freedom of residence. The latter proposal would guarantee freedom of residence for all citizens according to their tastes, needs, and economic abilities and without discrimination for reasons of race, religion, or national origin. The governor and legislature will also be compelled to take a more realistic look at problems of racial segregation in some of Illinois' public schools.

THE GOVERNOR should establish a special study commission to determine the need and potential of both public and private transportation in metropolitan areas. This commission should be made up of mass transportation experts and government officials.

Still needed is a state study of drainage problems and a master flood control plan drawn on watershed lines instead of governmental boundaries.

Other matters which will confront the incoming state administration include new efforts to legalize bingo, another attempt to suspend the death penalty for a trial period, efforts to approve the secret primary ballot, and a demand for tighter credit control laws to protect consumers.

TO RESOLVE its problems in finance, welfare and education, social legislation and government reform, Illinois will need a Chief Executive with vision, intellectual capacity, and moral courage. It has such a man in Otto Kerner.

Forceful leadership from the Governor's Mansion is not sufficient, however, unless accompanied by the interest and support of an aroused, enlightened citizenry.

Only with the strength and resources of both can Illinois once again move ahead.

Imaginative Account Of Nativity Is Good

by MARTIN E. MARTY

"A reverential reconstruction" is what Jim Bishop calls his "The Day Christ Was Born," a new book in which he applies his reportorial techniques to the story of the Nativity.

I will admit that I did not come to the book prejudiced in its favor. Having read some of his earlier work and having observed him on That Man's late-night television show, I have always felt uneasy by the way in which he conglomerates known and certifiable fact, with borderline, semi-verifiable events, and with sheer fantasy.

Thus on the Paar show he declared as if it were the Gospel truth (no pun intended) that a crack runs from Calvary to where the temple stood, proving that there was an earthquake on Good Friday.

THIS WOULD all be very nice in the mouth of a phony Palestinian guide, but it does not serve the Christian cause to bring this kind of reportorial evidence to bear.

Fantasy, I'm all for it: let the stars over Bethlehem twinkle green and purple and the cows have names and the inn a neon sign--this is all right.

Fact, I'm all for it: I hope archaeologists will dig and historians will lay bare layer after layer to get at the heart of past events. But blurring the two--this is dangerous.

I say all this as background to my 'conversion' upon reading Bishop's newer book. Again there is a blend of Gospel chronicle, known facts about contemporary marriage customs, and Bishop's 'imaginings' as he calls them. But this time there is such a power in the original narrative, such freshness to the recovery of what we know about Palestinian marriage then, and such simplicity about the imaginings that it 'comes off.'

THERE ARE, of course, embarrassments whenever someone fills in the blank spaces in the tantalizingly brief Gospel narratives. We are less likely to be jolted by the idea that Mary was 15 than at the idea that Joseph was nineteen; we have no reason to believe that 'this was the winter solstice of the Jewish year 3790' in the gaiety of the Feast of Chanukah; and even worse is here.

For instance, it is certainly dogmatical contrivance to say that Mary was conscious that she was giving birth to "a first-born who is God and the Son of God and the Second Person of the Holy Trinity" is quite a mouthful.

I believe the dogmatic assertion to be true but I am sure that the 15-year-old handmaiden of the Lord from Nazareth was not expected to ponder in her heart the formulations of the fourth century to come!

BUT FROM that first chapter forth everything improves, and one is carried along almost breathtakingly to the conclusions of the narrative. Bishop's imaginings are certainly no more out of place than are those of the great artists of any period, some of whose work is reproduced in these pages (Harper, $3.50).

In comparison with most of the sentimental tripe that comes out in the name of Christmas this is light-years ahead, and deserves reading in the light of the tree, the wreath, the candle.

Summary: but still light-years short of the Gospel of Luke.

Arlington Graduates Wed November 26 in Tucson

Two Arlington high school graduates who went on to study at western universities, were married November 26 in Tucson. The bride is the former Julia Anne Meyer, daughter of Mrs. Alva H. Meyer of Tucson, formerly of Arlington Heights, and the bridegroom is Robert Frederick Charles Jr. of Tucson, son of the senior Robert F. Charleses of Martinsville, Ill. former Mt. Prospect residents.

The service took place in Mountain View Methodist church at 8 p.m. and was a candlelight double ring ceremony. Officiating was Rev. Fred Ingold. Large baskets of white chrysanthemums, carnations and stock were set on the altar along with the candelabra and palms.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her mother, wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace and chiffon taffeta. The bodice, which was of the lace, was fashioned with scalloped scooped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured a wide lace band. Silk illusion made up her fingertip veil and a pearl and sequin scalloped tiara held it in place. A single strand of cultured pearls and a bouquet of white roses completed her ensemble.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ernest L. Martin of Greeley, Colo., was matron of honor and wore a light blue brocaded sheath with darker blue organza overskirt, tied in back with a large bow. She also wore a white feather headpiece, white accessories and carried bouquet of white mums.

BRIDESMAIDS were Miss Sue Starzel of Larchmont, N. Y. and Mrs. Maynard Skinner of Boulder. Their ensembles were identical to the matron of honor's.

Flower girls were Miss Susan Martin, 3, and Miss Cyndi Bush, 7, who wore light blue taffeta gowns fashioned like the older attendant's. The little girls carried baskets of rose petals. Six-year - old Gregg Martin was ring bearer.

The bridegroom was attended by Duane Axel of Kendallville, Ind. as best man and Joseph Charles of Mt. Prospect as usher.

SEVENTY-FIVE guests attended the reception held in the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Meyer received in a French blue lace dress with blue flower hat, silver accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a brown sheath dress with accessories of a lighter brown, a flowered hat and a corsage of white roses.

After a honeymoon in Denver, the newlyweds are now residing at 1428 E. Drachman, Tucson. After Arlington high school, the bride studied at the University of Colorado and the bridegroom at Wabash college and at present is at the University of Arizona, where as an assistant in horticulture, he is doing graduate work. Quite Contrary by Mary

'Blind Spot' Crises

MY MIND IS OBVIOUSLY full of blind spots. I don't know if I acquired them or was born that way. Sometimes they make me I little uneasy until I begin comparing notes with female friends of mine. It seems to be peculiar to my sex.

Everyone knows that you can't cook anything tasty without salt. When I was learning to cook, it was one of the first rules. Yet, I will run out of salt, go to the grocery store four times and still be out of salt. I evidently expect the salt box to replenish itself.

The same thing happens with sugar. I apparently will go to any lengths to avoid buying sugar. Also matches. Also quite a number of other things. For weeks the bathroom sink has been stopped up. Oh, eventually, if left to its own devices, it would gurgle the water out leaving the nicest film of scum ever to nauseate a housewife.

But, the only time I thought of a sink unstopper was when I was in the process of brushing my teeth. Late at night. After five weeks of this, I finally bought something that is supposed to do the trick. Such a feeling of virture. I busily ran through the house unstopping sinks that didn't even need it.

A friend of mine, who makes me feel better about things, has a blind spot on onions and cleansers. Everyone knows that if you don't know what to have for dinner, you start sauteing an onion and go on from there. But, she never has the onion. I have solved her problem for her by making sure that I have onions. She makes sure she has salt and sugar.

This is called coexistence. In fact, our neighborhood has worked out quite a marvelous system of overcoming blind spots. One neighbor is always good for dishwasher soap. Always. In addition to onions, I'm pretty good about coffee and vinegar. Sometimes I astound myself in the baking powder division too. Of course, I was out of it for a month before I got astounding.

The neighbor on my right is awfully good about potatoes. I have one down the street who is peachy in the breakfast cereal division. Without her, there are times when we might all starve. All I can conclude is we should all give thanks that our blind spots are not identical but highly individualistic.

European Honeymoon For Palatine Newlyweds

Six months in Europe will be the wedding trip for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Berlin, who were married November 26 in a double ring, candlelight service in St. John United Lutheran church, Palatine. The newly-weds will be leaving January 1.

The bride is the former Miss Cheryl Stenstrop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stenstrop, 256 N. Linden, Palatine, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Berlin, Roselle rd., Palatine.

Rev. P. H. Beecken officiated at the 4 p.m. service amid a background of white chrysanthemums and palms. Organist was Bob Adams.

THE BRIDE wore a gown of white satin styled with a fitted bodice over a full skirt that widened into a chapel train. The bodice was fashioned with scooped neckline and tapered sleeves, detailed with alencon lace and embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The skirt had the same lace motif and the back was caught into a bustle with large open roses.

Her silk illusion veil cascaded from a half hat of lace embroidered with the same pearls and sequins. Her bridal bouquet was of white pompons and ivy surrounding a white orchid. Mr. Stenstrop gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Sue Stenstrop was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss May Bryn. Both wore identical street-length gowns of blue taffeta with white fur headpieces. They also carried white fur muffs with sprays of blue carnations.

The bride's mother chose a champagne brocade dress with a corsage of brown and rust chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue and white printed silk dress with white carnation corsage.

John Wick of Palatine was best man and ushers were Kenneth Laiviska and Edward Swanson of Palatine and Vernon Frost of Arlington Heights.

The reception, attended by 150 guests, was held in Palatine's Fireman's hall.

The bride attended Palatine high school and the groom was graduated from the same school. While in service he was stationed overseas where he did extensive traveling following his release from duties. Recently he has been with the Palatine post office.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Dear Peg:

Dear old Dad got his just reward! Having returned empty handed from several recent hunting and fishing trips and had to bear with his wife's unfunny jokes about the ones that "got away" or "flew away," it was high time for him to fix the sassy spouse once and for all. Which is just what he did! I nearly swallowed my tongue when I looked out the window and saw the hunters' car swing into the driveway and Bob get out carrying two huge pheasants. It was obvious from the delighted look on Bob's face that these birds were coming to this house to stay and I was going to have to do something about them.

I opened the door and exclaimed, "Oh my!" (A clever expression designed to register happy surprise—when you can't think of anything else to say.)

"Well, here you are, dear. Aren't they beautiful?" The hunter exclaimed.

"Oh, they'll be even more beautiful when they're all stuffed. I hope you know how to do it, Patty. It'd be a shame to ruin these lovely birds," said the second hunter, a rascal by the name of Sam.

"Well, I don't know a thing about stuffing, but I'm sure it'd be a snap for any good taxidermist. And won't the pair of them be decorative perched somewhere in the TV room?" I said smiling sweetly with the weak hope that they might even go along with the idea. With the expressions on their faces the weak hope faded completely.

"Is she kidding?" Sam asked.

"I think she's trying to be funny," replied the great white hunter, whose personality, I felt, had undergone a radical change with his successful safari into the cornfields.

"Oh, I bet I know what you mean," I giggled. "You mean stuffing like in bread and sage and stuff."

"No dear," Sam corrected. "Stuffing like in wild rice and wine."

"Well, all I can say is that it's a shame to burn up all those beautiful feathers, when we could enjoy looking at them for years to come." This silly comment obviously didn't even deserve the dignity of a reply. With a faintly patronizing look at me and a note of authority in his voice, the head of the house said, "Come on, Sam, let's go around in back and skin the birds."

This all happened a couple of weeks ago and we didn't eat the pheasants until just last night. I'm not sure I would have cooked them if it hadn't been for the fact that every time I went to the freezer for orange juice or vegetables I would see those two stiff, naked birds, lying there waiting patiently for me to make up my mind to cook them. It was getting so that I'd stopped buying orange juice and vegetables, in order not to have to look inside the freezer. Then too, Bob got to be a real nag about when we were going to have pheasant for dinner. Family life was getting a little tense.

And so, one bright morning I made up my mind that if Irma S. Rombauer can do it—so can I! Taking Irma's book off the shelf—it's called The Joy of Cooking—I looked up Pheasant, Roast and found that all I have to do was to follow above rule for Roast Partridge. Under Roast Partridge I read that these birds may be sauteed, smothered or stewed by any rule for chicken, however, since they are dryer they are frequently larded (what's "larded") and drawn ("what's "drawn"). I had a feeling Miss Rombauer didn't like me.

Better I forget about the pheasants for a while and think about the guests. The birds weighed almost four pounds apiece so I decided to ask two other couples. They were perfectly delighted to be asked to a pheasant dinner (little did they know how far those icy pheasants were from being cooked!). The next most important task was to decide on a centerpiece. With a straw basket of fruit and nuts and the prettiest of the pheasant feathers that the children had saved, I fashioned a woodsy-looking centerpiece. The next step was to decide on a wine to serve with the dinner. Miss Rombauer did not fail me. She has a page devoted to the serving of wine. Now, there remained only one small problem—how to cook the pheasants.

Pondering my problem, I suddenly remembered that Sam had spoken of eating pheasant many times and how delicious it is. Sam's wife, Dorothy, must know how.

"Why, dear, there's nothing to it," my unbelieving ears heard Dorothy say. "After the birds are thawed, be sure they're clean, then rub them with butter and salt. After you fill them with the dressing, wrap strips of bacon around the legs and lay several pieces across the breasts, then lightly wrap each bird in aluminum foil and roast it about 15 or 20 minutes to the pound. The dressing is very easy too. Simply cook the wild rice and add sauteed green pepper, onion and celery and a little of the wine that you intend to serve at the table. That's all there is to it."

And that's all there was to it. The dinner turned out well, our friends enjoyed it so much, Bob was impressed and best of all, I could again open the freezer with a clear conscience.

My love,
Patty

Eisenhower Commends YMCA On Aid to Armed Forces

President Eisenhower today lauded the Young Men's Christian Association for its work on behalf of America's Armed Forces, declaring this service to be a major contribution to national security.

This information was received by Stanley C. Amren, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwest Suburban YMCA, from the organization's national headquarters.

"BY ADVANCING the physical and moral strength of men and women in uniform," the President asserted, "the YMCA helps to ensure a continuance of our way of life and a full measure of individual freedom."

The President's views were expressed in a congratulatory letter addressed to the National Board of YMCAs on the eve of the association's 100th anniversary of service to the nation's fighting men.

The YMCA movement will commemorate this anniversary throughout the country in 1961.

MR. AMREN NOTED that the "Y's" Armed Services work began in 1861, when a group of local YMCA Associations formed the United States Christian commission. The commission sent 4,859 volunteers to battlefields, hospitals and camps in an effort to provide spiritual and physical relief to Union and Confederate soldiers. In so doing, the YMCA established the pattern for all civilian service to the Armed Forces.

Subsequently, Mr. Amren said, the YMCA directed practically all volunteer services for troops in the Spanish-American War, handled nine-tenths of all welfare work in World War I and operated a quarter of all American-based USO clubs during World War II and the Korean conflict. The "Y" also provided spiritual, educational and recreational services to millions of prisoners-of-war in more than 30 countries.

The American YMCA movement currently maintains 24 Armed Services branches at home and overseas, operates 35 USO clubs and lounges and furnishes personnel now directing recreational and welfare activities for United Nations troops in the Gaza Strip and the Congo. (B9

Hints To Home Owners

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

The Yule season is a time of friendship, warmth, and cheer. Our homes are cozy with the glow of Christmas lights and decorations. As much a part as the tree itself are Christmas flowers and plants.

Proper attention to plant needs will assure you that they will last and lend their charms to your home throughout the season.

Few holiday plants are more striking than the poinsettia. A native of Mexico where it often becomes a ten foot tall bush, the "point" has become the traditional Christmas plant. The familiar red-flowers forms are most popular, but whites, pinks, and semi-doubles are available. The colored structures we call flowers are actually bracts. The flowers are the little yellow parts in the center of the clusters.

THE poinsettia must be handled with care if it is to remain presentable for any length of time. Strive for uniform temperatures in the 60 degree to 75 degree range, and reduce the thermostat at night. Put your plant in a place where it gets bright, but not direct sunlight, and where the air is not too dry. If the plant is in a window where there is danger of chilling, take it out of the window or draw the shade at night. Maintain soil moisture at moderate uniform levels.

Drafts, too warm or too cool temperatures, sudden temperature changes, dry atmosphere, improper watering, and dim light can cause loss of leaves and withering of the bracts.

Two attractive annual plants, the Christmas pepper and Jerusalem cherry, are often used at Christmas time. When purchased, they are covered with red fruit and fit beautifully into the holiday color scheme.

These plants should be placed in good light and in a cool place if possible. The warm dry temperatures in many of our homes rapidly dry out the fruit, and the plants become unattractive sooner than necessary. The soil should be kept uniformly moist.

Fruit of the Jerusalem cherry is supposedly poison. The Christmas peppers can be dried and used as spices. Use them cautiously, they are extremely hot.

The pot mum has deservedly become one of the most important and popular gift plants for all seasons. Even though the normal flowering date for most mums is November, research has shown the florist how to produce blooming mums any day of the year. They are available in a wide range of colors, and easily last a month or more if given proper care.

TO insure a long blooming period, select plants that are not entirely open, and that still have some unopened buds. Pots often dry out rapidly, check often to see if they need watering.

Bright light is necessary to keep the plant in good growing condition and to produce the true color of the opening flowers. Keep the plant in a cool room at night, and avoid dry, overheated rooms during the day.

Always purchase your plants from a reputable florist. You may be able to get plants cheaper from other sources, but only a florist can guarantee the quality you demand for maximum life and beauty of the plants you give and receive. (BB

Tree Trimming Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

What fun it is to entertain during the holidays. Just a simple refreshment, served with fun, gaiety and a dash of originality and you can be the hostess with the mostess.

INVITATION

The invitation should go out well in advance so that the date-filled calendar can be marked well in advance. The tree trimming may, in your home, be one just for the family but why not treat them as guests with an invitation and special time for the tree trimming?

If you are active with teens, or church groups trim a tree for an old people's home, orphanage, or the church itself, perhaps for the smaller Sunday school children. But trim a tree to give the Christmas spirit to those less fortunate than yourself and you will receive reward, tenfold, in that good feeling of giving.

The invitation can be a double fold card in the shape of an ornament or make a large gingerbread man from sandpaper; for texture and it sharpens your scissors at the same time. Write the following inside:

That happy time of year is here
With bells and mistletoe
With holly, lights and wreaths
With candle's softest glow,
So come and join our family,
And we will trim a tree
Fresh, green and tall and fragrant
It's what Christmas is to me
For long has been the custom
Throughout out mighty land
To tell of age-old Christmases
The mighty tree does stand.

State time, and place and if your guests should bring anything in particular.

PREPARATIONS

The tree of course, should be in a firm, water supplying stand. Choose the tree with a thought to how long it will last. A fresh, green, newly-cut tree is the best and then keep it outside in water until you trim it.

If little children are in the family, wire the tree to the drapery rods or any high place to keep it from being tipped over. Prior to your party, inspect the lights and also place them on the tree if you want to limit the actual trimming time, as this takes a while to do, however, boys like this job so leave it to the guests if you wish.

Have the ornaments, tinsel and any other trims ready. It is wise to choose folks of various ages for different jobs, the tiny ones to hang the plastic non-breakable ornaments on the lower branches, older children can string pop corn and cranberries or thread cookies. The older children can reach the higher places, supervise the younger ones and generally see that the tree looks good when it is done.

IF YOU are taking this tree to some institution, be sure you have their permission to do so and also a time for delivery as they operate on schedules and the committee should arrive at an agreed upon time. For the final grand gesture, have the group sing a few well known carols for the group, perhaps bringing a small treat but this too must be cleared with the officials of the home.

REFRESHMENTS

For the home party now is the time to sit back and relax and admire the tree in all its splendor. Have hot drinks ready, either punch, egg nog, hot cocoa, or heated fruit juices. Use a candy cane for a stirrer and Santa mugs if you have them. This year they are so inexpensive they are a wise investment for an added touch for the children. They are fun at Christmas breakfast and you can use them for cigarette holders or flowers all through the season.

So have a tree trimming party and it will be one of the things to remember about Christmas, 1960. (S

News from Mrs. Betty Craig

Mrs. Betty Craig, 1285 Aspen Lane, Elk Grove says: My dainty delicate garments were a bit grey and yellow. The first wash in MIRACLE WHITE 9 in 1 brought back the color and freshness of newness. After the washing my hands were so soft and smooth that it felt like I washed them in lotion. Since that time I use it for bathing. My skin feels so soft and gentle. MIRACLE WHITE 9 in 1 also eliminates bath tub ring.

Mrs. Craig is employed at National Food Store, Bensenville, and recommends MIRACLE WHITE to everyone that has any type of washing problem. Woolens washed in MIRACLE WHITE and cold water remain soft and do not knot.

For the most beautiful wash, with a savings on soaps and detergents try MIRACLE WHITE in your laundry today. MIRACLE WHITE 9-1 is sold with a MONEY BACK GUARANTEE. Great in both soft and hard water.

Get MIRACLE WHITE 9-1 at all food stores.

OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "Shelves were placed on either side of the room." Say, "on EACH side."

Distinguish between HEARTILY (zealously; spiritedly) and WHOLEHEARTEDLY (single-hearted; sincere). Thus "It was good to be so heartily welcomed," and, "The chief wholeheartedly supports our cause."

Do not say, "You will probably do much better than you suspect." It is better to say, "than you THINK (or, EXPECT)."

Do not say, "Any one of these boys are capable of doing their own work." "One" is the singular subject. Therefore, say, "Any one of these boys IS capable of doing HIS own work."

Status Seeking May Serve Art's Interest

By LUCILE ERNST

No doubt you have been reading about America's newest scape-goat, the status seeker. Evidently observers of the social scene have grown tired of worrying about what bad parents Americans are and are now wondering what else we do with our time, aside from warping our children's character. They decided we are seeking status in all sorts of ways.

This appears to be somewhat of a bombshell. Everyone is searching his conscience in a furtive manner, wondering if he could possibly be guilty of such a dreadful thing. Those who disapprove the most of the newest American hazard are the more artistic members of our society.

They would much rather be poor but honest, if it weren't so inconvenient, that is. They have no respect for anyone who would be crass enough to impress his neighbors. This attitude on the part of artists shows a lack of historical perception. They are the very people who should be encouraging status seekers. Indeed they should be using their talents to further status seeking.

THE TRUTH is status seeking has been going on for centuries and is probably responsible for 99 per cent of all the great art ever produced in the world.

Kings were always just people who happened to be the sons of kings and as a group were no more sensitive nor smarter than the corner butcher. Sometimes they were a good deal less so. It was rather embarrassing to be put in such a position. One of the best solutions to the obvious paradox of being rich, powerful, and ordinary is to show one's great understanding of the finer things of life by subsidizing persons of talent. All of the arts were encouraged in this manner and most good artists of history, far from starving, lived like kings. Nobles and the lesser nobility followed the fashion. It was no great love nor appreciation of art that resulted in countless portraits being done. It was a desire on the part of anyone above the masses to achieve a sense of importance.

THIS MAY not be the most noble element of the human race but it worked out very well. Artists, writers, musicians, and dramatists thrived and produced the great works of art the world now treasures. These could not have been produced for peasants as they could not have paid for them.

Some of the most famous benefactors of art were the Borgia and the Medici families. They were not, I am sorry to say, the nicest people on the block. Indeed, they seemed not to have been above sprinkling a little poison around where it would do the most good. Despite this failing, it was their money that helped cause the flowering of Renaissance art. I suppose they had to do something right.

AND NOW to return to our own strange times. The good old ordinary middle class have really achieved a great deal in the last fifty years. They live in greater comfort and on a higher scale than most kings ever knew. Why shouldn't they seek status? The only trouble with the American middle calss is they haven't got the hang of it yet.

After achieving every creature comfort that can be produced, eventually they are bound to turn to the age old and time tested methods of furthering the arts. When an oil painting on the wall is worth two television sets in the house, the golden age of art is upon us. I can't wait! Hooray for the status seekers. May they catch on soon.

Film Fare Hit by Committee

A committee of five Catholic bishops charges that Hollywood movies during the past year have boldly departed from previous moral standards.

The bishops have issued a statement urging all Catholics to support a "national protest" against objectionable films, which they say are rising in number. The appeal was made by the Catholic Episcopal Committee for Motion Pictures, Radio and Television.

Objectionable films, the bishops claim, jumped from fourteen per cent of the total Hollywood production in 1959 to twenty-four per cent in 1960. A cause of even "deeper concern," the bishops say, is the fact that the objectionable films this year are major quality productions. The Catholic prelates claim that these quality productions, while reputedly made for adult audiences, are in fact sold to impressionable youths.

The Catholic leaders say administration of the Hollywood Production Code is "ineffective" and does not stop film abuses. They ask that the leaders of the motion picture industry take steps to reform it. The bishops ask especially that Hollywood adopt some system to classify its films so that young persons can be protected from movies they are not mature enough to assimilate.

THE STATEMENT was made in anticipation of Sunday, Dec. 11, when Catholics in churches throughout the country were given an opportunity to take the Legion of Decency pledge. The pledge is a promise to promote only morally and artistically good movies. (A13

Alaskan Epic Replete With Blood and Guts

By JIM PHILLIPS

I take back all I said a few weeks ago about John Wayne's production of "The Alamo." I'm just satisfied that he didn't decide to make a spectacular out of "North to Alaska," which is currently frosting people at the Roosevelt theater. If he had made this decision, we would have had nearly four hours of fist fights.

"North to Alaska," despite its attention to knuckle-dusting, is a surprising movie in many ways. First of all, it's taken from a play called "Birthday Gift" (a title which doesn't seem to associate itself with icicles). Secondly, three people have claimed credit for the screenplay, and third, it bears striking resemblance to a great "brawing" film called "The Spoilers," which has been produced again and again, (the resemblance is evident whenever a fight is in session). Here are the fold facts:

JOHN WAYNE and Stewart Granger are partners. The movie opens with a fight. John Wayne and Stewart Granger strike it rich in Alaska. There is a fight. John Wayne and Stewart Granger decide that Wayne will bring back Stewart's fiance. John heads South to Seattle and brings back Capucine (our Parisian model-friend from the "Franz Lizst" movie); this is fine and dandy, but it just so happens that she ain't the right dame — Stewart's real girl friend died of a broken heart waiting three years for him.

Naturally, our female in question starts a coo in her igloo for John, but John (who wouldn't fit in an igloo anyway) is true to his friend—in fact, he is so true, there is another fight.

Well, you just can't produce a picture like this without a real, down-to-snow villain snorting his way through the dramatic drifts. So, what happens? You make frozen hash out of Capucine's love life by sending a crooked ex-boy friend to her. Now, if you were in the director's seat, what would you do at this point? Right! So there's another fight!

By this time, all you need is a bvy of band-aids and an instruction book which will explain why Fabian is in the movie, and Johnny Horton is singing the title tune!

"NORTH TO ALASKA" is going to be great fun for the kids, and it might even give the adults-who-like-to-fight-in-the-$1.80-seats a charge. But, strictly as a hint, you'll definitely be better off putting the money in your church offering.

Now, for the John Wayne fans, this movie will be quite high on the popularity list. Duke hasn't changed a bit, acting-wise. Stewart Granger seems to have aged a little, but is good in his portrayal of the "three-year heartbreaker." You'll also see Fabian as Stewart's little brother, Mickey Shaughnessy as Boggs, Joe Sawyer as (this is casting?) a commissioner, and Karl Swenson as Lars (wait until the boys in Sweden find out Hollywood finally cast a real Swede as a Swede!). Oh, and before I forget it, Ernie Kovacs appears as Frankie Canon—at times he did look a little loaded.

Technically, the film is a stunt man's dream. You can't tell a flying body without a scorecard. The staging of the free-for-alls wasn't bad, but how many different camera angles can you get on a smashed-in nose?

Henry Hathaway's direction was nothing to flip your ticket stub over, and despite the Chicago critics' hinting that the film was a tongue-in-cheek slapsticker, I'm forced to disagree. Having seen the Hathaway touch in action before under Twentieth Century Fox, I think that "North to Alaska" was meant to be a serious effort, both from the standpoint of writing talent chosen and box office appeal.

If Twentieth wanted to put on a "take-off" of the "gold mine era of Alaska," it could have had the services of a number of its good "comedy directors." (Remember the crew that turned out the "Mr. Belvidere" pictures?).

If and when you see "North to Alaska," there will be no doubt be a number of questions you'll want answers to—among them: (1) How could Fabian possibly be Stewart Granger's brother? (2) How could Capucine possibly fall in love with John Wayne and not give Stewart a second pant, and (3) why was the title of the film "North to Alaska" when everyone in the cast seemed to be going south most of the time?

Holiday Yule Kage, Cookies To Highlight Family's Fare

by LOIS SEILER

It is not necessary to have Scandinavian ancestors in order to bake or enjoy their traditional Christmas bread, Jule Kage. This flavorful, festive bread is welcome in any household, and it appeals to children as well as adults.

The recipe we are featuring today belongs to Mrs. Clarence M. Petersen of Arlington Heights, who, like her mother, always bakes this bread at Christmas time. Her recipe, which makes three loaves, needs only one kneading and one rising, and is moist and light-textured.

MORE LIKE a coffee cake than a bread, Jule Kage contains raisins and candied fruit and is flavored with cardamom. It is delicious served hot or cold, and has excellent keeping qualities. It can be prepared in advance and frozen, if desired.

Spread Jule Kage generously with butter and serve for breakfast, with afternoon coffee or include it on your cookie tray for yuletide callers.

And among the cookies on your tray you will want to include Mrs. Petersen's delightful Texas Ranger cookies. Because the recipe makes a large quantity, these crispy, crunchy cookies are especially nice for the holidays, but they are so appealing that you will want to make them the year 'round.

RICE Krispies, quick rolled oats and chopped nuts are included in the batter and raisins may be added if desired.

The Petersens' two children, Grant, 6, and Bonnie, 5, assure us that these nourishing, delicious cookies make an especially big hit with youngsters.

The Petersen family moved from Bensenville to their new home at 2 N. Prindle in Arlington Heights a year ago. Mrs. Petersen is a member of the Newcomers' club and the PTA.

Christmas Bread

2 cups scalded milk
½ cup margarine
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, beaten
About 6 cups flour
1 teaspoon cardamon
½ cup raisins
½ cup mixed candied fruit

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add margarine, sugar and salt to scalded milk. Cool.

Add 3 cups flour and beat well. Add beaten eggs and beat again. Then add remaining three cups flour with cardamom, raisins and fruit. Work until satiny and smooth.

SHAPE DOUGH in three loaves and put in greased bread tins. Let rise until double in bulk.

Bake in a 400 degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake about 45 minutes longer, placing a small pan of water in the oven to keep crust soft. Serve with butter.

Texas Ranger Cookies

1 cup margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs
2 cups flour (sifted 3 times)
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups rice krispies
2 cups quick rolled oats
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Beat in eggs; Sift the dry ingredients together and add to batter. Mix well.

Beat in Rice Krispies, rolled oats, chopped nuts and vanilla. Raisins may be added, if desired.

Drop by spoonful onto cookie sheet and bake in a 375 degree oven about 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned.

Makes about 6 dozen cookies. (SH ANXIOUSLY WAITING to sample mother's batch of Texas Ranger Cookies are Grant and Bonnie Petersen. This family favorite and a traditional Christmas bread, Yule Kage, both featured this week, will be welcome additions to the cookie tray when callers arrive during the holiday season. (SH

Week's Best food buys

Consumers will find better bargains this week in poultry, lower cost fryers being the clear-cut value. Eggs also decline.

Otherwise, this is strictly a heavy meats and staple vegetables week on the University of Illinois consumer service bargain yardstick.

Red meats stabilized at last week's higher levels. Added to the higher cost lines, that are certain to boost the consumer food price index to be reported in January, are tender vegetables.

Lettuce, for example, has been caught in a prolonged cold snap out west that severely restricts shipments. It is more than double shipping-point quotes of week-ago. Other zooming quotes affect cabbage, green onions, cucumbers, celery, tomatoes, sweet corn. Many of these were real bargains until just recently.

EXCEPTIONS to the consensus market viewpoint of values are possible, though. Some stores have the opportunity to promote beef steaks and so-called economy meats —ground beef, stew meats, and the like. But these will be featured on a selective basis.

In light of general marketing factors, the U of I value list for the week ending December 17 includes:

A check of retail pricing shows most lines holding steady, except for declining fryers and some lamb lines that give way under the competitive pressures of beef supplies. As examples:

BEEF -- ROUND steaks up to 89 cents, sirloins to $1.15 and porterhouse to $1.29. Allow for some "dealer choice" steak promotions. Blade cut chuck roasts are mostly 55 cents, round bone roasts 69 cents, and rump and sirloin tip roasts quoting a competitive low of 89 cents.

Pork -- generally steady, rib roasts 49 cents, loin end roasts 59 cents, center cut chops 89-98 cents, fresh Boston butts competitively 49 cents, spare ribs mostly 49 cents and offering promotional opportunities by store. Steady pricing bacon at 69 cents for top brands is indicative of an unchanged processed pork market.

Poultry -- fryers are the hot line here, ranging more widely on increasing supplies, but showing competitive quotes of 29-35 cents (off 4 cents from the top side of the range last week). The turkey market is quiet in the face of an approaching holiday, hens taking 49 cents and toms as much as 10 cents below this quote. Eggs, still under the gun of consumer resistance, and increasing supplies, show a lower 59-65 cent range, down from last week's 65-69 cents, for grade A large which are in heavy receipt. Mediums also are more than adequately supplied.

Dairy -- butter markets show increasing quotes, new ranges posted at 69-75 cents to bracket both 90- and 93-score.

Groceries -- no basic changes in canned, processed or frozen lines, with citrus products having the value edge. (SH

Christmas Breakfast Cake Has Orange, Nutty Flavor

For Christmas morning or for a holiday breakfast when family members or guests arise at different hours, set the breakfast table buffet style and let each member help himself or herself to a serving of fruit, Brazil nut coffee cake and beverage.

Richness and sweetness of Brazil nuts combine with candied fruits, cinnamon and sugar, for the center and top layering of a circular hot bread. The bread part itself also has the delightful flavor of orange juice.

The loaf bread unites the popular Brazil nut with orange marmalade for a fruit and nut marbling.

Make the hot breads a day ahead of use if desired, and reheat at breakfast time. The loaf bread takes well to toasting.

QUICK BRAZIL NUT COFFEE CAKE

1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup shortening
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 egg
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup evaporated milk
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1½ tablespoons flour
1½ tablespoons cinnamon
6 tablespoons melted butter
3/4 cup mixed candied fruits
3/4 cup chpped Brazil nuts

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, orange rind and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in egg. Combine orange juice and evaporated milk; add alternately to creamed mixture with dry ingredients.

Turn half the mixture into a greased 8-inch square pan or 9-inch round pan. Combine remaining ingredients; sprinkle half over top. Reapeat. Bake in a moderate oven , (350°F.) 50 minutes. YIELD: 12 servings.

ORANGE BRAZIL NUT BREAD

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teapsoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup coarsely chopped Brazil nuts
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup orange marmalade
½ cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon melted butter

Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt into mixing bowl; stir in Brazil nuts. Combine remaining ingredients. Add a flour-nut mixture and stir only until blended. Turn into a greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan.

Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes. Remove from pan and cool several hours before serving. YIELD: 1 loaf.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

It was over thirty years ago that Clarence Birdseye first reported the discovery of the commercial possibilities of frozen food, but it has only been in the last ten years or so that frozen food has been accepted as part of our daily living.

Frozen foods have made a whole new world of convenience in shopping, variety in eating and economy of time and effort in preparation.

Freezer convenience means meals at a moment's notice — snacks, dessert on hand for the pop-in guests, leftovers kept so that they can be brought forth weeks later as fresh new meals.

Lucky is the modern homemaker, for at the drop of the hand, she can bring July into her kitchen and onto her table in January.

Simple To Prepare Rice Cups Rich In Vitamin B

Sometimes the Christmas season with its elaborate meals leaves busy homemakers completely without a holiday. No need, however, to despair during this joyous season. Rice Lemon Cups are the answer to any cook's dilemma.

Eggs, milk, and fluffy rice form the basis of this cup dessert. You know that these are nutrious ingredients, an important benefit with the over-abundance of sweets served during the holiday season. And rice contributes the vital family of B vitamins.

PREPARATION of Rice Lemon Cups is so simple. Then, being a baked dessert it cooks gently by itself, leaving you free to tackle those last details of holiday decoration.

The first spoonful unveils a two layer treat: tender sponge on top and creamy rice custard on the bottom. Serve plain or for that magical touch, right before servinb, top the Rice Lemon Cups with rum flavored whipped cream or a fruit sauce.

RICE LEMON CUPS

1 cup sugar
¼ cup flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespons melted butter or margarine
1/3 cup lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon
4 eggs separated

Colorful Cranberry Molds Add Design to Salad Tray

Ruby cranberries gain a new appearance and flavor blending when combined with crushed pineapple, diced celery and real mayonnaise. The relish-crisp combination is then given design with unflavored gelatine.

The fruit mixture can be chilled until firm in individual molds which will be served on salad greens, or each mold can be placed on a chilled pineapple or orange slice for a relish tray assortment along with watermelon pickles, stuffed celery, spiced kumquats or peaches.

IF DESIRED the cranberry-fruit-mayonnaise molds can be placed on a platter around the meat course, as cranberries are particularly congenial with any meat choice.

Serve the relish salads on a lazy susan dish or on a large tray with divider dishes holding the other relish choices. Following are recipes for cranberry molds and Brazil nut stuffed celery.

CRANBERRY RELISH MOLDS

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water or pineapple syrup
½ cup real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 can (1 pound) whole cranberry sauce*
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
¼ cup finely diced celery

Sprinkle gelatine on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat.

Gradually stir into mayonnaise; add sugar, salt, allspice and lemon juice. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in cranberry sauce, pineapple and celery.

TURN INTO 4-CUP mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Individual molds may be served on chilled pineapple slices.

YIELD: 6 servings.

*2 cups fresh canberries may be used instead of canned sauce; put through food chopper. Increase sugar to ½ cup; sprinkle over chopped cranberries. Let stand 10 minutes. Proceed as with canned sauce.

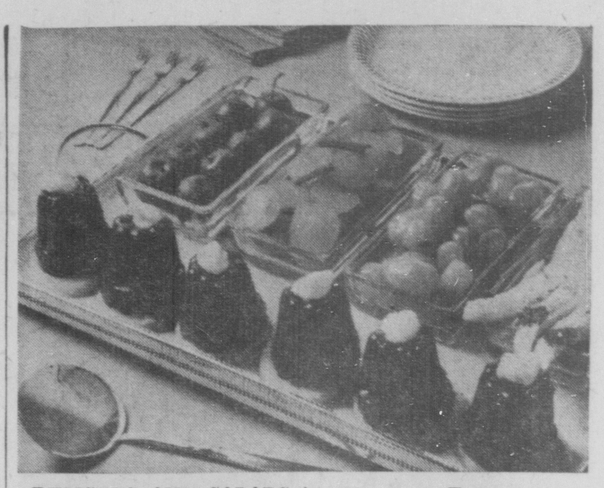
BRAZIL NUT STUFFED CELERY

2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
¼ cup commercial sour cream
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts
3-inch pieces celery stalks

Soften cream cheese; blend together with sour cream and curry. Stir in Brazil nuts. Spoon into celery stalks or force through pastry tube with wide fluted opening.

Sprinkle with additional curry powder, paprika or finely chopped parsley.

YIELD: Approximately 2 cups.



RELISHES AND SALADS in one array. For company buffet meals, where the salad will be served on the same plate as the entree, and even at table service on separate plates, a salad—relish selection is sure to please guests. (SH

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

MT. PROSPECT

November 15, the weekly meeting of the Super-Duper Blue Bird group enjoyed a tour of the Haberkamp Floral shop, where a tour of the shop and greenhouse was conducted by Mrs. Haberkamp. Members of group are Judy Braun, Catherine Hallberg, Kathleen Hoffman, Nancy Johansen, Patricia Krampert, Elizabeth Maiheck, Jean Ostrom, Linda Schoch, Barbara Tomanek, Debby Hippel, Penny Holshouser, Lynn Waishwell and Patricia Lembisca. Accompanying the Busse school second graders were Mrs. Albert Waishwell and Mrs. Roy Hallberg, coleaders, and Mrs. Betty Ostrom, sponsor.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Tacinca Camp Fire Girls enjoyed a Halloween party at their last meeting in October. The group's sponsors were invited to attend and the girls completed one of their trail seeker requirements by planning the event. The fifth grade group from Ridge school collected over $9 trick or treating for the Clearbrook school for retarded children. The following week Karen Platt and Linda Wiegel presented the money to the school.

Christmas gifts for parents was the main objective at the Winakia Camp Fire Girls' November 21 meeting. The girls also made plans for a Christmas party to be held Monday evening, Dec. 19. A special program has been arranged for the parents and the girls' Christmas gifts will be presented to the moms and dads at that time.

OKICIYAPI campfire Girls are also in the midst of Christmas activity. Gifts for the folks are nearing completion as the second week of handicraft sessions are being held. A special Christmas service project begins this week as the sixth and eighth graders from Higgins and South Junior high schools and Our Lady of the Wayside start work on a Christmas tree decorated with 150 handmade ornaments which will be distributed as tray favors for one of the local homes.

The girls will carol for neighborhood shut-ins Tuesday, Dec. 20, and then gather at the home of Linda Lorenz for a group Christmas party complete with grab bag and holiday refreshments. Recent group activities have included a bowling party at the Rolling Meadows Bowl November 30. The Fire Maker aspirants also completed required service hours by compiling the district directories at their November 18 meeting. (B9

Q. Is it proper to say "Yes?" instead of "Hello," when answering the telephone?

A. Although "Hello" is the more widely accepted manner of answering the telephone, there's nothing wrong with saying "Yes?" The most important thing is a pleasant, friendly voice.

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

You are lonely. You and everyone else.

We exist alone. So very much alone. Who knows our innermost yearnings? Our worst fears? Our pressing temptations?

We are alone . . .

Wife does not know husband as he really is. Husband does not know wife as she really is. Parents do not really know their children as they exist individually. Children do not know their parents as they are—deep down.

There is one who knows . . . who cares . . . who urges you, "Come unto me all ye who are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

This one is willing to accept you as you are . . . where you are . . . regardless of your past or your present . . . regardless of what you might think of yourself.

This one knows what it means to have heartaches, disappointments, temptations, pain, loneliness.

This one is Jesus Christ.

Walk with Him and you'll never walk alone. Walk into a Lutheran Church this Sunday and meet Him. Better still, seek out a Lutheran pastor now . . . and meet this Christ through that pastor.

The twenty-six Northwest Suburban Lutheran congregations invite you to worship with them next Sunday

Plays a Waiting Game

Suburban Farmer Awaits Arrival of 'Progress'

CORNFIELD EMPTY in winter's chill seem to be the key to future development of Palatine on its eastern border. The site is the Salt Creek (Rizzo) farm, slated to be cut in half when the new hwy. 53 is built. Land to the north of the farm is zoned for industry. A subdivision to the south was annexed to Palatine this year. Farmer Charles Rizzo is in no hurry, however, to stop farming. He's willing to let people come to him with offers, but he is not seeking anything from anyone.

The farm is surrounded; in the middle of "progress."

The farm is in a position that some who love to work with land would mourn. For the day is coming when corn and tomatoes and beans will no longer be grown on this site in the heart of the Northwest suburbs. The day is coming when "progress" in connection with this farm will be accomplished.

The owner of the farm is not mourning, however. He feels that his position is rather fortuitous. He is currently playing "the waiting game;" waiting for his land to be gobled up in the wave that every day sees another plot of ground chopped up by the subdivider's bulldozer.

The farm is the Salt Creek farm on Wilke rd., Palatine township. To the north and south of it is the village of Palatine. Arlington Heights is across the street. Land, still unincorporated, lies between the western edge of this farm and Northwest highway. These are the surrounding elements.

THEN, AS though to intensify the indignity of belonging nowhere, engineers have spotted the Salk Creek farm on their drawing boards, and drawn a junior expressway from its southwest to northeast corner.

Charles Rizzo who farms this land in summer and makes ice for a curling club in winter, surveys his many acres of rich fertile earth with pride. He realizes the fate of Salt Creek farm, but is in no hurry to get rid of the land that has figured conspicuously in three developments of Palatine this year.

"I'm not seeking anything from anyone," Rizzo said. "If someone wants to come to me and make an offer for a part or all of the farm, I'm willing to talk to him. But I'm in no hurry to get rid of it."

The developments that put Rizzo in a very good "talking" position are:

1. The proposed route for hwy. 53 which on paper bisects the farm.

2. Palatine's annexation of Arlington Crest which was accomplished by cutting a 200 foot wide swatch through the farm.

3. The position of industrially zoned land owned by the Winston-Muss corporation, developers of Winston Park, Palatine.

"The word is that hwy. 53 is coming right through here," Rizzo said one snowy afternoon, as he looked over his now cleared corn fields. "This may be, but according to state senators in Springfield, no money has yet been appropriated for that road, and I think we can sit back for a while until the state starts buying the right-of-way."

THE FACT that the drawing boards show the road through Rizzo's farm, however, still make him a very important talker when it comes to the disposition of the two halves.

Rizzo and his mother, Mrs. Mary Salvatore Rizzo, who fought a court battle against Arlington Crest's petition to annex to Palatine early this year, now hold land to the north of Arlington Crest that would logically fit with residential zoning.

"But, before I'm ready to talk to any subdivider, I want to be sure he's financially sound and willing to put up decent homes," the young vibrant man said. Rizzo has a strong aversion to subdividers who fail to deliver their promises to an area, and often are forced to pull out before a subdivision is completed.

Reason for the court fight against the annexation of a strip of the farm to make the subdivision to the south contiguous to Palatine, is that Rizzo favors Arlington Heights, his neighbor across Wilke rd.

"I felt that Arlington Crest and eventually this farm more logically belonged with that village. But when the home owners seemed to want to be in Palatine, and Palatine wanted them, I wasn't going to fight both elements," he said.

RIZZO IS very aware of the importance of his farm to his northern neighbor, Winston Park. The corporation has recently sought relief from Palatine for 50-acres now zoned for industry. The claim is that the land is too small to be developed with industry.

Some village officials and the Palatine Plan commission are very anxious that the land remain zoned for industry, because Palatine is short of land zoned for that use within the village.

We think that the highway will make industry a natural there, Charles Klopp, chairman of the plan commission says. With Rizzo's northern piece filling out Winston's land, it becomes highly desirable for manufacturing.

RIZZO THINKS this is a natural, too, but he isn't going to make any overtures to anyone. "When Winston Park wants to come and talk to me about my land, I'm willing to negotiate," he said.

While waiting for fate to take its course, Rizzo is perfectly happy working the fields in summer, though, "everyone knows you can't make a living from farming any more. You have to have money coming in from somewhere else, when a bumper crop of corn like we had this year costs 15 cents a bushel more to grow than I can sell it for," he said.

He sells his corn (a bumper crop being 20 bushels to an acre) on the grain exchange, where the going price this year was 60 cents a bushel. "It cost me 75 cents to raise each bushel," Rizzo explained.

Though the Rizzo family no longer lives on the farm, Chuck Rizzo still does the summer work with the help of Mexican Americans who move into the area for the growing season. In addition to corn, the Salt Creek farm produces vegetables that are sold in Chicago for distribution to chain stores.

Barns that are in beautiful condition are used to house machinery. Sheds formerly used for hog raising are now empty.

THE RIZZOS, second owners of the 80-acre piece, are still farming the site due to another quirk of fate. As Chuck Rizzo tells it, the land was originally bought by a Gonzales family that made their money in the cigar industry.

When the Arlington Park race track was being built, it was thought that the area between Wilke rd. and the Northwest hwy. would be the center of Arlington Heights. The Gonzales family saw a chance to make a fortune in real estate there and bought the land in the early part of the century.

The center of Arlington Heights didn't move where the track was, however, and the land, with the exception of Arlington Crest and a commercial strip along the highway, is still largely vacant. The Rizzo's entered the scene in 1941.

If things go the way Chuck Rizzo thinks they will, his land will still be growing corn for several years to come. But when the right buyer with the right offer comes along, the Salt Creek farm will go; be it to highway, homes, industry, or all three. (B8

Recognize Troopers For Safety

Nine state police troopers from the Northwest suburban area have been awarded the National Safety Council's Safe Driver Award, the nations highest award for professional safe driving performance.

J. A. Wojcik of Arlington Heights received the award for one year. Those receiving the award for two years were R. J. Gorecki, R. L. Keller and J. Smrz of Arlington Heights, and C. B. Klusas of Palatine. E. M. Altman of Palatine was given the award for three years.

A SIX-YEAR award was presented to E. A. Marcoline of Arlington Heights, and an eight-year award to J. A. Peters of Palatine. J. J. Jaskula of Arlington Heights received the award for nine years of safe driving.

Over 1000 state police received the award, 128 of whom have driven state owned motor vehicles for 10 years without a single chargeable traffic accident.

William H. Morris, superintendent of the Illinois state police, in announcing the award, indicated that this example of expert driving is a challenge to all motorists in the state in avoiding accidents "This is proof that accidents can be avoided by applying defensive driving techniques such as our troopers are required to do." Letters to the Fence Post

Palatine Park Board Head Tells Long-Range Program

As president of the Palatine park board, I would feel that I was remiss in performing my public duties as a servant of the people of Palatine in not challenging the article which appears in the December 1 issue of the Fence Post over the signature of Noma Bruns, 135 S. Benton st., Palatine.

The park board has worked long and intelligently planning a park system which would utilize all of the facilities at hand and provide recreation and athletic facilities to every age, from the tot, pre-school children, grammar school children, our teenagers, adults and last but not least by any means, our senior citizens.

IN PRESENTING the plan to the combined Parent Teachers association a short time ago, I specifically talked about the park theatre-shelter.

In our opinion, this is one of the most unique and useful ideas which will be brought into reality. This building will provide a stage and theatre setting for all cultural groups, such as the Palatine Players, to put on theatre presentations, village band concerts, any who want to give public addresses, and even thoughts are formulating on utilizing local talent at times.

The building will also be used all day long for our senior citizens to gather in the open shelter to have their games, such as shuffle-board, card games, checkers, or to just sit and enjoy each other's company—a meeting place away from home for old to meet.

It is also planned to use the building as a warming shelter in the winter so that the ice-skaters will change their shoes to skates, and use these facilities instead of the present Park building. This will release our present Park building to be used twelve months out of the year as a meeting place for parties, dances, and even for suppers and snacks.

WITH THE park building thus freed for parties and dances and suppers, any interested groups who are concerned about providing activities for the teen-agers of our town will find that the park board will cooperate 100 per cent to give these teen-agers a well balanced program—swimming parties in the summer, ice-skating parties in the winter, dances in the field house, which has a very fine floor and record player and PA system, and also our athletic directors can be called upon for athletic games as well.

Mrs. Bruns, in her article, talks about "bums", yet she has completely misquoted me direct as I answered her at the park board meeting wherein she asked about a program for the teen-agers. I answered her directly to the effect that all of the facilities, as stated above, were available. However, it would be necessary for interested adults to volunteer to direct programs for the teen-agers in the use of the park facilities so that our present park field house would never become a "bum's" hangout.

I SINCERELY hope that each and every one of the readers of this letter in the Fence Post will very seriously consider the fact that the park board members are duly elected public servants, working for the betterment of Palatine at all times without any compensation whatsoever. We are dedicated to the fulfillment of recreational programs which will make Palatine a far better place in which to live—one where we can send our children out to play with the greatest confidence that they are well taken care of.

I suggest that Mrs. Bruns, if (as she says she is) she is interested in the welfare of the youth of Palatine as well as our senior citizens, will come forth with constructive suggestions instead of a distorted statement which would stymie the park program, she can be of real service. In our opinion, we have the finest project that could possibly come forth in the next few years and the time to do it is now!

Park Issue Facts Should Be Aired

I cannot understand why a small group of citizens (calling themselves the Taxpayers Protective Committee) are getting front page coverage in their appeal for a "NO" vote on the coming Palatine park referendum, and the park board is allowed page 16 for their retaliation.

I would also like to point out that the stated increase from 16 cents to 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation is misleading. What the park referendum asks is 8.6 cents per $100.00 assessed valuation (for the $500,000 bond issue) and 4 cents per $100.00 assessed valuation (an increase in the corporate tax rate).

These amount to 12.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation. In other words, if a home is assessed at $7000.00 for tax purposes, the tax increase would be approximately $8.82 a year, and on a home assessed at $10,000, the increase would amount to approximately $12.60 a year. The reason for the figures being an approximation is that of the 8.6 cents, 3 cents is interest and as this decreases so will the tax amount. The corporate tax rate (the 4 cents per $100 increase, the state maximum is 5 cents) is automatically allowed to a new park district and out of this fund would come a $10,000 increase for park maintenance. It is only logical that the park board cannot maintain three new parks out of an existing fund allowed for one park. These monies cannot be drawn from any fund and cannot be included in the bond issue.

THESE NEW parks would allow facilities for 20,000 people. We are now a village of 12,000, which represents more than double our population five years ago. I have heard it said that two new pools is a ridiculous expense, but if only one is built now, another will be needed in five years. Is it not logical that building costs are not going to decrease? This, to me, represents planning ahead. Also, as for one large park, are not neighborhood parks safer and more accessible for our children?

Another charge has been made that the school parks would be unavailable during school hours. The existing park is free at all times; and according to my information from a school official, the schools would not object to chaperoned pre-schoolers being on the premises at any time, and in my opinion a child under school age should not be alone in a park at any hour. He also stated that the playground has been used at another school all along under these conditions and has worked very well. Also, in the new parks, a separate area is planned for toddlers to allow for many age groups to play at the same time without danger.

IT HAS ALSO been rumored that the "walk-to" pools would be unsanitary, such as lack of toilet facilities and showers in the bathhouses. This too, is not true. Our park board, whose standards at the present pool are so rigid as to cause criticism, would never plan such a pool, nor would the State Health Board allow it to exist.

I feel it is time some of the FACTS are presented to the public for study and appraisal, and then their own opinions can be voiced at the polls. Most of us moved to the suburbs for just such facilities as these -- did we expect them to cost nothing in a growing town such as Palatine?

Park Opponents Over-Publicized?

When the December 1 edition of the Palatine Enterprise appeared on the newsstands, this writer was tempted at the time to question the amount of publicity given to the so-called "Taxpayers' Protective committee." Upon the publication of the December 8 edition it appeared imperative that the newspaper be called to task for what seems to be a certain degree of irresponsibility in reporting.

First it must be made clear that this so-called "Taxpayers' Protective committee" represents only some eight or 10 individuals who have a very limited and personal interest in the matter of the park board referendum and their alleged concern is mainly for that group of individuals. Inasmuch as the committee neither speaks for nor represents any appreciable segment of the population in Palatine, it would appear that the amount of front-page publicity given this committee is completely out of proportion. In talking with your reporter it was determined that no effort had been made to verify or substantiate any of the statements submitted by this group for publication.

UNFORTUNATELY, the many people, some within the school organizations and some not, who for many months have been interested in seeing this park plan develop and become a reality, have had no loquacious and vocal spokesman to insure getting the real facts concerning this park plan and referendum upon the front page of the paper. In the December 8 edition we find the park board's official reply to the previous week's story buried in the sixth page of the second section, although once again the opposition is given the lead story on page 1.

However, the most unfortunate aspect of this whole picture is that many individuals have assumed that these front-page stories are factual—little realizing some of the statements bear little relation to the facts—facts which your newspaper bears some responsibility for ascertaining!

WE GRANT each individual the privilege, right and obligation to make up his own mind on this matter so long as his decision is made on the basis of facts. Many of us question the reliability of a small group, whose real concern is for a few individuals, attempting to make it appear to the public that this concern is for the community welfare.

In talking with the committee's most vocal member, it was ascertained that this group has no plan whatsoever to offer the community in lieu of the one being presented by the Palatine park district.

It was suggested to the writer, however, that a plan such as Arlington Heights' park system would be far more acceptable. Inasmuch as such a plan would necessitate a tremendously higher increase in taxes and inasmuch as the group objects to any increase in taxes as shown in their story appearing on page one in your December 1 edition, one questions even further the sincerity of this group's opposition to the Park Board plan.

INSOFAR as "putting a family out of business" (which situation need not develop under these circumstances) may we all be reminded of this: We have long seen in this country families and businesses discommoded by the building of highways, parks, public buildings, etc. It is always regrettable that these situations must occur but let us not forget that with the type of government under which we live there are times when the comfort and convenience of an individual must give way to the welfare and benefit of the whole community, whether that community be local, state or national.

All we ask is that the residents of Palatine determine this issue on the basis of the true facts and that they be guided in their voting accordingly.

Mrs. H. A. Stone
Palatine

This Is One Tax Hike She Wants

I am amazed and distressed at the short-sighted opposition of a few people to the Palatine park district's plan for expansion. The fact that Morton Grove, with a population of 19,000 has no swimming pool surely is not a valid reason for this town to continue having an inadequate park system.

This comprehensive park plan has something to offer all of us at a reasonable cost. Don't let that $500,000 figure throw a scare into you. The cost to each homeowner is virtually the same as the cost of the present Wood street park and pool. This miracle of arithmetic is possible because the assessed valuation of Palatine property has tripled in the last five years due to the addition of Winston Park, Pleasant Hills, etc. Now think of how much you are really getting for your money.

As is every homeowner, I am tired of seeing my real estate tax creep up year after year without anything substantial to show for it. This is one increase that I welcome because it will put Palatine well on the way to having one of the finest park systems in the entire northwest area--something to be proud of and to enjoy.

Palatine Park District Plans 'Terrific' Bargain

There will always be those that are against and those that are for parks, but I only hope everyone will change their minds and vote yes this Saturday, as I feel this is our last chance.

I myself was against the referendum put to the voters to purchase Glade farm (two years ago) as a park, because to me it was too expensive (the land) and was not centrally located, but I still can't believe for $500,000 we can have all that is promised us; so, let's grab it. I think the plans are terrific.

I AGREE with Mrs. Bittner (Fence Post last week) that one large park would be nice, but I would like it centrally located and that is impossible.

I am one of the young "old-fashioned" mothers who disbelieves in chauffering children to these parks; children can walk.

Ann Moffett (last week Fence Post) raps the location at Paddock because of the creek. That smelly creek runs through town and those looking for it will find it, even outside the park. My son (we live near a section) has been "in" the creek five times in between spankings and lectures. Maybe if we had a park nearby it wouldn't be such a fascination. It's part of a boy's life.

AS TO MRS. Bruns thinking three pools is too many, how wonderful it would be for Palatine "who has nothing" to be somewhat different with three pools, maybe four or five in the future.

I came from a town (Cicero) that had three pools, six community houses and a huge stadium and that was 30 years ago. I learned how to swim, weave, play tennis, shuffleboard, paint, etc. Every parent wants to give their children a little better life than they had, but I'm afraid living here my children will not have the fun their mother had when she was a child.

As to taxes, when I moved here five years ago my taxes were $285. Last year they were almost $500. Next year, if they are $560 to $600, at least I'd like to say, "Well now, my children will be going to school all day (we've passed that referendum) and we have three pools and parks in this town."

Mr. Kinsch's problem I'm afraid to solve for him. I only hope he can reach an agreement with the park board and himself, but I fear for my son with his allowance not stopping to buy a flower for his mother on her birthday or Mothers' Day, with the florist so close.

One closing word and that is to Mr. Shelton and his board (that plan is a dream). If the referendum does not go through, I suggest you divide the park bond issue money per family. That way, they can buy a swing or a wading pool or a set of chess and all will have their "neighborhood parks"; sounds silly, but so do most of the pro issues I read.

She Discusses Holiday Spirit

I would like to register a very serious complaint about the Christmas "spirit." While the beautiful holiday thoughts are filling our heads, the thought of giving is uppermost in our hearts and minds. No one, but no one, is to be among the "forgotten" this year. We feel a little more kindly towards people who normally mean "nothing to us". We can, at this time, forgive little mistakes.

These are my feelings about Christmas and the spirit of the season. If you would care to publish it, feel free to do so.

Park Referendum Questions Asked

Last night we received the park board's vague brochure setting forth what purports to be the reasons why the citizens of Palatine should give them a blank check amounting to $500,000 to spend as they see fit.

We consider this an insult to the intellignece of the people of Palatine. Do they think that the people of Palatine are so well off that money means absolutely nothing? Or is it that the park board does not have the courage of its convictions or enough faith in their proposal to give a full disclosure of all the facts to the people of Palatine. We ask these questions:

1. How much money is allocated to each of the three projects?
2. How much money does it take for improvements to the land such as grading, paving, pool and buildings?
3. How much money is required to purchase the land?
4. Why must we acquire from the school board land for which we are already paying taxes?
5. How much park board money will be used to improve the property which remains the responsibility of the school board?
6. Why didn't the park board disclose that they are requesting a 25 per cent increase in the tax rate in addition to the $500,000 bond issue?
7. Why didn't the park board disclose their plans for this proposition earlier than they did?
8. Why didn't the park board tell the taxpayer what the tax increase would be on the average tax bill?
9. Why didn't the park board tell us the estimated cost for upkeep, maintenance and supervision of these parks?

IF THESE questions are not enough to create serious doubt as to the soundness of the park board proposals, then let's examine their reasons as stated:

1. Palatine is growing—According to the park board's own figures, the 1950 census listed 4,079 people and the 1959 census, 11,000 people, or a rate of growth of approximately 700 to 770 people per year. Projecting this figure to 1965 Palatine will have approximately 15,600 people. It is evident from these figures, at this time there is absolutely no justification for adding three complete park facilities to Palatine.

2. Recreation — The park board states that our recreation facilities must grow proportionately with Palatine's growth and, in the same breath, they say we must anticipate the needs of new citizens not yet in our town. Why must we pay for something now that we may not need for five or even ten years? There is no question but that at least one additional park facility could be used at this time, not three.

3. Economy—The park board speaks of economy. What kind of economy is realized when you build parks that can only be used part-time? They state very clearly in their recommendation that the parks can only be used when schools are not in session. It sounds very lofty to say that we can save money by combining our schools and parks. However, as a practical matter, there is not much satisfaction in having a park that can't be used until after school is out. Insofar as the school being able to make good use of the park facilities, we believe it is the responsibility of the School Board to provide these facilities for the children attending school. They certainly have enough land to do so.

4. Safety—This seems to be a poor excuse for spending $500,000 when the children located in the northwest corner of the town would be required to cross both Colfax and Chicago avenues to get to a park. The children in Palanois Park must still cross heavily traveled thoroughfares to get to a park under this proposal, namely; Rohlwing road, Northwest highway or Chicago avenue. And, what about those children that live in the area bounded by Northwest highway, Chicago avenue and Plum Grove? They, too, must cross heavily traveled thoroughfares to get to a park.

We think one more important question must be asked of the park board—Why have you refused to accept and why have you disposed of land donated by various developers? It seems to us that to have accepted and improved such land the park board would have achieved a tremendous saving for the people of Palatine—giving them what, in our opinion, the village needs first—smaller parks located throughout our village.

We want to make it perfectly clear that we are not against having additional park facilities. Our combined families represent eleven children, and we fully appreciate the need for recreational areas, however, we do not believe that luxury park facilities are necessary. We believe that smaller recreational facilities throughout the village, which will permit baseball, football, etc. and perhaps an additional swimming pool, regardless of where it might be located, would be sufficient.

As a consequence of the foregoing, we are going to vote "No" on this issue, and we recommend that the people of Palatine do likewise on December 17.

Arthur Bogaerts, Jr.

Referendum Called A 'Fiscal Fiasco'

Our civic suggestion box simply is not so empty that we must take our chances on a grab bag, launching on a multi-six figured program which, at this time, would be a fiscal fiasco.

For us to heavily indebt ourselves so as to supplement our children's book larnin' while so many voids or near voids exist in our collective areas of needs could readily be likened to what Nero did while Rome burned to the ground around him. We might just as well build a music hall, at least then the acoustics would be appropriate to our fiddlin' around.

THE PROPOSED library bond issue, if passed, would be a monumental tribute to the jack and the bean stalk type of thinking the results of which are necessarily fuzzy for our heads are in the clouds, and feet, certainly not on the ground.

Because the proposal is basically good, it smacks of the kiss of confusion, and to further cloud the issues its proponents, in their circuitous rebuttal, inferentially suggest that the opponents must also be against mother love and the American Flag. In the final analysis however, they are on the wrong side of a bona fide beef after all, for just as a fine piece of steak can be overdone, and just as the breath of life can leap dangerously too soon from the human breast, so too can this proposal be overdone or, presented prematurely.

For the proponents of this bond issue to justify their whopping expenditure on the basis of its relatively nominal per person per year cost reminds one of the blushing bride's first brush with the marvels of a checking account, who fails to consider the significance each individual expense has on the total expended, and who thus inevitably ends up eating beans for breakfast while garbed in Bramsom's very best.

AS TO our important needs, the most notable (by way of its noticeability, among other things) is in the area of teenage recreational facilities. We have already solved this problem at the adult level, the booming baby sitting business and the constant jingle of the register at the east wall of the local apothecary will attest to that.

Indicative of our needs in this area is the fact that the local facilities now available are but two in number: we have one corner drug store to stand on the sidewalk in front of, and, a pre-existing forest preserve (for the kiddies to roast marshmallows in, of course).

Going out of the village, we have some few theatres in our neighboring communities, one of which recently scheduled with its Saturday afternoon kid show a real scorcher, the likes of which would bring more blood to the ears of its embarrassed adult viewer than that same viewer experienced a decade or two ago when, in his tender teens, he managed to sneak in the side door of an "Adults Only" presentation.

It might well be that the local demand for marshmallows will be directly proportionate to our willingness or ability to appreciate the significance of this disturbing trend.

THE LOCAL Lions have already showed us the direction to develop in, but their venture has its limitations, both seasonal and otherwise. Another noteworthy local project, now on the drawing boards, is that of the hard working Jay Cees.

I suggest that each of us urge our village fathers to take the steps necessary to augment the Jay Cee funds with public funds so as to permit a substantial expansion of the facilities proposed in their civic center project.

In feeling about I find that the proposed library bond issue tickles the not so fickle fancy of all too few of us, and I believe this represents the majority sentiments of our villagers. However, an organized minority can make their point just as the turtle of fabled fame outran the rabbit, the point being that now is not the time for the rest of us to take a nap, remembering that the only sentiments counted are those cast at the ballot box.

Once this proposal is defeated, we will be in a position to embark upon a more appropriate and timely developmental program.

Letters to the Fence Post

Welcome Teenagers Home: Reader Plea

I felt a strong compulsion to answer the letter from Nona Bruns in the Fence Post in the December 1 Enterprise. However, someone has said it much better than I could. Various sources have been credited for this but it is believed to have been written by Judge Phillip B. Gillam, Denver's Juvenile Judge:

"Always, we hear the plaintive cry of the teenager: What can we do? Where can we go? The answer is: Go home!

"Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job.

"Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons, and then, when you are through and too tired, read a book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreation facilities. The world does not owe you a living--you owe the world something! You owe it your time, your energy and your talents, so that no one will be at war or in poverty, or sick or lonely again."

IN PLAIN, simple words: Grow up! Quit being a cry baby; get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or lady.

You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years. They nursed, p r o t e c t e d, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. They have done this gladly, for you are their dearest treasure. But, now, you have no right to expect them to bow to every whim and fancy just because selfish ego, instead of common sense, dominates your personality, thinking and requests.

"In heaven's name--grow up and go home!"

So I say to you parents everywhere, welcome your teenagers home!

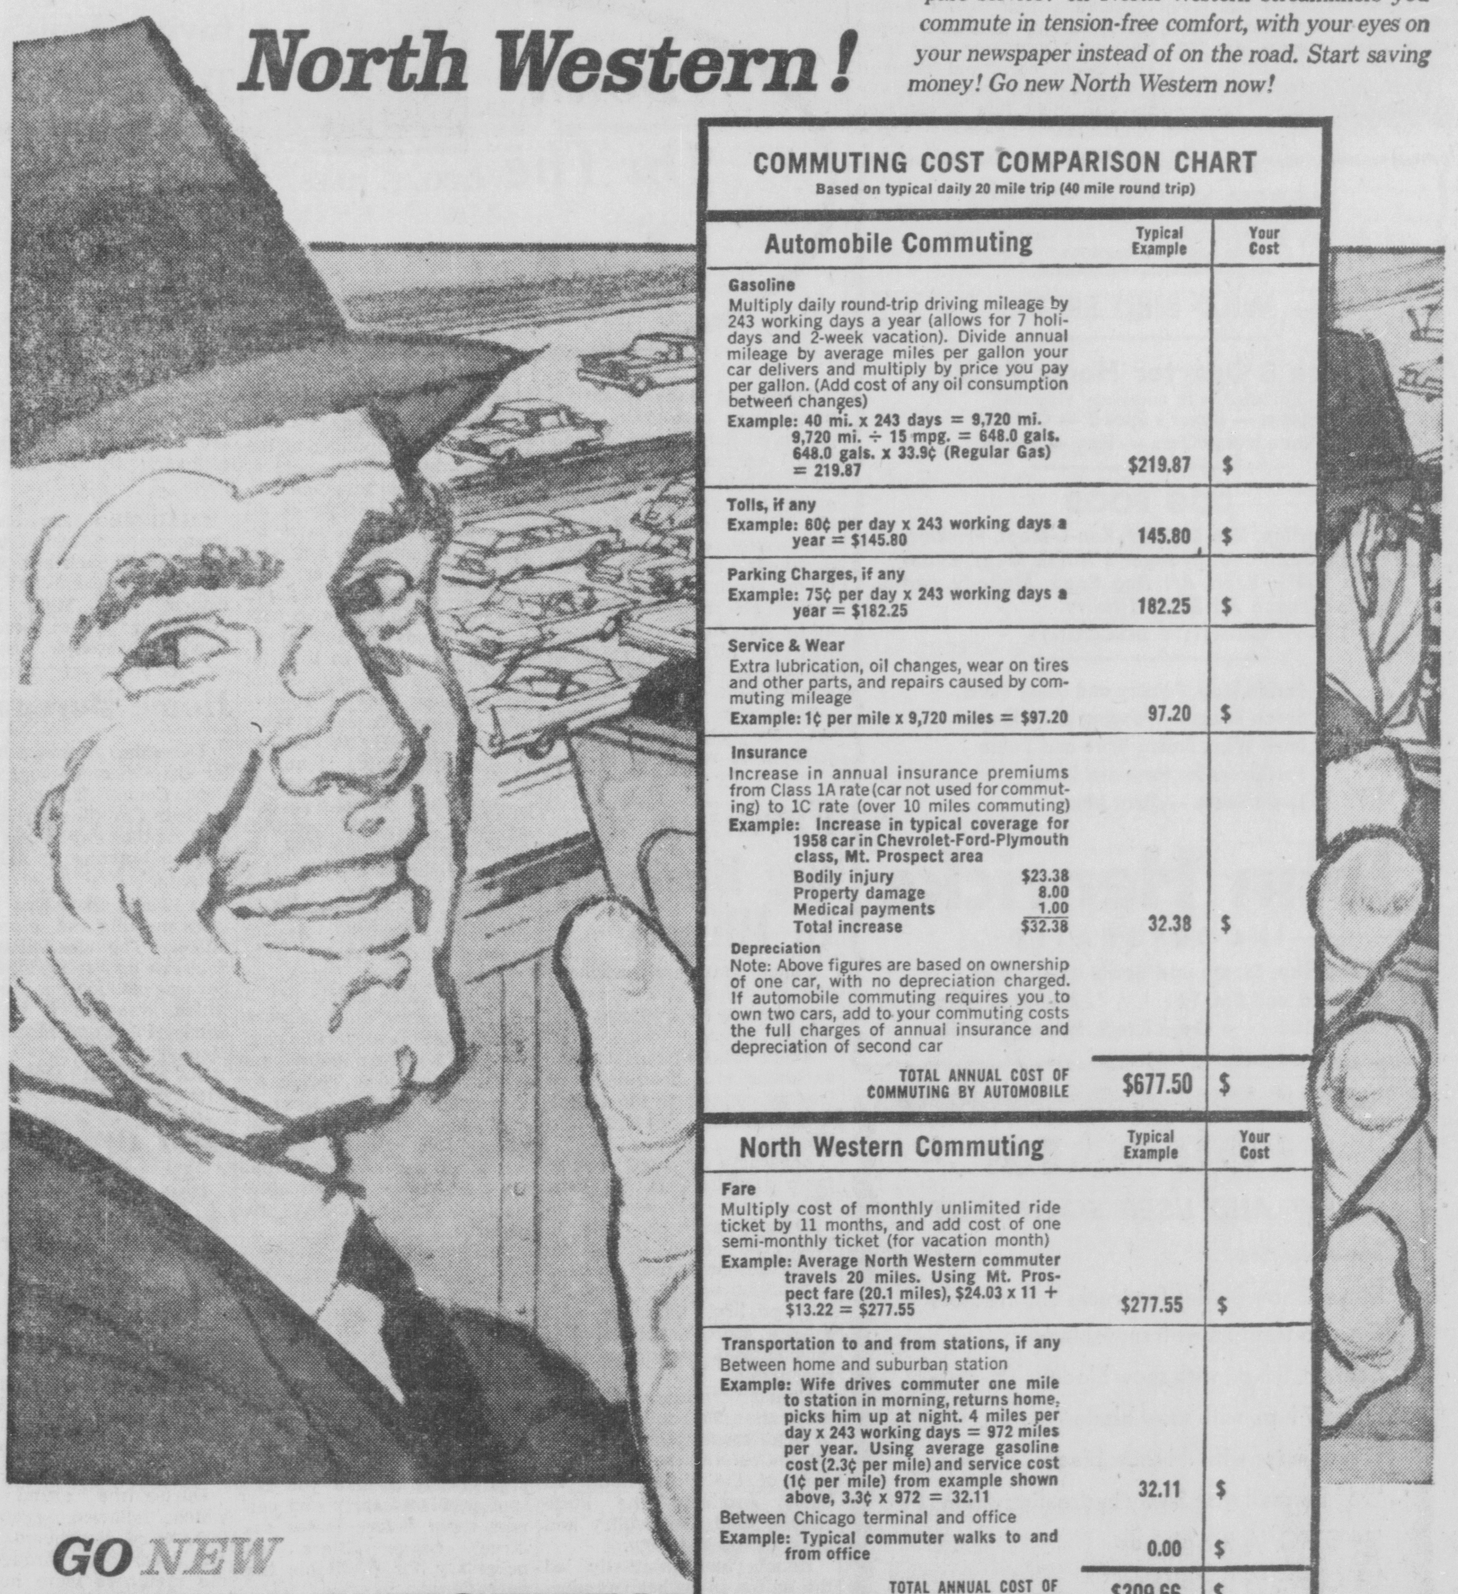
You can save hundreds of dollars a year commuting on the New North Western!

If you've never taken the time to figure out just how much you save when you leave your car at home and commute on the North Western, the figures will probably amaze you. That's why we've provided the comparison chart shown below. Use it to calculate just how much you're paying a year for do-it-yourself commuting, and how much you can save when you're chauffered to and from work aboard modern North Western streamliners. There's even a typical example worked out for you as a guide in figuring your own costs. Compare cost, then compare service: on North Western streamliners you commute in tension-free comfort, with your eyes on your newspaper instead of on the road. Start saving money! Go new North Western now!



COMMUTING COST COMPARISON CHART
Based on typical daily 20 mile trip (40 mile round trip)

Automobile Commuting	Typical Example	Your Cost
Gasoline Multiply daily round-trip driving mileage by 243 working days a year (allows for 7 holidays and 2-week vacation). Divide annual mileage by average miles per gallon your car delivers and multiply by price you pay per gallon. (Add cost of any oil consumption between changes) Example: 40 mi. x 243 days = 9,720 mi. 9,720 mi. ÷ 15 mpg. = 648.0 gals. 648.0 gals. x 33.9¢ (Regular Gas) = 219.87	$219.87	$
Tolls, if any Example: 60¢ per day x 243 working days a year = $145.80	145.80	$
Parking Charges, if any Example: 75¢ per day x 243 working days a year = $182.25	182.25	$
Service & Wear Extra lubrication, oil changes, wear on tires and other parts, and repairs caused by commuting mileage Example: 1¢ per mile x 9,720 miles = $97.20	97.20	$
Insurance Increase in annual insurance premiums from Class 1A rate (car not used for commuting) to 1C rate (over 10 miles commuting) Example: Increase in typical coverage for 1958 car in Chevrolet-Ford-Plymouth class, Mt. Prospect area: Bodily injury $23.38; Property damage 8.00; Medical payments 1.00; Total increase $32.38	32.38	$
Depreciation Note: Above figures are based on ownership of one car, with no depreciation charged. If automobile commuting requires you to own two cars, add to your commuting costs the full charges of annual insurance and depreciation of second car
TOTAL ANNUAL COST OF COMMUTING BY AUTOMOBILE	$677.50	$

North Western Commuting	Typical Example	Your Cost
Fare Multiply cost of monthly unlimited ride ticket by 11 months, and add cost of one semi-monthly ticket (for vacation month) Example: Average North Western commuter travels 20 miles. Using Mt. Prospect fare (20.1 miles), $24.03 x 11 + $13.22 = $277.55	$277.55	$
Transportation to and from stations, if any Between home and suburban station Example: Wife drives commuter one mile to station in morning, returns home, picks him up at night. 4 miles per day x 243 working days = 972 miles per year. Using average gasoline cost (2.3¢ per mile) and service cost (1¢ per mile) from example shown above, 3.3¢ x 972 = 32.11	32.11	$
Between Chicago terminal and office Example: Typical commuter walks to and from office	0.00	$
TOTAL ANNUAL COST OF COMMUTING ON NORTH WESTERN	$309.66	$
Total Annual Savings When You Commute on North Western	Typical Example $367.84	Your Savings $

Farmers Adjust to Changes in Last Decade

A revealing picture of the adjustments being made by Illinois farmers was unveiled this week by University of Illinois agricultural economists.

A. G. Mueller reported how 109 farms in a 10 - county area of east-central Illinois have made changes as a result of economic and technical farming developments between the years 1951-52 and 1958-59.

The average size of these farms has risen from 287 to 321 acres, an average of 34 acres per farm. Actually, 50 farms added acres, 49 made no change and 10 reduced acreage.

Operators on these farms have stepped up production of their high-profit crops, corn, soybeans and wheat. They have reduced oat, hay and pasture acreage. On the average, corn is up 19 acres, soybeans up 40 acres and wheat up 4 acres.

THESE farm operators also boosted their average crop yields. Corn yields averaged 15 bushels higher—from 72 to 87 bushels. Soybeans gained only one bushel an acre. Oat yields moved up from 44 to 54 bushels an acre. Wheat yields climbed from 27 to 3[illegible] bushels.

These higher yields were achieved in two ways, Mueller said. Farmers on these farms boosted the fertilizer tonnage they used by 64 per cent between the two periods. Improved crop varieties and new technologies in chemical control of weeds and insects probably helped improve yields too. Weather was probably not a factor in explaining yield increases, because soybean yields were only one bushel higher in the 1958-59 period.

In terms of volume of farm products produced on each farm, Mueller figures that crops rose 45 per cent and livestock 23 per cent.

The financial picture on these farms shows why many farmers face serious income problems. Costs per farm soared $6,809, while the market value of products sold went up only $1,877, even though physical production increased 48 per cent. Profits dropped $4,932 and farm family earnings averaged $2,457 less between the two periods.

FARM family expenses for living, income tax and interest payments climbed from $4,312 to $5,610, according to home account records. So, with earnings down $2,457 and living costs up $1,300, the real income of farm families in this study was about $3,757 lower than seven years earlier.

Although these east-central Illinois farmers stepped up their production by an average of 48 per cent per farm, falling farm prices and rising farm costs resulted in the lower profits and earnings for labor, capital and management. This higher production was accomplished with no change in the amount of labor. Actually, labor dropped about one-half month per farm.

Price changes explain the less favorable financial picture between the two periods. The over-all index of prices received by Illinois farmers dropped about one-fifth. Corn prices were down 44 cents a bushel, oats 28 cents, wheat 39 cents and soybeans 82 cents. Fed cattle prices averaged $7.06 a hundred pounds less. Hogs were down $1.79 a hundredweight. Milk prices were 70 cents a hundred pounds lower, and eggs averaged 11 cents a dozen less.

IN ANOTHER study of 180 farms in six different areas of the state, U. of I. farm management specialists D. F. Wilken and R. B. Schwart found similar adjustments taking place. They report that the northern Illinois dairy counties and the central Illinois grain counties had the greatest drop in management returns. Southern Illinois and western Illinois livestock areas fared a little better.

The shifts taking place toward increased production of high-value cash crops, hogs and beef are an attempt by farmers to maintain their financial position in a period of falling farm prices. With a high output per man needed to keep going, the future needs for capital on farms may be great. The problems of obtaining adequate credit to finance the farm business in the 1960's will be of major importance, the agricultural economists conclude. (FM

World Trend Affects American Farm Prices

by L. H. SIMERL

We have long been impressed by the apparent influence of international economic conditions on prices of U.S. farm products. A new example of this relationship recently came to our attention.

The Foreign Agricultural service of the U.S. department of agriculture published a chart showing world agricultural prices from 1952 through 1959. This chart showed that the world prices had declined 17 per cent during this period.

Then we got to wondering about the decline in U.S. farm prices over the same time. When the figures were checked, they showed that prices received by U.S. farmers had declined the same amount, 17 per cent, from 1952 to 1959!

To be sure, prices in the United States and elsewhere do not always move precisely together. For example, there was a temporary recovery of world prices in 1954, while prices in the United States declined. Changes in price-support operations and government programs make for divergent price movements.

BUT THERE are many reasons for expecting U.S. farm prices to be strongly influenced by world markets. One of these is that large proportions of many U.S. farm products are sold in other countries.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960, U.S. farm products valued at $4.5 billion were exported. These exports represented the produce of one acre of every six harvested. Our exports are running even greater this year.

Some of our agricultural exports are for foreign aid and gifts, but most of them are sold for good old U.S. dollars. Of the total farm exports in the year ended June 30, 1960, less than 4 per cent was grants and donations, 3 per cent was traded directly for other commodities, and 22 per cent was sold for foreign currency (to be spent in the foreign country or invested there). Foreign buyers bought 29 per cent with dollars in special export contracts where our government gave some assistance, usually in the form of moderate price discounts. But foreign buyers took 42 per cent by simply offering more dollars for them than our own buyers were willing to pay.

IN THE PAST year exports provided outlets for 56 per cent of our rice, 48 per cent of our wheat, 44 per cent of our tallow, 44 per cent of our cotton, 41 per cent of our barley, 29 per cent of our tobacco, 26 per cent of our soybeans, 24 per cent of our lard, 23 per cent of our sorghum grain and 15 per cent of our corn.

But the United States does not have a monopoly on world export markets. We provide only about 17 per cent of the farm products that move into international trade.

Leading foreign buyers of our farm products are the United Kingdom, Canada, Japan, the Netherlands and West Germany. All of these countries are good cash customers, and they can buy wherever they get the best prices. This is what keeps the pressure on us to keep our prices in line with world markets.

We should add that the overall index of U.S. farm prices has been relatively steady in recent years. The lowest level since World War II was reached five years ago, in December 1955. Prices recently were about 10 per cent above the 1955 low. (Fm

Test Possibility Of Corn Bred With Spare Chromosomes

University of Illinois plant breeders are testing the possibility of giving corn plants an extra set or two of chromosomes.

Today's corn has two sets of 10 different kinds of chromosomes. Chromosomes carry genes that are the basic substance of life. The genes determine the various characteristics of a variety.

Usually plants have only two sets of chromosomes. If two sets are added, the plant is called a tetraploid. Man-made tetraploid rye and red clover, as well as sugar beets, are raised on a limited scale in northern Europe.

ORNAMENTALS and certain fruits with extra chromosomes are widely grown because of their showy flowers or larger fruits.

Scientists at the Illinois agricultural experiment station are working to harness the desirable results of this genetic phenomenon that occurs when chromosomes are added.

D. E. Alexander, corn breeding specialist, reported at the American Seed Trade association meeting in Chicago last week that some synthetic varieties of corn hold up well in tests with regular hybrids.

However, corn plants with two extra sets of chromosomes are not twice as vigorous or twice as fast growing as today's hybrids, Alexander said.

ILLINOIS researchers have found that plants with four sets of chromosomes appear to be more severely damaged by drouth than those with only two sets. And the cells are twice as big in plants with extra chromosomes.

Alexander has found seed abortion higher in man-made types, although one type, Synthetic B, has attained a seed set of 77 per cent.

Synthetic varieties aren't just around the corner. But Alexander says there's a good possibility that in the future farmers in underdeveloped countries can save seed from tetraploid corn and plant it the next year wtihout heavy loss in yield that is common with today's hybrids. (FM

Influence of Farm Location To Be Discussed at Forum

Location influences in livestock marketing will be featured during the University of Illinois Agricultural Industries forum livestock marketing sessions January 31 to February 1.

Tuesday afternoon G. G. Judge, U. of I. professor of agricultural economics, will report on interregional flows of livestock products. E. E. Broadbent, professor of livestock marketing, will discuss the influence of location in Illinois hog marketing.

Howard White, vice-president of Agrogast and Bastion Packing company, Allentown, Pa., will present an eastern packer's view of location factors. Herbert Slatery, manager and vice-president of East Tennessee Packing company, Knoxville, Tenn., will give a southern packer's view of location influences in livestock marketing.

Down On The Farm

with Your Farm Adviser

Labor and management returns from cash-grain crops grown on the average Illinois farm are now the lowest since World War II. Fewer grain farmers are enjoying the luxury of a good living from only crop-season employment. If current grain prices continue, high net incomes on these farms are more apt to be associated with top efficiency in crop production and year-round employment of farm labor.

Total costs are rising faster than the value of farm production. A recent farm record study compared two years at the beginning of the last decade with two years at the end. On 180 identical Illinois Farms the value of all farm production per farm increased 18 per cent, but total costs increased 38 per cent.

HAVE YOU ever wondered how your farm compares with similar farms in your area? Farmers enrolled in the Illinois Farm bureau Farm Management service receive this comparison each year. It has proved to be so popular that more than 95 per cent of these farmers continue this service year after year. There are now 5,500 Illinois farmers enrolled. If you are interested in this service contact me.

Pumping extra water for overflow is a simple way to prevent water tanks from freezing. If you have an abundant water supply and a suitable drain, allow a slow trickle of water to pass through watering equipment for hogs or cattle. This is an economical way to keep it fresh and ice-free. Some new watering equipment doesn't run the water to a drain but has a pump to circulate warmed water through the units.

PIGS farrowed in December and January require extra care. Provide clean quarters at farrowing time, and additional heat if possible. Farrowing crates or stalls are the best way to reduce death loss. Guard rails also help. Provide a source of iron so that pigs will not become anemic. Above all, watch the pigs closely so that you can spot problems early and correct them before losses are large. Large litters are necessary for profitable hog operations.

A University of Illinois test indicates that calves gain faster if antibiotics are included in their wintering ration. This conclusion agrees with results of other experiment station tests. These results show that antibiotic responses are more consistent when cattle receive primarily roughage rations than when their rations consist mostly of grain. About 75 milligrams of antibiotics per head daily seems to be about the right amount. (FM

Farming Is Big Business In Illinois

Illinois farmers produced enough crops and livestock last year to feed almost 10½ million people.

About 154,000 farms are the backbone of a food industry that is coming to be a multibillion-dollar business in Illinois.

According to Cook county farm adviser Carl F. Mees, Illinois led all states, including Iowa, in corn sales in 1959. The remainder of the corn crop was used to feed $1.2 billion worth of livestock and poultry, including $400 million worth of hogs. Illinois ranked second in hog production.

Illinois farmers fattened more than $500 million worth of beef, fourth highest among all states and nearly 7 per cent of the U. S. total. In dairy products the state ranked ninth; in poultry and eggs, it ranked 18th.

Illinois has habitually led the nation in soybean production. Soybeans were a $230 million crop last year, the oil and meal finding an active market both here and abroad.

Economists calculated that consumers paid about $5 billion for Illinois-produced food in 1959. The farmers' share of this total was about $1.9 billion. The difference comes in various processing services between the farmstead and the supermarket.

Compared with other states, Illinois is also a big grower of horseradish and onion sets.

Q. Are all the plates supposed to be removed from the dinner table before serving the dessert?
A. Yes. The salt cellars, pepper-pots, unused flat silver, are taken off on the serving tray, and the crumbs brushed off each place with a folded napkin onto a tray held under the table's edge.
Q. My husband is in the service overseas. Is it proper for me to sign our Christmas cards as always, or to omit his name and use just mine?
A. Include your husband's name, as always.
Q. How far in advance of the church wedding ceremony should the parents of the bride and bridegroom take their seats?
A. One or two minutes.
Q. Is it ever proper to tip any of the personnel of an airplane?

Educators Slate Special TV Show This Saturday

A 30-minute television program stressing the "positive" aspects of the Illinois Education association has been scheduled for 8 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 17 on channel 5.

The program was instigated by an "adverse" view of the I.E.A. given by Chicago newscaster Alex Drier during the fall I.E.A. teachers' institute, according to a spokesman for the goup.

Drier in a television news program had shown pictures of some of the 10,000 Cook county teachers attending the institute during a "nonsense-song and stretching break" in the day-long series of speeches. Drier had intimated the nonsense - song break was typical of what teachers did at the institute, according to the I.E.A.

JOSEPH M. Kiszka, principal of Salk school in Rolling Meadows and public relations chairman for the I.E.A. in Palatine, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships, stressed the program Saturday was not to be a reply to the Drier broadcast but rather an effort to present a "true picture" of the I.E.A. and its activities.

The controversial institute day was held in October at the Chicago Stadium. Main speakers included Norman Cousins, magazine editor, education specialist, and diplomat, who spoke on education and future foreign policy.

Other speakers were Dr. J. Lloyd Trump, author of the "Trump Plan" of team teaching for better utilization of teachers, and Dr. Simon Ramo, nationally-known scientist, inventor.

Appearing on the television show will be Miss Margaret Carlsen, principal of South school in Glencoe; Maurice Clark, superintendent of Western Springs schools; Thomas Sinks, principal in the Evanston school system; and Mrs. Helen Stuart, Maine township high school teacher.

THE GROUP will discuss balanced educational programs with emphasis on individual student differences in addition to the work of the I.E.A.

The television program is being sponsored by the Lake Shore division of the I.E.A., which includes all Cook county schools outside Chicago. Miss Carlsen is public relations chairman of the division.
